"THE MILLION" AMUSING COMEDY AT MOROSCO.

Riotous Quest of Lottery Ticket Lost in Bohemia, Through Studios, the Underworld and Bowery, Theme of "The Million" — Fine People's Orchestra Concert and Touching Memorial Service.

BY HECTOR ALLIOT.

"The Million," which saw its first production in the West at Oliver Morosco's new theater yesterday afternoon, is an adaptation from the French.

It is the work of Bor and Guillemand, and is built around a series of comedy parts centered about a lost lottery ticket in Bohemia. It portrayed the struggling artist who had the good fortune of finding the grand prize of the Bra-zilian lottery. The ticket is left in a coat, which is taken by a burglar.

The quest for the valuable bit of pasteboard takes most of the characters through various phases of the Parisian underworld and demi-monde.

This very clever and successful comedy has been denatured in crossing the ocean and has become a semi-farcical play with the best French situations still persisting in a setting

THEATRICAL NEWS OF THE WEEK.

MOROSCO ADDS ANIMALS TO THE "TIK-TOK MAN."

Foy Tells a New Story on His Manager—Maude Adams Coming Dean Worley Is "Peeved"—Vaudeville and Other Doings Along Actors' Row.

BY "ZIP."

There is plenty to tickle the palates of the hungry theatergoers this week.

Chauncey Olcott comes to the Mason tonight in his latest, "Isle of My Dreams." This is Olcott's first visit to Los Angeles in twenty years and it ought to be interesting.

The "Tik-Tok Man of Oz" keeps right on filling the Majestic box-office with full grown American eagles and will continue to do so throughout the remainder of the engagement, which closes next Saturday night.

Over at the Burbank they are still passing out laughs with "The Elixir of Youth" and "The Million" at the Morosco is proving good opposition to this farce.

Vaudeville bills bring us a variety of things. Digby Bell comes to the Orpheum in "It Happened in Topeka;" Nat Carr returns to the Empress in Aaron Hoffman's "End of the World," and John L. Sullivan comes back to tell us how he did it at Pantages.

If anybody can tell me any real news except "what's coming" I will be eternally grateful.

Oliver Morosco's latest addition to his menagerie in "The Tik-Tok Man" is an alligator. Everybody has been talking about what a hard part to play. Fred Woodward had in Hank, the mule in the piece, but to the man who successfully plays the alligator, belongs a big leather medal.

Can you imagine playing those animal parts in Chicago this summer when the thermometer hits 103?

And I've had it tipped off to me that before he gets through Morosco is going to have four frogs in the show. Can't beat him when he starts anything.

Anyone who thinks it don't cost any money to produce musical plays should make a mental note of this.

Just now a certain trunk factory is engaged in building the wardrobe trunks for "The Tik-Tok Man."

There are twenty-six trunks for the costumes alone, each one made to order at the small figure of $25 apiece.

Deane Worley over at the Empress is nursing a peeve because of the simultaneous arrival of Alber's Polar Bears and the hot weather.

This necessitates Worley dipping into the profits for ice all week to keep the cages cool, not to say anything of the electric fans and extra juice.

William H. Wright, who translated "Madame X" for Henry W. Savage and who has since been directing the destinies of many of Savage's most important productions is with us in the interest of "Everywoman," which Mr. Savage will send to the Majestic Theater four weeks hence.

Maude Adams, who is repeating over the K. & E. time in "Peter Pan," will be at the Mason shortly. There may be some who liked Miss Adams in "Chanteclere," but that is a moot question. As to her popularity in "Peter Pan," it is universally admitted that it is her best effort.

John L. Sullivan wants to know why the Pullman company makes sleeping-car berths so much smaller than they used to be.

Elizabeth Mayne, the belle of the "Surf Bathers," will be seen here shortly in a new act. Miss Mayne wore clothes—and real clothes they were, too—in the act as shown last week at Hammerstein's in New York—but, of course the weather is still cold there.

Robert H. Poole, the young treasurer of the Auditorium, is busy just now nailing his shingle in the Van Nuys building, where as a member of Malott & Poole he expects to dispose of real estate to the newcomers with the same winning smile that presides at the ticket window of the Theater Beautiful, where he will, however, continue to dispense the vari-colored pasteboard as before.

Playing farewell week.

Some of the favorites in "The Tik-Tok Man of Oz" which will quit the Majestic stage this week to make room for Eddie Foy. Above are Burns and Fulton in their spectacular dance specialty. Hank and his playmate need no introduction, for Mr. Woodward, as the mule, is the individual hit of Tik Tok.

In the Spotlight.

JOLLY STORIES FROM STAGE WORLD CENTER.

New York Newspaper Men Criticise Reporter in Play and Go on Boards Themselves — Quick Wit and an Unappreciative Critic — Gay Times in Gotham Between the Acts.

[SPECIAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK, April 13.—Saturday evening criminal courts reporter boys went on the stage. The occasion was the performance of "A Man's Friends" at the Astor Theater.

All of the newspaper representatives who "cover" the District Attorney's office and the other offices in the Criminal Courts building, were on hand last Monday night when the Ernest Poole play was put on for the first time at the Astor. They were particularly interested in the last act, when the District Attorney summons the reporters to his room to hear a story to be given out by Boss Whalen, the prosecutor's principal opponent.

"Pop" Flannery of the City News found fault with one of the stage reporters because he made a pencil note on his cuff. "Not a bit like it," declared Mr. Flannery, "only a make-believe reporter makes notes on his cuff."

James Murray, who looks after the Evening Journal at the Courts building, hadn't heard "Pop" Flannery's remark. Murray told the manager of the Astor—just in a friendly sort of way, understand—that it was too bad one of the stage reporters hadn't been told to make a note or two on his cuff. "It would have been a realistic little touch, do you see?" pointed out Mr. Murray.

With talk of this sort, it was only natural that the managerial suggestion was made: "Why don't you fellows go on and play these parts yourself and show us what you think the real thing is like?"

"With all my heart," said every real reporter, and it was so ordered.

They said they'd go on Saturday night—just drop around a few minutes before it was time for them to appear.

"How about cues?" suggested Hugh Ford, the Lieber company's stage director.

Apparently this hadn't occurred. But this was a detail. To cover it, however, the entire delegation, under command of "Pop" George Flannery, assembled at the Astor Friday evening at the stroke of 5 and submitted to a rehearsal, which wasn't really necessary at all. Among the reportorial veterans, if thespic cubs, were Robert J. Wilkes of the Evening World, Robert H. Cartwright of the Evening Journal, Harry Carlisle of the Evening Sun, Leonard Mitchell of the City News, James Murray of the Journal, and Charles Hall and Harry Brown.

And the following day the Sunday Herald approved the performance and said among other things that the Criminal Courts boys were splendid space getters, as actors.

So Distressing.

Miss Mabel Turner is all broken out in a white wrath against Mr. Columbia. Miss Turner joined out with the "Joseph and His Brethren" company at the Century Theater, New York, only a few days ago, and has since been shining principally in the gorgeous Pharaoh's palace scene.

Her dressing-room at the Century adjoins the room used by the Misses Edith Creel Spoffard and Madeline Traverse, two young ladies of a sprightly wit. It was not in the nature of things that Miss Turner's inexperience should go unnoticed. Activities were begun soon.

Two minutes after entering her dressing-room one day recently Miss Turner's shell-like ears caught the sound of conversation in the next room, the open transom affording admirable channel.

"That Miss Turner is quite a pretty girl," came Miss Traverse's voice, "it is really a thousand pities she squints."

"She smiles very pleasantly," came Miss Spoffard, "but I think she has a

SEALS TWICE SENT TO DEFEAT BY VENICE MEN.

Harry Stewart and "Lou" Litschi Win the Morning Struggle—Wild Times in Afternoon Affair — Seals Get Dangerous, but Koestner Pulls Out of Hole With Ham Patterson's Able Assistance.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

NO FRIENDS, they have not degenerated into lambs. Some opined that the Tigers had grown so mild that they would soon begin to bleat. These have a couple of thinks coming.

They are the same old Tigers—proved it yesterday with a display of their oldtime ferocity, when they came from behind and won the series by wrenching two games from the Seals, 2 to 1 and 5 to 4. Guess that isn't some display of stretch running?

The morning game, a eleven-inning affair, belonged to Lou Litschi. Not only did Lou score all the Tiger runs in the daybreak broil, but he broke it up with a homer in the eleventh with two out and only a minute in which to play.

As the morning game was the pick of the two from a baseball standpoint, we will ladle it out before plunging into the mazes of the post-meridian melee.

THE MORNING AFFAIR.

The witching hour of 10:30 a.m. found Harry Stewart and Frosty Thomas keyed up to a winning pitch. Both men pitched gilt-edge ball.

Stewart, peeved by intimations that the Tigers are not as strong in the box as they might be, started out to vindicate the pitching staff—especially that part of it consisting of himself. Harry did nobly, extremely so, allowing but four hits, and frescoing the box score with eight strikeouts. Thomas was almost as sterling, picking off eight Tigers at the plate and holding them to five hits.

The Seals were the first to slash their way into the run column, turning the paying trick in the sixth. Twice before that, however, they had been threatening enough to throw the fans into a cold sweat, and only the snappiest kind of a support enabled Stewart to hold the fort.

EDDIE SHINES.

In the second, with Johnson on third as a result of his own double and Zimmerman's sacrifice, Eddie Hallman cut off what seemed a sure run with a remarkable stop and throw to Tonneman on Corhan's drive.

Again in the fourth, two walks, an error and a fielder's choice loaded the bases with only one down. Corhan drove the ball to Stewart, and a lightning-fast two-man elimination sketch sent the Seals back to the field runless. On two other occasions Stewart worked out his own salvation by picking runners off second.

The germ of San Francisco's only run was deposited by a high wind that swept the diamond. McArdle popped up a high one. It looked like Litschi's ball, and all his mates willingly conceded it to him. But the wind whiffed the ball back, and when Litschi finally caught up with it he was in front of the home plate. Lou was startled to find himself so far away from home, and muffed gracefully.

Patterson transfixed McCarl's foul near the grand stand. It was some catch. Johnson's out put McArdle on second, and he scampered home ahead of Carlisle's wind-twisted throw, when Zimmerman hit to left. Corhan popped to Hosp.

NOW OR NEVER.

The last of the ninth found the Tigers positively poverty-stricken in the run-getting department. It was now or never with them, and a beneficent fate came to their rescue. They put over the tying run without a hit, a walk and a wild throwing spasm by the Seals solving the problem of them.

With one out, Litschi gambled with Thomas and won a free trip. Hallinan bunted down the third base line. Cartwright juggled for one brief instant, and then cut loose with a throw that backed McCarl ten feet off the base. McCarl, still off his balance, saw a vision of Litschi tearing around to third, and the result was a ludicrous throw to the left-field bleachers. Litschi, who had pellmelled into the base spikes first, assisted himself to his feet, shook the gravel out of his shoes and continued his journey. Corhan recovering the ball only after a

SACRAMENTO DEFEATS ANGELS.

Frank Arellanes Has All Old-Time Form.

Angels Make a Desperate Rally, but Lose Out.

Game Full of Thrilling and Tense Situations.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frank Arellanes, leading slabster of the local squad last year, came back into form today, held Dillon's heavy-hittting Angels to one hit for seven innings, and then when the Southerners began to look dangerous with a three-run rally in the eighth, tightened up and held them safe for a five-to-four victory for Wolverton's fighting squad. An even break at three games all was what the Wolves pulled out of the series with the Angels, and when a team rated as highly as Dillon's is held to even terms by a team which has been playing together only two weeks, there is cause for hope in local fandom.

Today 5000 fans were rewarded for their faithfulness by witnessing a grand game of baseball, grand from the viewpoint of the home team, and almost as grand from the viewpoint of the Los Angeles bench. For after the Wolves had pounded Roy Crabbe out of the box in the fourth inning and had taken what appeared to be a safe lead, the Angels made game rally which all but tied the score. But Arellanes and his team-mates held together to the finish and kept safely out in front in two of the most nerve-racking innings that have ever wound up a game on the local lot.

ANGELS RALLY.

Five to one the scoreboard read going into the eighth inning. The scorers sheet showed one hit chalked up against Arellanes. Babe Driscoll started the eighth by gaining a life on first through Kenworthy's boot of a hard grounder. Bill Page singled to right for the second Los Angeles hit of the game, putting Driscoll on second. Twice Rube Ellis had fanned in the earlier stages of the game, but in that eighth inning crisis he responded by straightening out one of Arellanes's benders for a circuit shot over the right field fence, scoring two runners ahead of him and boosting the Angels to the short end of a 5 to 4 score.

There were still none out, but Arellanes refused to weaken under the pressure of the changed score and Moore and Maggert filed to the outfield, and Howard was an easy infield out.

When the Angels came up for the ninth determination was written all over their facial pieces. "Ty" Lober was chosen to bear the first burden of the rally which might mean victory and when Lober went to bat for Doc Gill he responded with a pop single just back of second. Brooks sacrificed him to second and Arellanes wavered long enough to cut loose a wild pitch which put Lober on third with one out. But Arellanes was equal to the task and he fanned Brooks and held Driscoll to a pop fly to Stark.

SOLONS HOLD TIGHT.

Driscoll was tight in the pinches and was given clean support. The interest of the game after the fourth inning slaughter was suspended until the rally of the Angels in the last two frames, when the Wolves showed their class by holding their lead safe against the concerted attack of the hardest hitting club in the league.

As usual Moran's fielding featured the matinee. He accepted four chances all of the troublesome variety. In the third Page's triple landed in short right center and Moran sprawled on the ground in his effort to take the drive on the dead run and cut off an extra base. In the ninth Lober's hit landed just behind second, but Moran was within a few feet of being under it and turned a complete somersault as he bent over to stab the ball while running at top speed. Moran gives promise of being the best ground coverer in the league this season.

BIG COLLEGE BALL GAME SCHEDULED SATURDAY.

The intercollegiate baseball season starts off with Occidental well in the lead with two games won and none lost, Redlands second with one won and one lost, Pomona third with one game lost and Whittier last with two games lost. Pomona and Occidental clash next Saturday and "we shall see what we shall see."

The Tigers are having one of their big years, not having lost to Pomona in anything, and they claim that baseball will be no exception. Walk is rounding into great shape and with the team playing such ball as they played against Redlands and Whittier they should grab the pennant easily.

DAME FORTUNE FAVORS OAKS.

Ducks Outhit Opponents in Each of the Games.

Errors Lose for McCredie in the Afternoon.

Hard Luck Puts Crimp in Beavers in Morning.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] With the morning game a 2 to 2 tie that was called in the twelfth inning and the afternoon spectatcle 4 to 0 in favor of the Oaks, the Beavers leave for home tonight with four out of the seven games played the property of the Oaks.

The score sheet of the afternoon game shows that James is charged with the defeat, but as a matter of fact it was Gus Fisher more than anyone else who deserves the blame. James got away with a three-hit game as compared to the seven hits rolled up off Malarkey, but in the fifth inning in which all the trouble happened, a combination of lack of control on the part of James, two bad errors by Fisher and a questionable decision by Finney was responsible. James started the inning by walking Rohrer. Malarkey tried to sacrifice but Fisher wouldn't have it that way and instead of forcing Rohrer, threw the ball away to center field. Leard sacrificed when he hit to Derrick, for although he forced Malarkey, Rohrer went on to third. Schirm walked, although from the stands it looked as if he had been fanned, and then came Fisher's faux pas.

FOUR FOR OAKS.

Zacher hit to James for an easy out, but Fisher, anxious to make a double, dropped the throw and two men—Rohrer and Leard—scored. Zacher stole second and Coy singled to center to send two more runners across the plate. Coy was caught at second trying to steal and Hetling fanned. The Beavers never had a chance until the ninth when they bunched two hits and by that time they were too far behind.

For the morning game this summary tells the story:

Portland 2 runs, 13 hits, 3 errors.
Oakland 3 runs, 2 hits, 2 errors.
Called in twelfth inning.

The above sum and substance is evidence in itself to prove the element of luck which was enjoyed by the Oaks. To substantiate Manager Walter McCredie's claim of "hard luck," "Hi" West can be trotted out again. Last Sunday morning he was beaten in another twelve-inning game by a 1 to 0 score after he had allowed only five hits. This morning he battled even harder against fate.

HARD LUCK WEST.

West went in the box in the third inning after Stanley, the left-hander had yielded the Oaks their only two runs, and 'twas well for the Oaks. West allowed but one measley single to Hetling in the succeeding ten innings and he had his opponents going out in one, two, three order. West undoubtedly pitched one of the best games of his career and still the best he gets is a draw.

On the other hand Gregory was receiving all the smiles of dame fortune. In addition to the thirteen hits he passed seven men and there was not an inning that the Beavers did not have one or more men on the bases.

In the first with Stanley pitching, Schirm walked after Leard had fanned and promptly stole second. Zacher flied to Krueger and Coy hit one to McCormick that figured an easy out. The shortstop booted the ball so badly, however, that Schirm scored.

NESS TRIPLES.

In the second Ness led forth with a triple to center and trotted home on Cook's sacrifice fly to Fitzgerald.

The Beavers had three men on in the first inning, but did not score until the third. Lindsay singled to Hetling and Rodgers sacrificed. Krueger fouled out to Rohrer but Derrick dropped a Texas leaguer in right which scored Lindsay.

In the seventh the Beavers tied it up. Lindsay singled to center. Rodgers flew to Zacher. Krueger forced Lindsay at second but a moment later stole second. He moved up to third on Derrick's infield hit to Ness. The double steal followed, Krueger scoring with the tying run while Derrick got to second.

SOUTHERNERS DISAPPOINT.

The Southerners at the Stanford interscholastic did not show quite as well as was expected. This is especially true in the case of Clemmer Johnson, the speedy sprinter of the Los Angeles High School. Johnson is good for 10 1-5 and 22 2-5 every time that he starts under ordinary conditions, but the trip and the strong wind blowing against the runners evidently was too much for the local sprinter. The fact that Stone and Maurer of Pomona did not place is also quite a surprise.

COUNTRY CLUB GOSSIP.

BY ALMA WHITAKER.

The woman's Coast championship begins this afternoon on the links of the Los Angeles Country Club at 1:30 p.m. This is, of course, the chief event of the week and it is one of those rare and delightful occasions upon which the women players enjoy strict priority on the links. Unharried by the masculine call of "fore" they can make the course comfortably in their own time with never a prick of conscience.

The Team Match.

Los Angeles won the league match on Saturday against the Virginia Country Club, Long Beach, by 5 to 2. Edwards Tufts was the acting captain in the absence of Norman Macbeth and there were several very narrow shaves for the victors. It behooves visitors to Long Beach to remember that these Virginians put up an excellent game on their own links and take some beating.

All the matches were very close with the exception of that between Judge Fredericksen and A. M. Goodhue, the Virginia captain. The latter was defeated by 7 up and 2. Considering the judge was still flushed with the triumph of his victory in the Mid-Winter handicap at the Los Angeles Country Club, one can appreciate that he was even more dangerous than usual.

John W. Wilson won his match against Dr. Sellery of the home team by 1 up, and Roger D. Lapham, of Los Angeles, only just succeeded in defeating W. W. Campbell at the twentieth hole. Dr. Foote of the home team defeated George H. Schneider at the nineteenth; he and Tufts were the two visitors to lose their matches.

Yes, Tufts did lose his. I kept the horrible news back as long as I could. Timothy Stephens defeated him by 1 up in 19. L. T. Bradford won from Llewellyn Bixby by 3 and 2 and Walter Cosby defeated Bert Paul by 3 and 1.

This gives the Los Angeles team thirty-six points for seven matches, an exceptionally good average which heads the list so far. I know they look upon that trophy as comfortably theirs already.

Annandale has twenty-five points for five matches, however, but are losing their best players almost weekly and are unlikely to be able to make so good a showing for the rest of the season as they did in the beginning.

San Gabriel has twenty-four points for eight matches, and Riverside thirty points for eight matches, so San Gabriel will have to look to her laurels if she hopes to retain her third place.

Apropos of which, I understand there are to be second and third place trophies for the teams next season which will prove a good incentive to keep the enthusiasm going to the end. At present the smaller clubs are apt to lose some of their keenness after the first half dozen contests.

The Sweepstake.

They changed the form of the sweepstake to medal play handicap at the Los Angeles Country Club on Saturday. The winners were E. T. Scherer, with 85-18-67, George J. Kuhrts with 97-24-73 and R. J. Cash, Jr. with 84-10-74.

It would seem that Mr. Scherer has been evading the official handicapper's eye recently, which is clever of him anyway.

They also had a medal play handicap at the Annandale Country Club but Mr. C. K. Alley has a weakness for taking the score sheets home with him. I think he sleeps with them under his pillow for luck, and as he quite often doesn't bring 'em back, many a winner is doomed to unheralded triumph. This by way of explanation to the gentleman who wrote indignantly that I failed to record the fact when he won, although the other victors always received proper recognition. Sorrowfully I must assure him that "other victors" have been served that way, too. I am quite impartial, although I was born the wrong sex. To my mind all winners are admirable, and can be assured of my respectful attention.

San Gabriel.

There will be a club dance at the San Gabriel Country Club on Saturday evening next, and many reservations for tables have already been made. With the new cardroom, completed which can be thrown into the dining-room for such occasions, it greatly facilitates the pre-dance dinner parties which grow increasingly popular. Formerly late diners were apt to find themselves a little hustled and very much de trop.

The invitation tournament begins the following Saturday, April 26, and particular efforts are being made to make it one of the most successful of the season. Many a mild golfer who has modestly avoided entering tournaments hitherto is taking his courage in both hands and putting his golf to the tournament test. Since there are to be two prizes for every flight of sixteen and for every defeated eight, there really is every encouragement and nothing improves one's games like tournament competition.

And one of those silver cups makes no end of a good impression in the family. Even wives have been known to take on a unwonted air of conciliatory respect under their influence.

Seals Beaten Twice.

life-and-death struggle. Hallinan took advantage of this frenzied flinging to gain second, but was hemmed in on the line and made a prisoner of war on Tonneman's roller to Cartwright. Stewart sent the game into extra innings by flying to Zimmerman. Incidentally, Zimmerman was a very busy lady with eight putouts.

UNTIL THE ELEVENTH.

Things drifted along serenely until the eleventh. Hosp fanned like one who is in a hurry to have it over. Patterson was no more successful, fouling to Spencer. With two down, and about a minute to play, it looked like a no-decision termination.

"Get a hustle on there," admonished McCarthy, turning toward the Venice pit. "No use stallin', for this is the last inning, anyway."

Litschi grabbed his potent bludgeon and made a beeline for the plate. He squirted a little home-spun tobacco juice on his hands, took one good look at the ball and drove it into the face of the gale which was blowing in from the ocean. It was an awful wallop, but it seemed for a time that the ball could not buck that wind. Zimmerman, his back against the inside fence, waited. He gave one lunge upward, and then threw up his hands with a gesture that told the crowd that it was all over but the shouting. The ball had cleared the inner enclosure by a scant foot.

THE MATINEE.

The matinee started in a blaze of base hits, and ended the same way. The Tigers opened the game with a heavy assault in the first inning and nine innings later the Seals knocked the cover off the ball a few times. That final rally netted the Seals three tallies, and it was impossible to subjugate them until they had placed the tying run on third. Talk about mental anguish. I guess 8000 fans didn't experience some of it for about ten minutes along about 4 o'clock.

Hogan's men laid the foundation for their victory in the first inning, when they splashed over a spectacular spray of four runs. Jack Gilligan told Howard that he was pining to pitch, and Del decided to humor him. It took the Tigers just five minutes to puncture Jack's copceit.

Gilligan lingered only one-third of an inning, but that was long enough for him to walk two men, make a balk and get hit for four runs.

THE HANDY TALLY.

Pete Standridge, of Calgary, was told to go in and stop the stampede. Pete obeyed instructions, and followed this by pitching shut-out ball until the eighth, when the Tigers bunched a couple of hits for a run. And that tally, believe us, came in mighty handy about an inning later, for Elmer Koestner, after pitching no-hit ball for six innings, wobbled in the seventh and then blew up with a bang in the ninth. Five hits popped, hurdled and whistled past Koestner, but he stuck to the burning deck and hurled baseballs and defiance at the enemy until Patterson squelched the riot by raking in Willie Hogan's drive, and slaying Willie single-handed.

And by the way, this same Patterson person was the bulwark of the Tiger defense. He dug four low throws out of the ground in front of first base, while his stop of Mundorff's blistering drive in the eighth was a glittering gem.

Gilligan showed his old failing at the start—"inability to get 'em over," as "Cy" Parkin would say—and bestowed four wide ones on Carlisle. Meloan hit to right, and Bayless scored Carlisle with a blow to left. Meloan going to third. Hosp "squeezed" Meloan in with a well-timed bunt to McCarl, Bayless going to second. Jack drew a trembling hand athwart his glistening brow, and handed over one that Patterson poked to center. Bayless kicked in on the hit, and Pat took second on the throw to the plate. Gilligan was now nothing more than a derelict. A palpable balk, putting Patterson on third, gave mute evidence of his increasing nervousness. Four wide ones to Litschi followed this faux pas. Smash! Hallinan flashed the ball between Corhan and Cartwright, and Patterson piled in. Gilligan pulled off his glove, turned up his collar and looked toward the bench. He was inviting the "hook." Howard gave it to him. Pete Standridge applied the soft pedal, using Tonneman and Koestner for the purpose.

NO HIT GAME VANISHES.

Mundorff and Corhan, who walked, were the only Seals to reach first off Koestner in six innings.

Visions of a no-hit game vanished in the seventh, however, when McArdle fashioned a single to left. McCarl forced McArdle, and Johnson jammed McCarl into a forceout. Jimmy stole second, and Zimmerman almost tore Koestner's right leg from its fastenings. The ball caromed into left field, and Johnson delivered the first hostile tally. Corhan singled, but the poke was futile as Koestner salted Cartwright on strikes.

This prompted the Tigers to put over a precautionary tally in the eighth. Singles by Hallinan and Tonneman, and Koestner's sacrifice fly promoted this one.

McArdle started the ninth-inning splurge with a hit to left, and stole second. No one seemed to care much, as McCarl and Johnson turned up their toes without a protest. But baseball is a funny old game, and that which followed proved it. Zimmerman, Corhan and Carthwright smashed the ball to all three pastures, and two runs flashed across. With Corhan on third, Howard stepped to the plate in lieu of Schmidt, and shot wickedly through Hosp. Corhan scored, and Cartwright, symbolising the tying run, ran to third. Standridge was sidetracked for Willie Hogan. Willie took a resolute swing at the ball, and drove a businesslike grounder toward right. But the gaunt form of Patterson was blocking the way, and Ham trampled Seal hopes into the earth by beating Hogan to the base.

Sacramento next.

BY HARRY A. WILLIAMS.

Los Angeles fans are to have their first squint at the rehabilitated Senators tomorrow afternoon, when the baseball calendar calls for the opening clash of a series of seven between Walverton's men and the Vernon.

The present Sacramento club bears a little resemblance to the aggregation of "lame ducks" which have represented the capital city ever since the Pacific League was placed on the baseball map.

Just how big an improvement they will be on the Senators of the past remains to be demonstrated, but there is a bunch of new names on the payroll, and that will help some from the viewpoint of the fans.

The Senators are not only changed in personnel, but they are undoubtedly stronger. It is impossible to figure them any other way since they have been reinforced by players like Hale of St. Louis, Drucke of New York, Clark of Brooklyn, Shultz of Boston, Kenworthy and Moran of Washington, Stroud of Buffalo, and Healy of Detroit. While not all of these men are directly from the clubs mentioned, they all have had major league schooling, and most of them look like class AA timber from the ground up.

Venice and Sacramento are in the same position. Both got away to a bad start, and both have been having trouble with their pitchers. These clubs explain their presence in the second division. Either of them may crash into the upper circle this week, but it is doubtful whether either club will be able to take enough scalps to do this unless there is some wholesale throat-slitting among the leaders.

Venice promises to be a stubborn and dangerous foe in the weekend series. When Hogan and Henderson are turned loose in the Venice outfield, the fans are reminded of that old stuff about Greek meeting Greek.

Portland people will get their first look at their team today. Guess there is somewhat of a crowd on hand. Not only are the Beaver fans primed for baseball, but they are looking for a winner, and McCredie's men have been giving a pretty fair imitation of that sort of thing. In addition the Beavers on their home lot look like the Angels have taken unto themselves a man-sized job. Opening a week in Portland is one of the best dates on the Coast League program, and with favorable weather conditions a couple of the series are certain to be considerable.

Now, all these things are coming to pass. San Francisco and Oakland are engaged in their first spat of the season. These teams love each other with reverse English. Sic 'em.

It is the early yet to pick the order in which they will finish, but one fact is fairly well established, and that is the team which comes under the wire with the glad rag of supremacy tied to its windshield will be one that has been through seven months of bitter baseball. Just now, Venice, Oakland and Portland are strung out over the broughams with the other three, but it is possible that the order will be reversed without a shot. Venice and Sacramento are beginning to get up steam, and Howard expects to secure a flock of men from the Chicago club who will put the Seals in the van for a week, almost half of the regulars have been shelved, and their throttled San Francisco, by a score of seven. The Senators were victors of one game in the Oakland series, and last week held Los Angeles to a draw.

There is any place that the Seals are "going" it is in the infield. It is said that Howard will endeavor to install McArdle at second with a view to letting Mac is a brilliant fielder, and one of the best utility men in the business, but he hasn't the habit of crossing the horsehide with great frequency. Cartwright is still on the third base list, and it is possible that Howard will endeavor to improve.

TRIAL RUN OVER "TIMES" COURSE.

There is to be another trial run over the Times Modified Marathon course tomorrow, (Tuesday) afternoon at 3 o'clock.

A number of athletes have entered for the race since the last trial trip was made; and it was for the benefit of these men and others who don't know the course that the Tuesday afternoon run was arranged.

The runners may dress at The Times Building, where there are hot and cold showers and lockers for their clothes. A Moreland motor truck will accompany the marathoners over the course and if any of the boys tire of the grind, they will be picked up by the power wagon.

of New York's poorer studios, the Bowery and a road-house.

The cast is very large and for that reason affords but little chance for each player to present a finished character.

Frank Porter, the burglar, is impersonated by Malcolm Williams, and is the more important role. His change from the burglar to Damshinski, who runs a fence in the Bowery, and to Charles Burt, the reporter, affords this able actor, who is a new Morosco acquisition, a chance to show well his histrionic ability.

His appearance yesterday is specially interesting, as illustrating that peculiar sense of duty most actors have. Mr. Williams was cast for the important role in "The Million" some time ago. He fell sick and went through a major surgical operation a few weeks ago. He has been out of the hospital but a few days, yet the call of duty was too strong for him to disappoint and here he is in a part that calls for much exertion and brain work.

Ramon Andrade is the sculptor and Beatrice Lind, Florence Reed, important parts that do not call for much special talent. Helen Robertson as "Pearl," the flower of Bowery tenements, graduated to the high social position of a tavern keeper of bad repute, is very clever. Miss Annice Campbell as Mother Sharin, a very secondary role, brings special ability in portraying a character true to the environment of an East Side second-hand shop.

Donald Bowles, in the impersonation of Signor Donatelli, the singer, gives a very absurdly funny type of the Italian artist, which amuses.

In the first act and the third, insufficient rehearsal made the dialogue fast and furious, often difficult to follow and several times the lines were forgotten. With today, these defects will have been corrected.

For those who do not seek more than an amusing divertisement, "The Million" can fill an evening's leisure most agreeably as it is a riotous quest for a lottery ticket, which leads the principals through very queer antics and complications but nothing more.

The demand for seats for "The Tik-Tok Man of Oz," which began the third and last week of its successful local career at the Majestic last night, has been so uncommonly large that last night Oliver Morosco announced, that in order to accommodate many who had been unable to secure seats, an extra matinee performance will be given Thursday, at the same popular scale of prices that prevail at the regular Wednesday matinees.

"The Tik-Tok Man" closed its second week Saturday night and incidentally established a new two weeks attendance record for $2 attractions in Los Angeles.

It is now estimated that the receipts of the engagement up to next Saturday night will reach at least $45,000, which has only been exceeded by the Chicago Grand Opera company which played at a vastly higher scale of prices.

Mr. Morosco has added greatly to his "menagerie" and there are now to be found, besides "Hank, the Mule," a savage lion, a great big dog and an alligator of the most extraordinary funmaking accomplishments, while the entire action of the piece has been speeded up and improved until it is now in excellent shape.

"The Tik-Tok Man" will close its local engagement next Saturday night and at 2 Sunday morning will move to San Francisco in an eight-car special to begin a limited engagement at the Cort Theater next Monday night.

By an actual count of the box-office statements for the last eight weeks at the Burbank Theater, it was shown yesterday afternoon that during the eighty-two performances of "The Elixir of Youth" exactly 97,-783 persons have paid admission to see this sparkling farce which entered upon the ninth week of its record-breaking run yesterday.

This shows that the farce has played to nearly 4000 persons more than

ANDERSON LOOKS BETTER TO VAN.

But Work Does Not Impress Expert as the Best.

Bud Is Favorite at Present by Ten to Eight.

Good "Prelims" Scheduled for Tuesday's Card.

BY DE WITT VAN COURT.

Bud Anderson drew a full house yesterday afternoon at Jack Doyle's, a large number of ladies being present. Bud went through about a half hour's fast work and appeared in good condition, everything considered. He boxed two rounds with Harry Carter, two with his brother, Freddy, and two with Battling Chico.

While his work was not as impressive as I have seen him produce, it was good at this late stage of his training.

Anderson has a somewhat drawn look while he is training, but this is a common thing with boxers training for a match.

It will perhaps be better to judge him after we see him in action next Tuesday night.

Just as Bud began his work quite a little excitement started in the crowd. Several of Jack Doyle's peanut venders went on a strike and Jack was up in the air for several minutes. Watching a lot of boxers in their workout is a lot like looking at a circus. Everybody wants to eat peanuts.

Jimmie Youngdeer immediately offered to sell them for Jack. He took a basket and disposed of the whole bunch inside of five minutes. When the venders saw this they immediately called off the strike and got busy again.

After Anderson finished his workout, Bert Fagan boxed two rounds with Roy Rogers, who is matched in the first preliminary of the Anderson-Brown fight with Young Lahey. Then he boxed several fast and hard rounds with "Dude" Clark.

Fagan is to box Daley in the semi-wind-up, ten rounds, to the Anderson-Brown contest. When Harry Burns introduced Clark he said he was one of the best middleweights ever sent out from the East. "Dude" has been here for several months looking for a match, but for some reason or other Burns will not give him a chance.

One of Bud's Fans.

Chief of Police Sechrist of Vancouver, Wash., arrived in town yesterday morning to see Anderson in action next Tuesday night. He was accompanied by several boxing fans from Vancouver and Medford.

The Chief is a great lover of boxing and heartily approves of it when it is carried along clean lines. He intends visiting San Diego and several other Southern California towns before he returns to Vancouver.

Anderson the Favorite.

Anderson is a 10 to 8 favorite in the betting and will probably enter the ring at this price, unless Dan Morgan dumps his wad on Brown. Morgan sent word that he would bet heavily on Brown and this may change the odds.

Good Semi-Windup.

The Bert Fagan-Daley contest should be every bit as interesting as the Brown-Anderson affair. Jimmie Youngdeer has taken Fagan under his management and says he will insist on Bert's carrying the fight to Daley from the start. Fagan's failing has been to wait too long to get into action. If Bert follows Youngdeer's advice we will see plenty of action from the start. It is just this kind of going that suits Daley.

Dundee Works Out.

Johnny Dundee boxed three fast rounds with Young Marino yesterday. He is looking as strong as an ox. Scotty Monteith, his manager, says he will not get Johnny down to the real hard grind before next Friday, as Johnny had been doing some preliminary training ever since he arrived, several weeks ago.

The Dundee-Kilbane contest should be the best in that class since Kilbane defeated Abe Attell. And the winner should be practically alone in his class, judging from the few high-class boys left in the featherweight division.

NEVILLE WINS TITLE.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—[By A. P. Night Wire.] Jack Neville won the championship flight in the tournament of the Northern California Golf Association today, defeating Frank Kales, 2 and 1.

The other flights played today resulted as follows: L. Scrutton defeated J. H. Mee 8 and 7; W. H. Rhodes defeated F. Theriot, 6 and 5; C. F. Ford defeated C. C. Hillis, 3 and 1.

K. O. Brown's laugh.

DOUBLE HEADERS PILING UP IN THE BIG LEAGUE.

BY WALTER MARCHAND.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] A fine crop of double-headers is being accumulated in both the big leagues and the fans will begin to enjoy the double bill of fare early this season. The downpour of rain has made it impossible to play all the games scheduled on any day and has curtailed the enjoyment of those that have been played.

The only sufferers by the rain have been the magnates. Losing a Saturday at the start of the season cuts a big hole in the receipts which is not to be regained.

These postponements are really to the advantage of the strong clubs. Take the New York Nationals, for instance. A team of its strength is likely to be better in June than now, that is, as compared to its opponents, who, being young and unseasoned, are not to be as steady as the champions.

The Bostons are going so good just now that their chances of losing three out of four to the Giants are less than they will be in June, even though those four games be compressed into double-headers.

This was a day of rejoicing in Chicago. Only two games were played and the Windy City representatives won both, the Cubs breaking into the percentage column by beating out the Pirates and the White Sox pulling the Browns from their insecure perch at the top of the American League.

Weather permitting, there are likely to be some other changes tomorrow, but at this writing the outlook is not bright for games in the East.

CUBS TURN TABLES.

CHICAGO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 13.—[Special Dispatch to The Times by Federal (Wireless) Line.] The Cubs won from Pittsburgh before a large home crowd today after losing the opener to St. Louis. The score was 7 to 4 in favor of the locals. Hendrix, the visitors' star flinger, was batted hard, a total of twelve hits being registered by the Cubs. Cheney, the mainstay of the Cubs' staff, was also hit freely, but the nine blows, with the exception of one inning, were kept widely scattered. The score:

WHITE SOX IN FRONT.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

ST. LOUIS, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] The White Sox won from the St. Louis Browns today, scoring their second victory of the season and administering the first defeat to Stovall's men. The Browns used three pitchers but they were unable to stem the tide. Walsh relieved Lange in the eighth inning. Weaver got a home run, thus atoning for his error. The final score was 7 to 2 in favor of the visitors.

ANOTHER FIND FOR MARATHON.

Local Y.M.C.A. Man Makes Fast Time.

Moreland Trophy Looks His, Says Soldier Lad.

High School Cup Brings in Prep School Boys.

BY AD G. WADDELL.

Another promising marathon luminary has been unearthed. This time the contribution comes from the Los Angeles Y.M.C.A.

The lad's name is Richard F. Hall and he is only 18 years of age.

For the past two months, this sturdy youngster has been training on the Y.M.C.A. track, out on East Seventh street, and previous to taking up outdoor work he spent several months in the association gymnasium, working himself into excellent condition.

Hall refuses to give out the time he has made over the ten-mile course, but some of his friends have let the information slip out to the effect that he has done better than the time made by Albert Rey, of Sherman Institute, when he broke the American record for the distance, in the last Los Angeles Athletic Club marathon race.

TIME LOWERED.

The time he will make over The Times course should be much slower than his record on the Y.M.C.A. track, owing to the hills and paved streets over which a part of the race is to be run. He will be in the same class with the Indians in this respect, however, as they also, have been training on a level track.

The local boy has an easy stride and although a trifle heavy for a marathon runner, presents the appearance of a fast man, well-equipped to stand the strain of such a race as The Times modified marathon.

The Los Angeles Y.M.C.A. has entered five men, to date, and these should make a strong bid for the team trophy.

As Phil Henderson, the U.S.C. athlete is suffering from an injured leg, it is hardly probable that he will be able to compete in the race, and the hopes of the local university are not so bright as they were last week.

VARSITY VET.

Walbridge, the varsity two-miler, who has worked as an excellent understudy to "Chuck" Swiggett, during the past track season, is in the running strong and is expected to spatter the Trojan war colors on the finish line ahead of some of the best men in the race.

L. G. Combs, the runner who will wear the colors of Co. F, Seventh Regiment, in the race, Saturday, is the most promising man in his division and is a touted winner of the Moreland trophy, the cup offered by Watt Moreland to the first National Guardsman to cross the finish line.

Sergt. Phil Couteried had his military marathoners out on the course again yesterday and the men appeared to be ready to hike an even hundred miles if necessary. The soldiers did not try for speed yesterday and will not exert themselves until the day of the race.

CONDITIONING FEET.

They are working out regularly to keep their feet in condition and their blowing apparatuses properly adjusted. The heavy army marching shoes which the military men are compelled to wear are hard on the feet and if they are not well broken in, they will raise blisters in the first few miles hiked over paved streets.

The cup offered for the first High School boy to finish is attracting a great deal of attention among the students of Manual Arts High and Polytechnic. This trophy is to be awarded in addition to any other prize that the High School boy may win.

STAGG READY.

S. T. Stagg, the veteran runner who won a place well to the front in the first annual Times marathon, promises to furnish added class to the race again this year.

At the tender age of 50 years, he is still a wonderful athlete and a real sport. He says he is still a kid, only a little older than some of the other kids.

Stagg is confident that he will make a good showing Saturday and is quoted as saying that he will show his heels to some of the much heralded younger men, and repeat, if not better, his performance of last season.

Marathon hopes,

Young and old. Distance runners who are to appear in the Times Modified Marathon next Saturday afternoon. At top, Frank Cariss, L.A.A.C., and Joe Fegalman, Western Athletic Club. Garcia of St. Joseph Young Men's Club in center, and S. T. Stagg, the veteran marathoner, below.

Class Wins.

TIGERS EASILY DEFEAT POETS.

OXY HAS EASY WALKOVER WITH WHITTIER TEAM.

Walk and Foster Pitch Great Ball for Highlanders—Quakers Simply Outclassed by Faster Team—Oxy Men Run Riot on Bases and Wear Suits Over the Plate.

BY PAT MILLIKEN.

Occidental, 13; Whittier, 0.

Gather 'round, children, and hear the tale of the terrible Tigers. In a wild game yesterday afternoon on Baer Field, these Tigers from Occidental completely subdued the men from Whittier who had been sent up to do the taming stunt. By hard work, Oxy managed to squeeze through thirteen runs with twelve hits. It is some task, but it can be done.

The game was devoid of any inspiring work, save that of the pitchers for Occidental. These enterprising young men had a nice day's work to their credit. Walk pitched the first five innings. He allowed only one hit, three bases on balls and had six strike-outs to speak for his speed and curves. Sid Foster was never better than he was yesterday. He had everything he needed and finished up the game in a blaze of glory. In the ninth, with second and third occupied with Poets and only one down, Sid put on steam and forced the next man to hand him a nice little fly. Then to make a day of it, he struck out the last man. Some pitchers, these two, and they will take a lot of beating.

The continual bang of wood against leather became monotonous before the game was half over, but there was no let up. Capt. Seay kept after his men, with the plea that they needed the exercise. It may be true. If so, he should be satisfied now.

Occidental made three runs in the second inning, one in the third, five in the fourth and four in the sixth.

In the second inning, Kirkpatrick got to first on an error, and went to second on Emmett's single. Foster gave his life to let these two advance. Findley missed a third strike, allowing Johnson to get to first. Then our friend, "Duke" Walk, came up and took deliberate aim at a hole in the center field fence. His shot was about six inches to one side, but the blow went for two bases, counting Kirk and Emmett. Johnson was caught at the plate on a relay by the second baseman. Blount then got in the way of one and went to first. Sammy McClung singled to left, registering the Duke at the plate and putting Blount on second. Seay had compassion on the boys away from home and ended the inning by skying to center.

To begin the fourth, Walk again doubled to the fence. Before this inning was over the boys were tired from running around the sacks. The paths looked like a heavy-wagon road three months after a rain. Five runs had to be added to the already sufficient score as the result of the bombardment.

Whittier was never dangerous, although they threatened just a little in the ninth. They tried hard, but they are not in Oxy's class, and class will tell.

Occidental played an errorless game in the field. It is very seldom that this is seen in college ball. There were no hard chances for the boys to handle, due to the great skill of Messrs. Walk and Foster.

Score:

Occidental—Runs, 13; hits, 12; errors, 6.

Whittier—Runs 0; hits, 3; errors, 7.

WHAT WILL YOUNG MEMBER OF KILBANE FAMILY BE?

BY SISTER SUE.

Is little chubby yellow-haired Mary Kilbane destined to be a lady prize-boxer, or a musical virtuoso, when she grows up—which?

A lady prize-boxer, avers Poppa Johnny Kilbane.

A woman Paderewski, declares Momma Johnny Kilbane.

Isn't it just awful to have a skeleton like that rattling round in a peaceful prize-fighter's cupboard? Of course it's merely a little papier-mache skeleton, and the quarrel's mostly "kidding," anyhow. Still the gentle battle wages—

Will the dainty Mary employ her lily-white fingers in rattling the horse's teeth, al a Mr. Hoffman, or will she use her pretty digits to gently but firmly push in the face of some champion "Kid Kittie" of the future? Will she beat the box harmoniously interpreting the "Moonlight Sonata" or the "Spring Song," or will she do a spring-song-dance al a Foot-work Fanny, and perform that little work requiring wondrous technique, known as John L's Opus Thirty Round? In other words, will she hammer on "The Ring"—or merely in the ring? Will she receive flowers across the footlights—or have to wear violets so her fond friends will recognize her when the mill is over?

VERY VERSATILE.

The whole trouble is, clever, chubby little Mary shows marked ability in both directions. Incited thereto by a canned spasm in A-minor performed by the talented Kilbane phonograph, she will render, in a voice husky with taffy-candy and emotion, "My Heart Is God's Little Garden," or seizing her dainty skirts, and pointing her toe in a way that clearly marks her for the ballet, she will sing in a most persuasive way, "Won't You Be My Pony Boy;" or, with equal technique, she will double her tiny fists, crying "Tum on!" to all comers, with all the fierceness of a canary bird.

"Doesn't she always look in the papers at my picture, and say: "Poppa Johnny wants to knock 'em out?'" demanded Mr. Kilbane.

"Yes, but didn't she walk right up to the piano and pick out the notes of 'My Raggedy Rose My Rag,' the other night, and doesn't she always know the difference between the intermezzo and 'Everybody's Doin' It?'" asked his pretty wife triumphantly.

A NEW DOCTRINE.

"Honestly," I asked, "do you believe women can ever be prize fighters?"

"Yes, indeed," said Mr. Kilbane, "and will be, too, and that in the not-distant future. Women have the snap and pride and endurance about them, that will make good fighters of them. I shouldn't be surprised if we should see it within the next ten years. Some manewill get hold of a strong, husky girl, and put her in the ring; and then somebody else will bring forward another candidate—and—presto! The thing will be begun.

"Already in the East, the gymnasiums are crowded with boxing girls; girls are giving exhibitions to their friends; and when we gave a little boxing exhibition in Canton, O., a few weeks ago, there were 200 college girls in the gallery. I think every woman ought to learn to box. It will brighten her wits, as well as provide her with a means of self-defense, and strengthen her muscles from head to foot."

"Do you yourself intend to start a boxing school for women?" I asked.

But Mr. Kilbane only smiled that inscrutable smile which baffles his foes of the ring—and will probably keep Mr. Dundee guessing on the 29th instant.

RACE OFFICIALS' MEET TONIGHT.

A meeting of the board of directors of The Second Annual Times Modified Marathon is to be held at The Times office at 8 o'clock this evening.

Secretary H. H. Eling is to make a report on the entries received to date and the officials who are to assist Bob Weaver, chief clerk of course, during the race Saturday afternoon, are to be appointed this evening.

Pat Higgins, chief marshal, is to name his assistants tonight, also.

"The Million."

did "Peg O' My Heart" during a similar period, of its run, while the advance sale of seats at this stage of the run of "The Elixir" is more than double the demand for seats to see Miss Taylor as "Peg."

Frank Bacon, the well-known character actor who won such a distinct success as the old druggist in "The Fortune Hunter" and who will play the role of Dr. Relyea, when "The Elixir of Youth" is given in New York on September 2, will arrive in Los Angeles this week to witness a couple of performances of the farce and incidentally get his part before proceeding to New York to begin rehearsals.

To the Empress Theater this afternoon will come one of the biggest and most attractive bills that Sullivan and Considine has sent local lovers of vaudeville in many weeks.

There are two fine features on the new bill; the first being the well-known Hebrew character comedian, Nat C. Carr, with a capable company in Aaron Hoffman's new comedy drama success, "The End of the World," while the second will be Alber's Polar Bears, unquestionably the most spectacular animal act in vaudeville today.

Besides these two features there will be six other splendid acts and the new comedy pictures.

People's Orchestra.

A large audience attended the People's Orchestra concert yesterday afternoon at the Auditorium.

The special features were "Das Thal" of Richard Strauss sung by Anthony Carlson and "Abide With Me" by Mrs. Minnie Hance.

Chadwick's "Euterpe Overture," Brockway's "Syivan Suite," Sibelius "Valse Triste," Smetana's "The Bartered Bride" were the orchestral numbers.

The most striking song was the fine rendering of "Das Thal" by Carlson, first presented with full orchestral accompaniment.

In place of the usual intermission, in loving memory and respect of two artists much esteemed as men and as musicians, who died this week, Alfredo Janotta and George Anderson, Chopin's "Funeral March" was played by the orchestra. The spontaneous rising of the audience during its rendition added a mute and beautiful tribute of admiration.

Flood Benefit Concert.

Tomorrow evening will be given at the Auditorium, the most imposing concert ever given here for the benefit of the flood victims.

The Orpheus Club, under the direction of J. P. Duppy, the Lyric and the Ellis Club under J. B. Poulin and a grand chorus composed of the Lyric, Orpheus and Ellis clubs, and the Temple Baptist choir, will give an extraordinary programme of twelve numbers with 350 voices, the best of our city, and all for charity.

The cause is sufficient to call for the patronage of everyone if the first occasion of hearing a musical festival of unusual importance was not enough to tempt.

Orpheum.

Digby Bell, one of the best-liked and best-known comedians on the stage, will make his first vaudeville appearance at the Orpheum today, topping this week's bill in a sketch by George V. Hobart, "It Happened in Topeka." Just what happened there, Mr. Bell and his excellent company headed by Mary Cecil will elucidate.

The Four Huntings, with Harry S. Fern, come in a jovial skit, "The Trimmer Trimmed," with a plentitude of song and dance; Will Dilion will sing his own popular songs; Dorothy Harris is both singer and comedienne, although a stranger here, and the Great Tornadoes will show some new feats in athletics, tumbling and aerial work. These five new acts will be supplemented by the holdovers, including Bedini and Arthur, the jovial jugglers, Guerro & Carmen, the violin and harp virtuoso duo, and Schooler and Dickinson, the boy pianist and girl singer.

Mason.

Chauncey Olcott, the sweet Irish singer and actor, whose presence has not been granted Los Angeles in two decades, will be the attraction at the Mason opening tonight, for this week. Mr. Olcott, and his carefully selected company, come in Rida Johnson Young's new play, "The Isle o' Dreams," a drama of Ireland, of course, with scenes laid 150 years ago. Incidental to it, of course, will be introduced a number of popular ballads. These are all new, though it is possible to announce that Mr. Olcott's greatest success, "My Wild Irish Rose," will be included from time to time by request.

Pantages.

The Four Cook Sisters, en route to London, Eng., reached Los Angeles Sunday afternoon when Carl Walker at once secured them as a seventh feature for the new Pantages show, starting today's matinee. The Cook sisters are probably the greatest favorites of all the singing quartettes that have appeared at Pantages, and with John L. Sullivan and Jules Held's Kids and Kiddos give the show triple headliners this week.

Lefingwell and Myers in "A Night at the Lodge," and Seamon and Killion "The Tailor-made Girls," have comedy offerings with musical interruptions. Prevost and Brown, comedy acrobatics, and Purcell Brothers in their "convict" dance are classed as novelties. The show looks as good if not better, than last week's capital bill.

W.A.A. AND A.A.A. COME TO TERMS.

Harmony in Contested Matters in California.

The Official Statement to Local Members.

Frank Garbutt Sets Forth New Relations.

BY FRANK A. GARBUTT,

[President of W.A.A.]

It is with pleasure that I am able to report to our loyal members that all differences with the A.A.A have been amicably settled, as a result of an agreement reached with the Automobile Club of Southern California through negotiations between President Baker, representing the club, and a committee with power to act for the W.A.A., consisting of L. T. Shettler, E. E. Hewlett and Perry H. Greer, chairman.

GREER RIGHT MAN.

It was largely due to the impartial attitude of Mr. Greer that a settlement was reached that is satisfactory to all parties concerned and which bids fair to put Southern California upon the map as the leader in contest matters in the United States. Mr. Greer, as president of the Automobile Dealers' Association, practically decided the issue, when he brought his powerful organization to the aid of the W.A.A. and then immediately afterwards demonstrated that he could be a fair antagonist as well as a loyal friend, when he gave careful consideration to the claims of the auto club.

He made them concessions which practically secured their co-operation in the chosen field of the W.A.A.

PRESIDENT BAKER IS SQUARE.

President Baker, of the Automobile Club of Southern California, also showed his caliber, when he persisted in his attempts at compromise, when the differences seemed irreconcilable and by making concessions as gracefully as he received them, he gained not only a peaceful victory for his club, but for Southern California as well, by again demonstrating the truth of the statement that Southern California never is and never will be divided against itself.

TERMS SATISFACTORY.

By the terms of the settlement a local contest board of ten is named; one-half of its members being selected from the W.A.A. and one-half from the auto club. One member of this committee shall be a member of the contest board of the A.A.A.

This local board shall have full powers to govern all matters within its territory under the rules of the A.A.A.

W.A.A. WINS ITS POINT.

As the auto club and the W.A.A. may fairly be said to represent every one in their territory, who is interested in contest matters, such an arrangement gives everyone desiring it, an equal voice in the selection of the governing officials, and this is the point for which the W.A.A. contended. It also insures the perpetuation of the W.A.A., which does not lose its identity and becomes a stronger factor than before.

AUTO CLUB BENEFITED.

The Automobile Club of Southern California is benefited by securing the co-operation of the W.A.A. and turning what promised to be a warm competitor into an active partisan.

The A.A.A. is also happy in having averted a hard and relentless battle for its life, with the outcome very much in doubt.

It is thought that, with the lesson well learned, its future rulings will be less arbitrary and dictatorial, and that it will depend more upon justice and less upon technicalities.

SCHIMPF A GENTLEMAN.

Mr. Schimpf proved himself very much of a gentleman whom it was a pleasure and a privilege to meet socially, and he doubtless regards the West from a much broadened viewpoint, which will go far toward insuring a better understanding in the future.

All drivers, mechanics and officials operating under W.A.A. sanctions are recognised as in good standing, and from the date of this report, will be amenable to the rules of the A.A.A.

DETAILS COMING.

There are still many details to be worked out, but with the one common object in view of procuring a just and representative local government, no difficulty will be encountered in harmonizing all interests.

In closing this report I wish to remind you that the directors of this association accepted office with the understanding that they would resign for the purpose of securing the election of their successors by a general meeting of the W.A.A. This pledge will be fulfilled at the earliest practical moment, after our affairs are in such shape as to leave no embarrassing problems to our successors.

As previously stated, I cannot be a candidate for re-election and, therefore, in making what is probably my last report to the members, I desire to embrace this opportunity of expressing to them my sincere thanks for their hearty support.

GOOD BOARD OF DIRECTORS.

In closing, it would not be just if I omitted to advert to your able board of directors who at much sacrifice of their time and money, have attended to your affairs with a fidelity that makes it a pleasure to have fought by their side.

It is to their wise counsel and able efforts, that we must attribute whatever measure of success we have obtained.

KING FOILS ASSASSIN.

Alfonso Target for Three Shots.

French Anarchist Attempts to Take the Life of Ruler of Spain.

Would-be Regicide Overcome After Using Dagger on Pursuing Crowd.

Courageous Monarch Shouts "Long Live Spain!" as He Spurs His Horse.

[By Atlantic Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Line Overland to The Times.]

MADRID, April 13. — [Special Dispatch.] This afternoon when King Alfonso was returning from the ceremony of swearing in the troops, a man fired three shots at His Majesty. None of the shots took effect. The assailant was immediately arrested.

The attempt was made as King Alfonso was returning from a review at which recruits are sworn. He was proceeding along Alcazar street and was passing the palatial offices of the Banco Espagna, when a man dressed in a coffee-colored suit pushed forward and fired three revolver shots at the King.

The Monarch was unhurt, but his horse was hit.

The crowd assisted in arresting the man, who gave his name as Rafael Sanz. There was a desperate struggle, the man using a dagger to defend himself.

The cavalry and court attendants surrounded the monarch, but he remained quite cool amidst the excitement, ordered the soldiers to form their ranks and rode on ahead to the palace.

Premier Count Romanones called early to congratulate the monarch on his escape.

The utmost care was taken to prevent news of the affair reaching Queen Ena, who looks forward to an interesting family event toward the end of May, and she was not informed of the attempted assassination until the King himself had reached her room safe and sound.

MUCH AFFLICTED SOVEREIGN.

The attack on the King today is believed to have been impelled by violent anti-dynastic expressions in some of the Socialist and semi-anarchistic journals.

Alfonso said tonight:

"I am sorry this thing happened, but I am not worrying. I shall make no change in my present arrangements."

The King is still suffering slightly from his recent accident in the polo field. His Majesty is also struggling with a severe cough which some of his friends fear indicates a tuberculosis trouble. Altogether, Alfonso is a much afflicted sovereign. Political conditions were never more unsettled.

PATHETIC SCENE.

There was a pathetic scene when little Don Jaime learned of the attack on his father. He ran into the Queen's private reception-room where Alfonso was and hung on the King's knees. The King picked up the little Prince to whom spoken words are meaningless and reassured him by an affectionate caress. Afterward mother and father amused Don Jaime by telling him stories through the deaf and dumb alphabet, in the use of which both Alfonso and the Queen have become expert.

ESCAPED DEATH SEVEN TIMES.

1905—Bomb thrown at Alfonso in the streets of Paris while riding with President Loubet. Trooper's horse killed, eight persons injured.

May 31, 1906—Bomb hurled at carriage containing King and Queen while returning to the palace after the marriage of Alfonso and Princess Ena. Bomb was disguised in the form of a huge bouquet of roses. Eleven members of the escort and one of the King's carriage horses killed.

THE CITY. The Hitchcock suit on the docket, which depends the future of the Times, is to be taken up for final submission in a number of cases.

Many of the city laws arranged for the municipal election will be left to the First Board of Freeholders to improve the Twenty-three to be chosen by the Board of Education and such as are considered necessary.

A letter from Mayor Alexander of Los Angeles to Governor Gillett, the Governor of the Panama-Pacific Exposition, has been published, in which the Mayor tells how the Hearst campaign was conducted and gambling of all kinds flourished.

Many persons were or less seriously injured in two street collisions in which an automobile and a Pacific Electric car were involved.

Further evidence in vigorously denied by Chief Sebastian leads to the belief that the Municipal Bureau of Water Works and Supply will be reorganized.

The father of a merchant who was murdered recently, who for years ago was a member of the Vigilance Committee, has come out in opposition to Southern California's proposal to reorganize the Vigilantes.

SOUTHERN CALIFORNIA. The body of Mrs. Sol Lutz, the irrigation engineer and her husband was recovered from the Kern River. The funeral will be held today. Details of the accident were obtained.

Mrs. Lutz, who is the moving spirit in the Good Roads Association, addressed the Commercial Club yesterday and the speakers were some of the most notable orators of the day.

Fire which destroyed the buildings and contents of the Bon Bonnerie confectionery store at 1 o'clock Sunday morning will today settle the matter of the cause of the blaze. A vigorous investigation for weeks and both fire and police officials claim they have the evidence.

Prince Tsai Tao, brother of the Chinese Regent, arrived in Los Angeles with every berth taken and a number standing on deck. The Prince is on a tour of the United States.

Yaqui Indians Lead Assault and Horribly Mutilate Their Fallen Foes.

United States Captain Aids Federal Commander to Cross the Border.

Oaxacans in Fantastic Garb Arrive in Mexico on Way to Fight Zapata.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

MEXICO CITY, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The news that Naco had finally fallen into the hands of the Constitutionalists after the heroic defense of Gen. Ojeda, while not unexpected, had a depressing influence on the Sunday crowds. The fact that Gen. Ojeda with his decimated remnant of Federal soldiers had escaped across the border, however, gave some satisfaction. The heavy loss of life, especially during the last attack, which turned the little border town into a shamble, gives evidence of the stubbornness of the defense.

Mingled feelings were caused by the arrival of four companies of Oaxaca Indians fantastically dressed, who passed through the city to attack Zapata in his fastnesses near Cuernavaca.

Gen. Figueroa with 600 of his Federal mutineers has attacked the city of Iguala, one of the few strongholds that the Federal government still holds in the State of Guerrero. Sentiment against Figueroa is especially bitter.

HACKED BY FRENZIED SAVAGES.

The surrender of Naco was hastened by the attack upon the Federal garrison by the band of Yaqui Indians under Gen. Alvaro Obregon, commanding State troops, who, at daybreak, burst in upon the little garrison across the border and fought viciously. The dead on both sides have been estimated at 200, and the fortifications at Naco Sonora, are veritable slaughter pens. About the buildings are strewn more than 100 bodies, shot, cut and horribly mutilated.

Gen. Ojeda, true to his promise, refused to surrender to the State forces, and while the fighting was at its height this morning, he attempted to march across the border with his band of faithful Federals. The fire from the enemy was demoralizing and Ojeda and his men scattered, running to the railway tracks which separate the two border towns. Not even then did the firing from rebels cease, and Gen. Ojeda shouted to the American soldiers watching the fighting from a distance.

AMERICANS TO RESCUE.

Capt. H. A. Sievart, Co. A, Ninth United States Cavalry, ran alone to his assistance. The American officer grasped the Mexican general by the arm. Together they ran in a hail of lead to where an automobile was waiting.

Capt. Figueroa of the Federal garrison, with fifteen men, remained behind to cover Gen. Ojeda's light. One by one he and his fellows died in the barracks, surrounded by a horde of yelling, slaughtering Yaquis. When the Indians burst through windows and doors, and crawled through shell-made apertures in the buildin, there were no living Federals to great them.

SWORD FROM DEAL MAN.

Gen. Obregon entered the barracks from which the handful of Federal soldiers had wrought so much havoc with his overwhelming force and picked up the sword which had fallen from Capt. Figueroa's hand. Such was the only formality of surrender to the State forces.

Gen. Ojeda, before leaving the Sonora town, spiked his cannon and burned all supplies. Little was left for the victorious rebels. Personally leading his small group of men, he went from building to building, wrecking and destroying everything which might have been useful to the rebels. But not until his ammunition practically had become exhausted did the Federal commander give the word for flight.

DEAD PILED IN THE STREETS.

Sixty-five wounded from both sides were hurried to this town and placed in the army hospital. The dead remained piled in the streets and hanging from windows of buildings as they fell. Forty-five wounded Indians picked up in the streets of the Mexican town told what the Yaquis had accomplished. Prevented from participating in the night attack which had been planned against the Federals by Gen. Obregon, because of their superstition of death in darkness, the Indians, at daybreak, wildly hurled themselves against the Federal fortifications, forcing the fighting and winning the battle which ended the five days' siege.

"There is honor in this defeat," said Gen. Ojeda after he had reached the American side. I have only one regret, and that is for Capt. Figueroa, who refused to surrender with me."

OJEDA WEEPS BITTERLY.

When told of the captain's death, Ojeda wept bitterly.

"Oh, had I but thrown myself in flames and died as he did," cried the white-haired soldier.

"Now we are ready to drive the Huerta soldiers out of Guaymas, and the State will be ours," exulted Gen. Obregon after the bloody victory.

"My men deserve the credit," boasted the Yaqui chief just after the fighting ceased.

GEN. PEDRO OJEDA SPIKES HIS CANNON.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

NACO (Ariz.) April 13.—After spiking his cannon and burning all ammunition and supplies, Gen. Pedro Ojeda with 150 survivors of Naco (Sonora) garrison, crossed to this side at 11 o'clock today. He surrendered to United States troops on border patrol here. The surrender followed an attack of nearly 1500 State troops which began at 10 o'clock.

The Yaqui Indians early today took the advance in the attack. The barracks became a slaughter pen with dead Federals and Constitutionalists strewn in and about the buildings.

Angel of Death Hovers.

tore Romano was issued, which ordinarily does not publish on Sunday, but it was considered desirable to keep the public informed as to the progress of the Pope.

COMFORTS HIS RELATIVES.

The Pope's sisters and niece drove to the Vatican and the Pope, observing unmistakable signs of weeping, said in the Venetian dialect:

"Don't cry so much. It is true I am ill, but let us put hope in God."

SPEAKS IN MOTHER TONGUE.

Since he became weaker it has been remarked that the pontiff speaks only in Venetian, even with those who are not so familiar with that dialect.

The sisters took turns remaining at the bedside of their brother, who says that he feels he can endure his suffering better when one of them is near him.

NERVOUS TREMORS.

At noon his temperature rose slightly above 100 degrees. Several times today the Pope was partly overcome by the accumulations in his throat, which interfered seriously with breathing. Then he experienced a sense of suffocation and nervous tremors shook his whole body, while perspiration gathered on his face.

NEXT POPE LIKELY TO BE A LIBERAL.

ROME, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] When Pius dies who will be the next Pope? The entire Catholic world and particularly the Catholic people of Rome, are asking this question today. No one could hope to give answer.

The conclave which will elect the successor of Pope Pius will be the freeest, the most open in the history of the church. Pope Pius destroyed once and for all time the Austrian veto which excluded any choice disapproved by the reigning family at Vienna.

The presence of three American princes of the church and of an unprecedently strong representation of other countries outside Italy, broadens the power of choice. But, next to the revocation of veto, the most momentous circumstance which will set its seal upon the conclave will be the fact that most of the papabili or likely candidates, are sure of so much support that many ballots will undoubtedly have to be taken before a new vicar is invested with the fisherman's ring.

MAY BE A YOUNG MAN.

One of the most eminent prelates in the Eternal City when asked whom he thought would most likely be chosen, said:

"I can tell you whom the new Holy Father will be. He will be a young man, comparatively—between 40 and 60, more likely under 50 than over it—he will be a vigorous opponent of Socialism, but what you Americans would call liberal. He will have had experience as a diplomatist, but will not have been closely identified with the formulation of the present papal foreign policy or questions affecting Italian domestic relations."

"But that," it was stated, 'would exclude all the papabili and most of the better known members of the Sacred College."

"True," was the prelate's answer. "But the choice does not necessarily lie from within the cardinalate."

Which is a fact, very generally forgotten. A layman is not likely to be elected Pope, but a layman could be elected. Before being crowned he would be invested in turn with all the holy orders subordinate to the pontificate. Several popes have been created cardinals after elected—when no member of the college could secure the necessary majority.

While there are many opinions in Rome as to the possibilities of the situation there is agreement on several points made by this prelate Youth will be sought and a churchman of profound attainment who can deal strongly and successfully with the modernist and socialistic problems as well as affecting a settlement of that vexed question which has made the head of the church familiar to the world as "the prisoner of the Vatican."

O'CONNELL TALKED OF.

With the exception of Cardinal O'Connell of Boston all the American members of the college would be barred if the choice is to be of "one between 40 and 60." Cardinal O'Connell is 53. He has won fame as a diplomatist, having been specially chosen by the Holy See for the mission to Japan, which he carried out with wonderful success. He meets all the other specified qualifications. But some will say he is an American.

That is an advantage, according to many. In fact, the great strength of another of the papalbili, Cardinal Falconi, is the fact that he is an American. The old spirit of Italian conservation within the principitate, while not yet dead, is dying fast and almost dead. The feeling has gained strong hold that the Vatican and Quirinal must be brought into rapprochement. A non-Italian Pope would ease the way. Again, where in the Catholic world is such a living, vivid force as in the United States, that huge, great new world towards which the political poles are steadily, surely shifting. There will be strong opposition doubtless to the candidature of Cardinal O'Connell, but should it prove too strong to be overcome it may be found politic to waive the question of age and elect Mgr. Falconio, who is in his 70th year, but still vigorous.

RAMPOLLA MENTIONED.

The name of Cardinal Rampolla will certainly be presented. The splendid "Chesterfield of the Church" is still the idol of the Catholics, and he is a year younger than Cardinal Falconio.

Just before the last conclave it was generally believed that he would be chosen, "but who enters the conclave Pope comes out a cardinal" and the old saw of Rome held good. Great as he undoubtedly is, a wonderful, magnetic character, a saint in his personal life, a lion rampant when the church is assailed, this famous prelate who was the strong right hand of the good Leo XIII through so many years, cannot hope to command a majority. Neither can Cardinal Maffi, the two Vanutellis or Cardinal Gotti, who were papabili in 1903. Cardinal Gasparri, titular archbishop of Cesarea, who is present, and Cardinal Cavallari, who succeeded Pope Pius as patriarch of Venice are possibilities despite that Mgr. Cavallari like others in all other respects, is a few years beyond the sixtieth meridian.

POPE'S COUSIN DIES.

In six months' time Wannetta has mastered the first grade reader, has a better and more comprehensive knowledge of geography than the average 12-year-old scholar, is an apt scholar of physiology, has taken a keen interest in politics, has a bowing acquaintance with physics and is also so well versed in the Bible that she is excluded from the Sunday-school class containing children of her age. By the time she can enter the kindergarten she will be ready for the third grade.

The Fortress of Namur.

Queen Elizabeth, Belgium.

Royalty's last stronghold.

The most remarkable strike in history is to be inaugurated today in Belgium, when 500,000 men, encouraged by many of their employers, refused to resume work until they are granted equality in suffrage. It is believed, that if resistance to their demands is prolonged that an attempt will be made to establish a republic and the government has greatly strengthened the ancient fortress of Namur, shown in the picture, which in case of an emergency will offer a haven of refuge to King Albert and his Queen, Princess Elizabeth, appearing in the above group.

UNCLE SAM FEELS GREATLY RELIEVED

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Officials here expressed relief tonight when they learned that the fighting at Naco was over. For five days American lives had been in constant danger from bullets falling across the international border and a prolonged siege of the town would have created a situation most difficult to deal with. Brig.-Gen. Bliss, commanding the United States border force, had warned the combatants that further firing into American territory would not be tolerated, but the Mexican commanders had a hard task trying to keep their volleys directed away from the border.

FEAR LOSS FROM DROUTH.

Feed for Stock in Sacramento and San Joaquin Valleys Is Scarce and Live Stock Will Suffer.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Owing to the unusually small amount of precipitation this year in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys, feed for stock is very scarce, and unless stockmen secure some relief, it is anticipated there will be a very heavy loss of sheep and cattle.

Stockmen of these valleys have begun to look to the higher mountains for summer feed, and since these ranges are within the national forests, the Forest Service is being asked by local stock associations and individuals to accommodate a larger number of stock than they have heretofore allowed to be grazed on the forests.

The District Forester at San Francisco has made it known that he will assist bona fide residents, who would otherwise suffer heavy loss, in every way consistent with the proper protection of the forests.

YOUNG HARRIMAN RETURNS.

Son of Late Railway Magnate, Coach at Yale, About to Finish College Course.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] William Averill Harriman, son of the late Edward H. Harriman, has just returned to Yale from his Easter vacation for the last term of his college course. He will receive his diploma from the academic department next June, although he took a month from his studies about the beginning of the present year to study English rowing in connection with his coaching of the Yale crews.

Harriman, who is the elder son and who has just inherited a share in one of the largest American fortunes, is much in the public eye just at present by being Yale's head crew coach and by being the only person in the world ever picked for that position who never rowed a regular oar.

Last year Harriman was chosen coach of the freshman crew and he crossed the Atlantic in midwinter to study the English rowing system. The crew he drilled made the best showing of any in the Yale-Harvard regatta last June. Last autumn he was made head coach of the Yale University crew.

USES SLANG TO WIN SOULS.

Girl Preacher's Language Not Classic, but It Has a "Kick."

[A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Miss Amy Stockton, girl preacher, and San Jose Normal student, is going to "pass up" the use of classic English in her addresses and use slang when slang carries with it the "kick." With modifications of "Billy" Sunday's grammatical "curves" and "drives," she proposes as an evangelist to hew out a direct method of discourse all her own. "You've got to get it across to your hearers," said Miss Stockton. "Some of my friends have roasted me for the slang; others say it's the right stuff. Anyway, I'm for it."

WOMEN DON WAR PAINT FOR ANNUAL CLASH.

Mrs. Horton of Buffalo and Mrs. Story, Conservative Candidate for President, Hold Receptions in New Willard Hotel in Washington as a Preliminary.

BY CONSTANCE CARRUTHERS.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] When at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning Mrs. Mathew T. Scott, president of the General National Society of the Daughters of the American Revolution, walks down the center aisle of the great assembly-room in Continental Hall, escorted by a body of minute men of the Society of 1912, in their buff uniforms and three-cornered hats and a veritable flower garden of pages, it will be the official "call to arms" for the twenty-second continental congress of the society.

The air teemed with excitement in Peacock Alley and in the drawing-rooms of the New Willard Hotel today where are assembled the two waring factions, that of Mrs. John Miller Horton of Buffalo, the progressive and administration candidate for president-general, and Mrs. William Cumming Story, the conservative candidate for the same position. Unable to longer remain entirely outside the fray, Mrs. Charles B. Bryan also visited Peacock Alley with a number of her strongest supporters, each keeping her ears open for the latest news.

MRS. STORY IN WHITE.

Mrs. Story, wearing a splendid white brocade and looking indeed a grand dame, promenaded the corridor, holding an enthusiastic reception, while with her were her staunest allies.

Mrs. Horton, who was stricken with a sore throat yesterday, was so hoarse tonight, she could not speak and is entirely out of business, so far as the social world is concerned.

Almost the only topic of conversation is the war between Mrs. Story on one side, and Mrs. Matthew T. Scott, president-general of the D.A.R., on the other, over the way the coming congress shall be managed. An effort was made by the Story faction to have negotiations for changes in the modus operandi of the congress made, without the public and especially the newspapers becoming acquainted with all the facts. This, however, failed and the administration faction took it as a personal insult that changes in reference to the voting and voting machines should be asked.

THE STORY CIRCULAR.

The chief line of battle is over a circular issued by the Story headquarters at the New Willard tonight and to which Mrs. Scott said:

"I was amazed and shocked beyond words when I was confronted at noon today by two attorneys sent by Mrs. Story to demand that I observe the most elementary rules of common honesty and fairness in conducting the forthcoming election.

"The direct implication of this demand—that minorities have not had or are not likely to have, fair play in elections conducted during this administration—is gratuitously offensive, and without a shadow of foundation in fact and a reflection upon the fair-mindedness and sense of justice of the entire membership of our splendid organization.

"Mrs. Story will have this year, as she had two years ago, a "square deal" from start to finish. The forthcoming election will be conducted with absolute fairness to all the candidates."

HALF MILLION BELGIANS STRIKE FOR THE BALLOT

Most Remarkable Labor Demonstration in History of the World.

Wheels Stop and Tools Drop in Thousands of Shops and Mills—Multitudes Will Be Reduced to Starvation Unless Demand for Universal Manhood Suffrage Is Speedily Granted—All Europe Is Alarmed.

[BY CABLE AND FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE OVERLAND TO THE TIMES.]

BRUSSELS, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] The entire kingdom is beseiged by strikers. Half a million men will remain idle today. The great port of Antwerp is tied up. Only passenger steamers will enter or leave here from now until the strike ends. Foodstuffs have already reached famine prices. Thousands may be reduced to starvation in every town, burgomasters and Counsillors are forming relief committees. Not a potato or a sack of flour could be had for love or money before the shops closed their doors fearing a famine riot. It is now estimated that the cost of the strike to Belgium will be not less than $1,000,000 a day. It is the most remarkable labor demonstration in the history of the world. Thousands of shops and factories will close down.

TROOPS QUIETLY MOBILIZED.

Troops are being quietly concentrated at strategetical points to ward off any attempt to depose the King and to proclaim a republic. The ancient fortress of Namur has been especially strengthened, to serve as a refuge, in case the King and Queen must leave Brussels.

The Socialists demand universal mandhood suffrage. Unless this is granted, they declare that all work will continue in abeyance indefinitely.

Many of the unions, uncontrolled by the Socialists or anti-clericals have refused to join the strike. They have followed the injunctions of the hierarchy to seek political reforms through proper political methods and not by endangering the prosperity of the nation or the [illegible] poor.

The "universal strike" was [illegible] by the Socialist Congress on [illegible] despite protests from many [illegible] the kingdom.

PHOENIX (Ariz.) April 13.—The third special session of the First Arizona State Legislature will be called by Gov. Hunt tomorrow to complete business begun during the session which adjourned last week, according to opinions expressed by legislators tonight.

The session, if called, will open with an attempt to unseat M. G. Cunniff, president of the Senate.

Former Speaker Bradner, of the Assembly, was ousted at the beginning of the last session by anti-administration forces, and the same element in the Senate will undertake to unseat the presiding officer of that body tomorrow, according to anti-administration members. They said they expected little difficulty in obtaining a new Senate president.

SUGAR FIGHT UP TO SENATE.

INSULAR INTERESTS COMBINE IN STRONG COMBINE.

Delegates from Both Hawaii and the Philippines Unite to Prevent Cutting of Tariff, but Have Had Little to Comfort Them in Attitude of Democrats.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] The fight against free sugar now moves on to the Senate. Already the Hawaiian and other opponents of an "unsweetened" tariff are concentrating upon Senators who are either openly or secretly unconvinced and sitting astride of the fence. While from the point of view of Hawaiian sugar planters and refiners there is little of comfort in the stubborn attitude of the administration and the House in preserving what they call the "family basket" provisions of the Underwood-Wilson measure.

It is still thought there is strength enough in the Senate to gain some grains of protection for the industry which helped Honolulu to become one of the most flourishing cities in the world. A stiff fight is being made and all the sugar interests are pulling vigorously together.

A feature of the present fight is the fact that now for the first time the Philippine sugar interests and the resident delegates from Manila are acting with their Pacific Ocean "neighbors" and the domestic interests.

BACK WITH SIX BIRDS.

Unique Ornithological Specimens Brought to America by Expedition that Included a Los Angeles Man.

[BY A. P. DAY WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13. — Six small birds, somewhat resembling quail were brought by Commodore R. G. Salisbury, U.S.N., who arrived on the transport Sherman from the Philippines. He is taking them to the Smithsonian Institution in Washington and they represent a result of a government expedition he headed into the Bird Islands of the South Pacific.

The birds are black Laysan rail and there are not many in the world. The commodore had three score of them alive when he started, but at Honolulu he stuffed all but these six, the others having died on the way.

Many other stuffed specimens were brought back, and the commodore has prepared a bird census of Laysan Island where he estimates there are 40,000 albatross, 20,000 tern, 50,000 white petrels and 12,000 frigate birds.

Other members of the expedition were George Willett of Los Angeles, an ornithologist; Alfred M. Bayley of Iowa University and W. G. Wallace of Stanford University.

Farmers Employ Bird Cages to Scoop Them Out.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PORTLAND (Or.) April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] A run of smelt which promises to break all records has come into the Sandy River, a tributary of the Columbia, twelve miles from Portland.

All day yesterday and today an army of farmers and people from the city were busy scooping out the little fish in water buckets, dip nets, inverted bird cages and with pitchforks. The supply is so far beyond the demands of the markets that farmers are hauling them off by the wagon loads and distributing them over their plowed lands as fertilizer. One cent a pound is the market price for smelt along the Sandy, with but scant demand, since people there and in Portland have become surfeited with them.

Heavy runs of smelt in the Sandy appear at intervals of several years, but this one is denominated a freak run, being both ahead of time and unusually heavy.

Immense Structure Will Be Erected Above West End Avenue and Seventy-second Street for Exclusive Use of the Medical Profession in Gotham.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] Overshadowing the famous mansion of Charles M. Schwab on the exclusive upper West Side, a great thirty-five-story skyscraper, costing over $2,000,000, will soon rear its head into the clouds flitting above West End avenue and Seventy-second street, this city. It is for the Manhattan doctors. Unless one possesses a diploma authorizing practice as a physician or surgeon, an eye specialist, an ear specialist, or a duly-qualified status in some other branch of the healing art, neither love nor money will secure a lease on any of the many apartments in this huge skyscraper city of the doctors.

OVERLOOKS HUDSON.

It will overlook the Hudson River and the Palisades. The structure will be topped with a huge St. Andrews cross to be illuminated at night, which will be visible for a distance of twenty miles.

On the top floor the plan is to install an elaborately-equipped operating room for the joint use of the tenants. The rest of the floor will be devoted to club purposes.

The projectors of the enterprise aim to secure as tenants experts in various branches of the medical profession, the object being to create a community "where every ailment flesh is heir to can be treated."

MANY WAITING ROOMS.

On the ground floor will be waiting-rooms for both sexes, booths for druggists and purveyors of other medical supplies. Each of the remaining floors will be divided into suites of offices.

Elevators will be specially constructed so as to carry automobiles and ambulances up to any floor to reduce to a minimum disturbance of accident cases or delicate patients.

Inflammatory Speech of Member of House of Commons in London Impels Women Sympathizers to Fire Shipcote Council Institution at Gateshead, Eng.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

LONDON, April 13.—The inammatory speech made by George Lansbury, a former member of the House of Commons, at the suffrage meeting at Albert Hall on Thursday night, urging the militants to continue their campaign of incendiarism and show no regard for property, has borne fruit.

An attempt was made yesterday to burn down the Shipcote Council schools at Gateshead. Incendiaries entered rooms in which carpentry is taught and after drenching the place with kerosene, set it on fire. The flames were discovered in time to prevent their spreading to the other classrooms. The damage was small.

INCENDIARY PLACARDS.

Evidence that the perpetrators were suffragettes was afforded by labels scattered about the premises, inscribed:

"We burn to get votes for women."

"For the damages done sue—Asquith."

"You cannot stop us by the Cat and Mouse bill."

Several hundred militants, bearing black banners, paraded the street, accompanied by two brass bands, to Holloway Jail where fourteen suffragettes are said to be on a hunger strike. They circled the jail twice singing "The March of the Women," and cheering for their imprisoned comrades. The object of the demonstration was to encourage the hunger strikers.

HALED AT MATINEE.

Augustin Birrill, Chief Secretary for Ireland, who attended a matinee yesterday, was espied by Miss Nancy Lightman, a prominet militant.

When the curtain fell she addressed the Secretary in a loud voice, saying:

"How can you, as an honorable man, continue as a member of this despicable government, which breaks its pledges to women?"

him in Barcelona while making state entry into city.

January 5, 1911—Bomb hurled at Alfonso and Senor Canalejas, then Premier of Spain, the moment after the doors of the palace at Malaga were closed, saving them by the space of a few seconds.

April 13, 1913—King shot at thrice while riding back to the palace after review.

SKILL AND COURAGE SAVE KING FROM DEATH.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

MADRID, April 13.—King Alfonso owes his escape to his own courage, quickness and skilled horsemanship. Accompanied by his staff, he was riding along the Calle de Alcala, returning from the ceremony of swearing in recruits, when a man sprang from the sidewalk and seized the bridle of the King's horse with one hand, pointing a revolver point blank with the other.

The King, realizing the situation, with lightning rapidity dug his spurs into his horse, which reared violently. His quickness saved his life. The bullet, instead of burying itself in the King's breast, struck the horse. So close was the range that the King's left glove was blackened by the powder discharge.

FURIOUS STRUGGLE.

Before the assailant was able to pull the trigger again a secret service man sprang upon him. The two men fell to the ground locked in each others' arms, struggling furiously. The assassin managed to free the hand which clutched the revolver and fired two more shots in rapid succession, but the officer knocked his arm aside and the bullets flew harmlessly through the air.

At the sound of the first shot the King's staff forced their horses on the sidewalk and made a ring around the assassin, who fought fiercely in the grip of four policemen before he was overpowered ad handcuffed.

"LONG LIVE SPAIN!"

King Alfonso, as soon as he saw that the man had been secured, raised himself in the stirrups, turned to the crowd, gave a military salute and shouted in a ringing voice: "Long live Spain!"

He then dismounted and reassured his staff, saying: "It is nothing, gentlemen."

Then up rose a mighty roar from the wildly-enthusiastic masses, which rolled along in great waves of sound all the way as the King rode to the palace, cool, collected and smiling.

TWO SPECTATORS ARRESTED.

A spectator, a pensioned royal halberdier, pushed forward so impetuously to offer his congratulations to the monarch that he was mistaken for another assassin and arrested. He was released as soon as the mistake was discovered. A young Frenchman, who was standing beside Allegro also was arrested, but it does not appear that he was connected with him.

LYNCHING PREVENTED.

The crowds made a determined attempt to lynch Allegro, who was rushed into a house and kept there until an automobile ambulance, escorted by mounted police, transferred him to police headquarters.

Alfonso had hardly been back in the palace ten minutes when an immense clamor arose. The two squares on which the palace looks were black with people of all classes, desirous of showing their joy at the King's safety and their admiration for his bravery. The King went to the balcony and acknowledged the cheers, and then sought the Queen, and the two stood bowing to the throngs for several minutes.

FRENCH ANARCHIST.

The police investigations have established that Allegro was recently expelled from France as an anarchist, after which he went to Barcelona. He came to Madrid a month ago and obtained employment in a carpenter shop. He worked there until Friday.

A woman said to be associated with Allegro was arrested tonight.

Board of Control Will Wait Until Legislative Committee Has Taken Up Its Work.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SACRAMENTO, April 13.—According to present plans of the State Board of Control, which yesterday terminated its investigation of Secretary of State Jordan's office, no official report of the inquiry will be made until the Legislative Committee has taken up its work.

Although the investigation was not entirely completed by the board, it was planned originally to make a report of its findings to Gov. Johnson. Instead, the transcript of testimony taken before the board will be turned over to the Legislative Committee and whatever recommendations will be forthcoming will emanate from that body.

The Legislative Committee is to meet and organize tomorrow morning.

CAUTIOUS ABOUT PHILIPPINES.

Democratic Senators Disposed to Go Slow in Granting Promised Independence to the Islands.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 13. — [Special Dispatch.] The question of granting independence to the Filipinos will be the subject of hearings by the Senate Committee on Philippines while the tariff is occupying the attention of the house, according to a statement made by Senator Hitchcock, chairman today. The Philipine delegates and exponents of the cause of independence will be given an opportunity to state their side and American officials in the islands will be asked to give their views on the expediency of turning over the government to the natives, in accordance with the plan proposed by the Jones bill.

There is a well defined disposition among the Democratic Senators to approach the question of Philippine independence cautiously. Senator O'Gorman expresses the opinion that the islands are not ready for self-government and many other Senators on the majority side believe that there is no urgent need of haste in disposing of the question. The fact that a very small percentage of the Filipinos have availed themselves of the privilege of voting is given as the reason for postponing action at the present time.

It is probable, that before the matter is taken up an extended investigation will be made by a Congressional committee, which will visit the islands during the summer.

Southern City Is Selected for the Next Convention Place by Young Men's Christian Association.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO, April 13.—Long Beach was selected as the convention city for the State Young Men's Christian Association at the meeting yesterday, after an invitation had been extended from the Chamber of Commerce of that city. In the forenoon departmental activities of the association were considered. In the afternoon the delegates enjoyed automobile rides and a basket picnic. Last evening addresses were heard on the rural activities of the local associations.

This morning, all the local evangelical pulpits were filled by visiting leaders of the association. In the afternoon, meetings were held at Fowler, Selma, Kingsburg, Reedley, Sanger, Covis and Easton.

Chief of Bureau of Insular Affairs Declares Cable Advices Discount Sensational Mail Reports.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] Brig.-Gen. McIntyre, chief of the Bureau of Insular Affairs, said today that there was no foundation for the report that thirty American soldiers were wounded recently in an encounter with Moros at Jolo.

"I had a cablegram a few days ago from Gov. Forbes to the effect that he had just made a trip through the section referred to and that all was quiet," Gen. McIntyre said. "As I understand it, the story of the fight is based upon reports that have reached San Francisco by mail within the last few days. Our later cable advices completely discount these reports."

CONGRESSMEN AIM TO PROTECT NURSERY STOCK.

California Delegation Is Considering Amendment in Law to Regulate Shipment of Plants So that Pests Cannot Be Introduced Into State from Outside.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] Members of the California delegation and especially Hayes, Kent and Raker, have been giving a good deal of thought to the need of some regulation which will prevent insect pests from being shipped into California through the mails with nursery stock.

A. J. Cook, State Commissioner of Horticulture, writing to Representative E. A. Hayes, said that there was great need of a change in the law regulating plants sent by mail. He suggested that the law be amended to require plants sent by mail to be held, if so requested until they shall be examined and pronounced free from insect pests. Years ago, he said, the white fly got into California by mail and more than $10,000 was spent in the attempt to get rid of it.

AUTHORITIES ARE ANXIOUS.

Commissioner Cook writes that in a thorough examination so many insects are found that are a great menace to the horticultural industry of the State that the authorities there are "nervously anxious" and sincerely hope that something can be done.

The California Congressmen want to have a regulation that will apply to express companies and other common carriers as to the mails. They expect to be able to devise some satisfactory plan with the aid of the Department of Agriculture.

BELL IS PUZZLED.

Congressman Charles Bell of Pasadena says he is at a loss to understand the motive for the attack on the citrus fruit tariff. He knows from his long experience in California, he says, the vicissitudes of the fruit grower and he is strong for protection for them. He accompanied the Democratic Congressman who toured the State's orange groves last fall and he only had his belief in the desirability of a reasonable tariff strengthened. "I am for the citrus fruit growers, first, last and all the time," he declares.

Representative Stephens has received a petition from 200 citizens in Edenville, Silver Lake, Elysian Height districts who want better mail facilities. They are not getting rural free delivery and the city delivery is unsatisfactory partly because many of the streets are ungraded. Stephens is taking the question up with the department.

TO INTRODUCE BILLS.

Representative Howell will introduce a number of bills Monday, some of them at the request of the organization in Utah. Among them is a bill to pension the surviving officers and men of the Utah volunteers of '65-'66; another is to establish an office of the weather bureau at Brigham. One is for an appropriation for $50,000 for a public building at Ephraim. An important bill calls for the amendment of the mineral land law, "to entitle the applicant to a patent it shall be sufficient to show by reasonable proof that he has disclosed upon his claim a vein or lode in place which carries the characteristic vein or lode material which leads to commercial mineral deposits." Granting to the State of Utah one million acres of public land to reimburse the State for expenses incurred in suppressing Indian disturbances from 1865 to 1868.

Dr. Steiner of Grinnell College Thinks Conditions Not Favorable for Newer Citizens.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

FRESNO (Cal.) April 13.—The State convention of the California Young Men's Christian Association closed tonight with the passage of resolutions instructing the State Committee of the Association on various details of the work for the coming year, including the problem of dealing with immigrants, and with an address by Dr. Edward A. Steiner of Grinnell College, on "When the Old World Meets the New." In the course of his remarks on the conditions that immigrants would find on arriving in California subsequent to the completion of the Panama Canal, Dr. Steiner declared that in a cursory inspection of the foreign quarter of this city, situated as it is in the vicinity of the restricted district, the conditions were not favorable to the best development of the morals of the younger generation among the newer citizens.

This morning, a dozen pulpits in this city were occupied by association leaders from other parts of the State, and during the afternoon delegations from the convention held meetings in the smaller towns of this county.

Denver Doctor Resents Publication of Poem Describing His Gallantry to the Ladies.

[BY DIRECT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

DENVER, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] L. P. Bischoff, editor of the German Vorwaets, wished Dr. J. Henry Dreyer, a physician with offices at No. 9 Welbrach block, No. 1206 Fifteenth street, a cordial good morning when the latter entered his printing shop, No. 1313 Champa street, yesterday morning.

The doctor replied to the salutation by horsewhipping the publisher. The encounter was the outcome of the publication of a poem in the Vorwaerts, concerning Dr. Dreyer. It was written by Baron Von Horn, a local German, and told how the doctor while on the downtown streets in the recent bad weather, had courteously helped two well-dressed ladies to cross the street. The ladies, stated the poem, then raised their veils and revealed the fact that they were colored.

According to Bischoff, when Dr. Dreyer, accompanied by another man, entered, he wished them good morning. But instead of replying Dr. Dreyer lashed him with a small whip. When seen this evening Dr. Dreyer admitted his part in the affair. The man with him, he says, was Dr. Nicholas. Bischoff is a candidate for Commissioner of Social Welfare under the commission form of government.

DEMOCRATS FEE FROM HIS HAN

Wilson Makes Leaders P Dead and Roll Over.

President Wins Easy Victo on Tariff Programme.

Neither House Is Likely Oppose His Demands.

BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIM

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Pre Wilson emerged from the fi week of the special tariff session Congress apparently in a stronger p tion as the active leader of Demo ocracy than at any time since he a sumed the Presidency.

Within the brief space of sev days he had won a victory in t caucus of House Democrats for h free sugar programme; had forme a working agreement with the Dem ocratic leaders of the Senate, which believed will insure general suppo of his tariff programme in that bod and had established precedents of h Presidential co-operations with Co gress which, if successful, are e pected to greatly influence the enti programme of legislation throughou the Wilson administration.

SUSTAINED IN CAUCUS.

At all points where Mr. Wilson's opinions were instrumental in th writing of rates in the new tariff bill the full Democratic membership o the House voted to sustain him t issues by heavy majorities. Hous leaders, who deferred to him in th writing of many of the tariff rate have supported his decisions and suc cessfully rallied party support to h views as the bill has been fough over by the Democratic members. The tariff revision fight admittedly is only begun; but the developments o the last week have convinced part leaders that there are likely to b few changes from the rates favore by the President, and little dissension within Democratic ranks over the general approval of the bill.

WOOL FIGHT IS DUE.

The wool fight will come in the house caucus early this week. While Democratic minority organization forty or more representatives will attempt to upset the President's free wool programme, it is expected that the administration will be sustained by a large majority.

Senate leaders have pledged to the President their support of the sugar and wool provisions as finally acted on in the House.

Senator Myers of Montana, who has been counted on by some of the anti-wool forces as their ally, has informed members of the Finance Committee and has stated publicly that he favors the free wool programme and will uphold the President's course as to this schedule.

The full Democratic membership of the House will resume consideration of the tariff behind closed doors next week.

COURSE OF REPUBLICANS.

Republican members of the House and Means Committee who had a part in preparing the Underwood bill are now working on substitute free and wool schedules.

Alaskan railroad legislation, which is to be the subject of Senate hearings, will be pressed for early action. Senator Pittman, chairman of the Territories Committee, will attempt to have an Alaskan government bill passed through the Senate before tariff revision is taken up.

WORK SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

Fifteen Per cent. of Steel Men Get One Day off, Says Commissioner Neill.

Bureau's Investigations.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Fifteen per cent. of the employees in the iron and steel industry as a whole, and more than 50 per cent. of the blast furnace workers, work seven days a week, is the result of an investigation of the Bureau of Labor disclosed.

Commissioner Neill yesterday made public the third volume of the Bureau's investigation dealing with labor conditions and the relations between employers and workmen.

The report states that since 1910, when the main investigation was made, the normal working day for the majority of steel workers was 12 hours long, with practically 30 per cent. of the entire force regularly working seven days per week, a number of steel companies have been putting into effect various plans by which employees are required to work more than six days per week. Between 40 and 50 per cent. of the employees formerly working seven days per week have been relieved by these arrangements, but 15 per cent. still work every day in the week.

Extensive interviews with the men brought out the fact that in their opinion, the six-day arrangements have not secured to them adequate commensurate with the loss in the day's pay each week.

"The day of enforced rest does not mean a holiday, either on Sunday or any other day on which they may elect to follow workmen generally are given leisure. On any day except Sunday, the workmen say there is nothing for them to do except to sleep all day and go to saloons.

"The proportion of men working seven days a day has been practically unchanged except for two plants which have introduced the eight-hour day. Careful estimates of the [illegible] cent cost of substituting the eight-hour day with a 50 per cent. increase in hourly rates, so as to give the same daily earnings, show that while there were no increase in efficiency, the cost would be only 5.6 per cent. Greater, or 45 cents per ton. In finished products the cost would be 4.2 per cent. greater or between 40 and 42 per ton.

Buckmaster, Captain of England Team, Badly Hurt in Fall Today.

[By Cable and by Federal (Wireless) Overland to The Times.]

LONDON, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] W. H. Buckmaster, the popular captain of England's polo team, received serious injury while playing a polo game at Easton Hall, Grantham. The ground was slippery from recent rains. Buckmaster's pony fell and threw the rider. In the fall Buckmaster tore the ligaments of his left shoulder blade, which was injured in a previous accident in 1911. He was badly hurt by the fall, Buckmaster insisted and has been possible in the polo play as has been possible in the [illegible] weather. This, how-

DEMOCRATS FEED FROM HIS HAND.

Wilson Makes Leaders Play Dead and Roll Over.

President Wins Easy Victory on Tariff Programme.

Neither House Is Likely to Oppose His Demands.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 13.—President Wilson emerged from the first week of the special tariff session of Congress apparently in a stronger position as the active leader of Democracy than at any time since he assumed the Presidency.

Within the brief space of seven days he had won a victory in the course of House Democrats for his free sugar programme; had formed a working agreement with the Democratic leaders of the Senate, which is believed will insure general support of his tariff programme in that body; had established precedents of the Presidential co-operations with Congress which, if successful, are expected to greatly influence the entire programme of legislation throughout the Wilson administration.

SUSTAINED IN CAUCUS.

At all points where Mr. Wilson's decisions were instrumental in the making of rates in the new tariff bill, the full Democratic membership of the House voted to sustain him in action by heavy majorities. House leaders, who deferred to him in the making of many of the tariff rates, have supported his decisions and successfully rallied party support to his views as the bill has been fought out by the Democratic members. The tariff revision fight admittedly is not half over; but the developments of the last week have convinced party leaders that there are likely to be no serious disagreements between the President, and little dissension in the Democratic ranks over the main features of the bill.

WOOL FIGHT IS DUE.

The real fight will come in the Senate early this week. While the Democratic minority organization there or more representatives will attempt to upset the President's free sugar programme, it is expected that the Administration will be sustained by a large majority.

House leaders have pledged to the President their support of the sugar and wool provisions as finally acted on in the House.

Senator Myers of Montana, who has been counted on by some of the anti-wool forces as their ally, has informed members of the Finance Committee and has stated publicly that he favors the free wool provision and will uphold the President's views as to this schedule.

The full Democratic membership of the House will resume consideration of the tariff behind closed doors next week.

SPLIT OF REPUBLICANS.

Leading members of the House Ways and Means Committee who had been in preparing the Underwood bill are now working on substitute Payne wool schedules.

Payne railroad legislation, which is to be the subject of Senate action, will be pressed for early consideration by Senator Pittman, chairman of the Territories Committee, will attempt to have an Alaskan government railroad bill passed through the Senate before the tariff revision is taken up.

WORK SEVEN DAYS A WEEK.

Seventy-five Per cent. of Steel Men Get Day Off, Says Commissioner Neill.

Results of Bureau's Investigations.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON, April 13.—Fifteen per cent. of the employees in the iron and steel industry as a whole, and more than 50 per cent. of the blast furnace workers, work seven days a week, is the result of an investigation of the Bureau of Labor disclosed.

Commissioner Neill yesterday made public the third volume of the report of the investigation dealing with working conditions and the relations between employer and workmen.

The report states that since 1910, when the main investigation was made, the normal working day for the majority of steel workers was twelve hours long, with practically 30 per cent. of the entire force regularly working seven days per week, a number of the companies have been putting into effect various plans by which the majority of their employees are required to work more than six days per week. Between 40 and 50 per cent. of the employees formerly working seven days per week have been relieved by these arrangements, but the majority still work every day in the week.

In submitting the report Commissioner Neill brought out the fact that in spite of the six-day arrangement the hours not secured to them are commensurate with the loss of pay each week.

"The loss of enforced rest does not come on a holiday, either on Sunday or any other day on which the great majority workmen generally are not working. On any day except Sunday workmen say there is no chance to do except to sleep all day because of the exhaustion.

"The number of men working seven days a day has been practically stationary except for two plants which introduced the eight-hour day. Careful estimates of the probable cost of substituting the seven day with a 50 per cent. increase in hourly rates, so as to give the same daily earnings, show that the increase would be only 6.6 cents per ton, or 45 cents per ton. In other products the cost would be 25 per cent. greater or between 25 and 50 per ton.

SENATOR INJURED.

Senator Chamberlain, Captain of England's Polo Team, Badly Hurt in Fall

[Received by Federal (Wireless) and Cable and by Special Messenger to The Times.]

LONDON, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] Senator George E. Chamberlain, captain of England's polo team, was seriously injured while playing a game at Easton Hall, Grantham. The ground was slippery from recent rains and Senator Buckmaster's pony fell with the rider. In the fall Senator Chamberlain tore the ligaments of his right knee, which was the cause of a previous accident in 1911. The knee was hurt by the fall, Buckmaster and has taken part in every game that has been possible in the present bad weather. This, however, made his condition so much worse that he has been reluctantly compelled to obey orders and not play again at all for the present.

CONSULS FEAST ON PROSPECTIVES.

ALSO EAT FINE BANQUET IN HONOR OF THE CANAL.

Wonderful Possibilities Place Heavy Responsibilities on Representatives of Other Nations. Great Steamship Lines to Bring Thousands to the City.

Tremendous responsibilities will rest on the shoulders of the consular corps of Los Angeles after the opening of the Panama Canal, according to the facts presented at the first banquet of the consular representatives of Los Angeles, held at the Alexandria Saturday evening.

There were only eighteen men at the table, but this did not detract from the potentiality of the affair, which was beautifully staged. Around the walls of the room were hung the flags of the different nations represented, their bright and varied colors adding attractiveness to the occasion. The large oval table, with its perfumed fountains, was banked after the fashion of a spring garden filled with tulips, marigolds, jonquils, daffodils, jelly-stalk and other early flowers.

Thomas L. Duque, dean of the consular service, was chairman and introduced Perry Weidner as toastmaster.

"Los Angeles is and will be decidedly on the world's map at the opening of the Panama Canal," Weidner declared. "The expansion of this country means increased trading with the countries and nations here represented tonight. Los Angeles has gone far ahead in the development of its harbor, but it is still a hard matter to convince many foreign business concerns and individuals that such a thing actually exists.

"Just two days ago, in a conversation with a representative of the Hamburg-American line, I learned that that steamship company expects soon to make this a port of regular call. 'We now have 486 ports of call on our list,' he told me and went on to state that Los Angeles today is doing more business than 50 per cent. of these at the present time. The canal to the western hemisphere means a great division of the mercantile business of the world."

Weidner further called attention to what the consular agents can do in assisting their countrymen in keeping out undesirable elements and pointed to the organization of American women which has already planned to take care of the girl and women immigrants who come to this country unaccompanied. "Now is the time to lay the right foundation for our future," he concluded.

Mayor Alexander spoke of the work on the harbor, decried the early wrangles among the commissioners, explained the lack of money to start early in the harbor work and emphatically stated that the harbor will be ready to accommodate vessels of thirty-five-foot draught long before the completion of the canal and the coming of heavy maritime travel. He called upon the Consuls to see that steps are taken even at this early date to prevent the immigrants from massing in the cities, but to take up lands and become tillers of the soil.

C. W. Pendleton, collector of port, discussed receipts from the time he took charge of that office when they totaled only $390,000 against $775,000 in a period of six years. "This will soon run to a million," he declared. Practically all of the consuls spoke briefly of what they are planning to do and are already accomplishing in the line of bringing the best class of their countrymen to the Pacific Coast of America.

Those present at the dinner were the following: Thomas L. Duque, Consul of Panama and Honduras; James Pennie, Consul of Cuba; Perry W. Weidner, Consul of Germany; Manuel Pina y Cuevas, Consul of Mexico Charles White Mortimer, Vice-Consul of Great Britain; Victor Ponet, Vice-Consul of Belgium; F. J. Zeehandelaar, Vice-Consul of the Netherlands; Georg Marencius Ottis, Vice-Consul of Norway; Gottlieb Eckdahl, Vice-Consul of Sweden; Dr. Fernando Carrera, Vice-Consul of Spain; E. J. Louis, Vice-Consul of Peru for San Diego; Louis Sentous, Jr., Consular Agent of France; Giovanni Piuma, Consular Agent of Italy. Guests: Mayor Alexander, Collector of the Port Pendleton, Postmaster Harrison, W. G. Hutchison, president of the Merchants' and Manufacturers' Association; Arthur W. Kinney, president of the Chamber of Commerce.

TRIPLE ALLIANCE PICKS A KING FOR ALBANIA.

[BY CABLE AND A. P. TO THE TIMES.]

VIENNA, April 13.—The Neue Freie Presse, in a semi-official announcement, declares that the Tripple Alliance has agreed upon Prince Wilhelm of Sweden for King of Albania, expecting to secure the ready consent of Russia, as the Princess Maria Pavlovna, wife of Prince Wilhelm, is the daughter of Grand Duke Paul Alexandrovitch of Russia.

With Russia, Germany, Austria and Italy a unit in demanding that the new throne be given to the Swedish Prince, it is believed that France and Great Britain will not withhold their consent and that the Balkan allies and Turkey must fall in line.

Men Welcome Mother's Friend

A Duty that Every Man Owes to Those who Perpetuate the Race.

It is just as important that men should know of progressive methods in advance of motherhood. The suffering, pain and distress incident to child-bearing can be easily avoided by having at hand a bottle of Mother's Friend.

This is a wonderful, penetrating, external application that relieves all tension upon the muscles and enables them to expand without the painful strain upon the ligaments. Thus there is avoided all those nervous spells; the tendency to nausea or morning sickness is counteracted, and a bright, sunny, happy disposition is preserved that reflects wonderfully upon the character and temperament of the little one soon to open its eyes in bewilderment at the joy of his arrival. You can obtain a bottle of "Mother's Friend" at any drug store at $1.00, and it will be the best dollar's worth you ever obtained. It preserves the mother's health, enables her to make a quick and complete recovery, and thus with renewed strength she will eagerly devote herself to the care and attention which mean so much to the welfare of the child. Write to the Bradfield Regulator Co., 129 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for their valuable and instructive book of guidance for expectant mothers. Get a bottle of Mother's Friend to-day.

LOS ANGELES ADVERTISING CLUB

Advertising Advertising

ADVERTISING—What Is It?

By Ernest Ingold, Pres. Advertising Club of L. A.
Assistant to Pres. Los Angeles Investment Co.

"Advertising is salesmanship dressed in seven-league boots. It can be used to sell anything from lottery tickets to Bibles. You can waste it by sending it on a boy's errand or you can make it do the work of an army of clever salesmen."

That's advertising.

Advertising has peopled cities. It has made men go and live where no one ever lived before. It has brought them prosperity and happiness.

Advertising has made the wheels of industry hum where no sound ever was heard. It has made workers where there were none. It has made products where no product was.

Advertising has spread knowledge of the far corners of the country bringing to them settlers, homeseekers, citizens. Los Angeles has proven this.

Good advertising has made people, made reputations. Bad advertising has ruined them. Advertising moulds public opinion. It makes prejudices. It has built ideas into realities. Advertising has swayed the destinies of whole empires.

Advertising has made the printed word, the newspaper and magazine a necessity. It has bridged distances.

In this is advertising a force; salesmanship. It moves for good or evil at the will of the man holding the pencil. It is a force which is today, tomorrow and forever quietly, slowly, surely influencing you and me to look, think and act.

This is advertising.

LIGHT FROM THE EAST ON THE LIVING ISSUES

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] Following editorial comments on topics of the hour are printed in eastern newspapers:

CANNY AMERICAN ANGORA.
MR. GARNER'S COUP.

[New York Herald, April 13:] One of the more recent additions to the membership of the Ways and Means Committee is John M. Garner, hailed at the time of his appointment as a "free trader."

Mr. Garner represents the Fifteenth Texas district which is separated from Mexico by the Rio Grande. On both sides of this border lives and thrives the sturdy Angora goat famed for its long, silken hair.

Angora goat hair is largely used in the manufacture of cloth and is a direct competitor with some grades of wool.

The tariff bill, made by the committee of which Mr. Garner is an honored member, places wool on the free list and gives the Angora goat, canny enough to confine his American residence to the Fifteenth Texas district, a 20 per cent. protection against his brother living just across the Mexican border and a 20 per cent. advantage over his cousin, the American sheep.

THE PEOPLE AND SENATE.
CHANGE METHOD OF ELECTION.

[Washington Post, April 13:] Henceforth United States Senators will be elected by the people. No longer will the retired Governor or judge on the bench be called upon at a moment's notice to accept election at the hands of a Legislature. No longer will there be deadlocks caused by the selection of some really admirable man of whom the people at large had never heard.

A Senatorship is one of the greatest honors within the gift of the people. It is worth fighting for. We are turning more and more toward popular government and since our candidates for the Presidency must now fight for the nomination as well as for election, it is but natural that the members of the Senate should be put to the same test. How it will work out only time and experience can tell.

THE PRICE OF MEAT.
CONSPIRACY IS CHARGED.

[New York World, April 13:] That the prices of meat went soaring up after the western floods and are still maintained is the incontestable fact. The testimony is strong that there was no real scarcity or natural cause for this increase. It was to all appearance an artificial decrease and indicated a deliberate purpose to raise prices on the principles of a general public calamity and under cover of a national misfortune.

Whether or not this was done unlawfully as the result of a conspiracy is a matter to be investigated and if so punishment should follow.

Microbes in Your Scalp

Authorities say that a microbe causes baldness. If you are losing hair try our remedy at our risk.

Professor Unna, of Germany, and Dr. Sabouraud, the great French Dermatologist, claim that a microbe causes baldness, and their theory has been verified by eminent scientists. This microbe destroys the hair follicles, in time causing the scalp pores to close and the scalp to become shiny. Then, it is believed, nothing will revive the growth. If treated before this occurs, baldness may be overcome.

We know of nothing that has given such universal satisfaction in treating the scalp and hair as Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. It has been designed after long study to overcome the cause of falling hair as discovered by Prof. Unna, Dr. Sabouraud and other scalp and hair specialists, and we believe it will do more than anything else can to remove dandruff and stop falling hair; and if any human agency can promote a new growth of hair it will do that, too.

We want you to make us prove it. We will pay for a month's treatment of Rexall "93" Hair Tonic used during a trial, if you will use it according to directions, and are not thoroughly satisfied. When we will do this, you surely should not hesitate to at least try it.

The distinction of having won the varsity letter more times than any other man in the college is held by Talbot T. Pandleton of Lynchburg Springs, W. Va., the captain of the football team during the season of 1911. He has won the honor three times in football and twice in baseball. Pandleton still has another year in the nine, he will beat his own record and thus will have won six varsity letters as it is possible for an undergraduate to obtain there. The only other man now in college to have won the honor in more than one sport is Edward A. Baker of Philadelphia, who has won two football "T's" and one in hockey.

SUNDAY CAPERS OF MILITANT

Hyde Park Suffrage Meet Is Again Disorderly.

London Suffragette Dam Is on the Increase.

Mrs. Pankhurst to Return Jail Upon Recovery.

LONDON, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] While suffragettes made riotous demonstrations in many parts of England today, jubilating over the release of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, the cause of their hysterics was lying weak and too ill even to sit up, in a nursing home where she is still under close watch. It is very likely that several weeks may elapse before she will be considered strong enough to resume serving her sentence of three years' penal imprisonment. It is calculated if the government persists in the present policy of letting starvation proceed to the point where life is threatened, then releasing the prisoner into the care of the nursing institution until health is in part restored and then returning her to jail, Mrs. Pankhurst will still be a state prisoner when death intervenes in the natural course.

SUNDAY MEETING IN RIOT.

The usual Sunday meetings at Hyde Park and Wimbledon Common and Hampstead Heath, were again marked by disorderly scenes. Crowds refused the speakers a hearing and eventually the women were escorted away by mounted and foot police. In the park a crowd of 10,000 persons surrounded the cart which the suffragettes used as a platform. Showers of turnip, orange peel and other missiles fell around the first woman who spoke and, folding her arms, she still faced the crowd in silence. A volley of turnips greeted this defiant action and she was twice struck in the face. Finally mounted police convoyed the cart out of the park, the suffragettes singing and the crowd responding with volleys of turf.

Some women who insisted, walked away and displaying their colors, were roughly treated. The aspect of militancy which is causing most uneasiness to the authorities is the fact that, despite increased vigilance on the part of the police, the authorship of the more serious crimes is seldom detected, the majority of the arrests being for the window breaking obstructions. Even in some of the most flagrant cases of window breaking, the authors have escaped.

DAMAGE ON INCREASE.

Since the campaign of destruction was resumed in January there has been a steady increase in the raiding of pillar boxes, false fire alarms, cutting telegraph and telephone wires, disabling call boxes, the destruction of flower beds, and greenhouses and the burning and cutting up of golf greens and tennis grounds, with minor annoyances such as stoppage of key holes, painting out house numbers and painting suffrage mottoes across doors. POLITICAL TIPS.

The determination of President Wilson to have the tariff severely cut on all items that are supposed to affect the cost of living is well understood, but the effect of these changes upon wages of the working people has not been given any public recognition either the President of Representative Underwood, the assistant tariff architect. The Pittsburgh Gazette Times noted this omission and says: "Both the President and Mr. Underwood are said to be in agreement with the argument that the Democratic party cannot afford to give consideration to the possibility of a reduction in the wages. They believe that the first duty of the party is to reduce the cost of living and that there should be a greater degree of competition with the cheap labor products of Europe. Neither the President nor Mr. Underwood has figured out just what proportion of the needs of American consumers will be supplied from abroad, but experts believe that at least one-third of our trade will thereforth be taken care of by European manufacturers."

The Indianapolis News also hits the tariff question a gentle rap by remarking that "a sudden reduction of 20 per cent. in average salaries would not be a reign of terror." And the News is Democratic and supports the Democratic tariff reduction movement. With tariff reduction and income taxation there is certainly something coming to some people during the next four years.

Mr. Bryan emphasized his democracy the other day by arranging matters so that if he works over time he will have to walk down two flights of stairs to get out of the State Department building. He remained in his office two hours after the usual closing time, and then found an elevator man waiting for him, according to custom. "It's not necessary for you to remain while this Secretary is used after hours," said Mr. Bryan, "and it won't hurt any government official to walk down two flights of stairs."

It is proposed that the tobacco trust shall build a system of good roads across the country. Under the direction of L. B. SUNDAY CAPERS OF MILITANTS.

Hyde Park Suffrage Meeting Is Again Disorderly.

London Suffragette Damage Is on the Increase.

Mrs. Pankhurst to Return to Jail Upon Recovery.

LONDON, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] While suffragettes made militant demonstrations in many parts of England today, jubilating over the release of Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, because of their hysterics was lying sick and too ill even to sit up, in the house where she is still under police watch. It is very likely that several weeks may elapse before she will be considered strong enough to resume serving her sentence of three years' penal imprisonment. It is calculated if the government persists in its present policy of letting starvation proceed to the point where life is threatened, then releasing the prisoner into the care of the nursing profession until health is in part restored and then returning her to jail, Mrs. Pankhurst will still be a state's prisoner when death intervenes in the normal course.

SUNDAY MEETING IN RIOT.

The usual Sunday meetings at Hyde Park and Wimbledon Common and Hampstead Heath, were again marked by disorderly scenes. Crowds refused the speakers a hearing and eventually the women were escorted away by mounted and foot police. In the park crowd of 10,000 persons surrounded the cart which the suffragettes used as a platform. Showers of turf, stones pool and other missiles fell around the first woman who spoke, and, folding her arms, she still faced the crowd in silence. A volley of turf greeted this defiant action and she was twice struck in the face. Finally mounted police convoyed the cart out of the park, the suffragettes singing and the crowd responding with volleys of turf.

Some women who insisted, walked over and displaying their colors, were roughly treated. The aspect of militancy which is causing most uneasiness to the authorities is the fact that, despite increased vigilance on the part of the police, the authorship of the more serious crimes is seldom detected, the majority of the arrests being for the window breaking obstruction. Even in some of the most flagrant cases of window breaking, the culprits have escaped.

DAMAGE ON INCREASE.

Since the campaign of destruction was resumed in January there has been a steady increase in the raiding of letter boxes, false fire alarms, cutting of wires and telephone wires, disfiguring mail boxes, the destruction of summer beds, and greenhouses and glass by burning and cutting up of golf links and tennis grounds, with minor developments such as stoppage of letter boxes, painting out house numbers and painting suffragie mottoes on doors. In twenty-four out of thirty cases of such outrages no arrests have been made at all.

POLITICAL TIPS.

The determination of President Wilson to have the tariff severely cut on items that are supposed to affect the cost of living is well understood, but the effect of these changes upon those of the working people has not been given any public recognition other than the President of Representative Underwood, the assistant tariff framer. The Pittsburgh Gazette has noted this omission and says:

"The President and Mr. Underwood are said to be in agreement in the argument that the Democratic party cannot afford to give consideration to the possibility of a reduction in wages. They believe that the duty of the party is to reduce the cost of living and that there should be a greater degree of competition with the cheap labor products of Europe. The Indianapolis News also hits the tariff question a gentle rap by remarking that "a sudden reduction of rates, in average salaries would mean a reign of terror." And the News is Democratic and supports the Democratic tariff reduction movement. With tariff reduction and income taxation there is certainly something coming to some people during the next four years.

Mr. Bryan emphasized his democracy the other day by arranging to walk part of the way if he works over time and has to walk down two flights of stairs to get out of the State Department building. He remained in his office two hours after the usual closing time and then found an elevator waiting for him, according to the story. "It's not necessary for me to remain while this Secretary is working after hours," said Mr. Bryan, "and it won't hurt any government official to walk down two flights of stairs."

It is proposed that the tobacco growers shall build a system of good roads across the country. Under the leadership of L. B. Bevier of Kansas, the general organizer of the National Tobacco Road Association a bill has been presented to Congress imposing an ad valorem tax of 2 per cent. on tobacco, the same to be used for the building of 11,000 miles of road that will run from ocean to ocean in main lines, with spurs to connect the capitals of each State tra-versed. The road is to be of brick and the minimum width of eighteen feet.

Mr. Parkinson, principal clerk of the United States Senate, is a quitter. He was told by members of the Finance Committee that his $2000 job would be slashed to $1000, he resigned for one. Take your $2000 job and jump off the dock with it." Whereupon Mr. Parkinson packed his goods and chattels and went back to Wisconsin, which he left more than twenty years ago to come to Washington. He was a friend of Senator Vilas and is a Democrat.

The tariff bill is affecting even the poets, though there seems to be little that is poetical in the proposed reduction on wool and sugar. The following is from the New York Sun:

Of tariff surmises the papers are full,
It now seems we'll have both free
sugar and wool—
But then as an offset our incomes they'll tax
And thereby will just take the wool off our backs.

However it's levied, each tax is a charge
That's paid in the end by the people at large.
A charge which the cleverest man cannot shirk—
No scheme that's as yet been invented will work.

Let the people still fancy that there is a way
By which they escape while the other chaps pay;
So in their generation, no doubt, they are wise
Who pull the wool skilfully over our

—George B. Morewood.

Gov. Sulzer has his work laid out before him as far as May 3. When recently invited to review the parade of suffragists on May 3 he replied that he was "working eighteen hours out of the twenty-four, and the work keeps piling up mountains high every day." To which Mrs. Harriet Stanton Blatch, president of the Woman's Political Union, replied that he reviewed the St. Patrick's Day parade on March 17, and that "our most distinguished citizens come out to review even the cart horses of the city." It looks as if the Governor will have to cut out a few minutes on May 3 or he will lose the moral support of the women of New York.

The fiery Gov. Blease of South Carolina has made the statement that he will be the next United States Senator from his State to succeed Senator Edward Smith. Blease will naturally have a number of opponents, among whom it is said will be Mayor Grace of Charleston, who was in the race in 1908 but was defeated by Tillman of "pitchfork" fame. Blease and Tillman have about the same readiness with epithetic language.

James Hamilton Lewis, the new Democratic Senator from Illinois, made a special trip to Springfield to discuss patronage matters with members of the Legislature and Gov. Dunne before he left for Washington.

President Wilson, since going to Washington, has learned what the Chevy Chase Club is, and has therefore withdrawn his curt declination of the offer of honorary membership. He explains that he acted under a misapprehension.

Did Theodore Roosevelt, while President, drink intoxicating liquors, and, if so, to what extent? This question is up before an examiner in Washington who is assisting in preparing the record in the case of Theodore Roosevent against A. W. Newitt, editor of the Iron Ore Age, of Ishpeming, Mich.

Newitt, in the last campaign, charged in his paper that Roosevelt had indulged too frequently in intoxicants. Roosevelt sued for libel, characterizing the story as a malicious falsehood. He employed James H. Pound, a Detroit lawyer, to take charge of his case. The editor retained Oscar Andrews of Cleveland.

Pound and Andrews have been in Washington hearing the testimony of witnesses summoned in behalf of Roosevelt. Gifford Pinchot and other warm personal friends of Roosevelt have appeared before the examiner as "character witnesses." The proceedings, conducted behind closed doors, are being kept secret by agreement. The case will be heard before Judge Flannagan, in Michigan, in May.

Testimony in the case was taken in New York a short time ago. There was the same degree of secrecy. It is said that Silas McBee, editor of the Churchman, was one of those who appeared on behalf of Roosevelt. Dr. McBee was in the party accompanying the lord bishop of London to this city when he visited President Roosevelt at the White House.

It is now hardly worth while to be a traveling representative of the government. The sharp cut in government revenues through the proposed tariff revision has resulted in an order by Secretary McAdoo that hereafter traveling and subsistence expenses of government representatives must not exceed $6.50 a day in New York and Chicago, and $5 in other cities.

President Hedges of the St. Louis Browns has heard the Macedonian cry of Maier and Hogan for help in the pitching department, and offers to send reinforcements. Unfortunately, Mr. Hedges hasn't anything to pass along that looks good to the Venice management.

Doubtful.

FRESNO WILL VOTE WET OR DRY AFTER LONG FIGHT

FRESNO, April 13.—Tomorrow is election day in Fresno and the "wet" and "dry" issues will be settled at the polls by the voters. Mayor, City Trustees, Police Judge and school directors will be elected, although their candidacy has almost been overshadowed by the interest caused by the no-saloon movement. Both sides today claim victory and it is admitted by the leaders of both sides that the result will be close either way, probably not more than 100 or 150 votes.

"Dry" meetings were held in the Courthouse Park this afternoon and in the churches this morning. The saloons were attacked from the pulpits this morning by the ministers and the congregations were urged to vote for both ordinances.

At the city election four years ago Fresno voted "dry" by less than sixty votes. The "dry" ordinance was later vetoed by the late Mayor Dr. Chester Rowell. Since that time hundreds of outsiders have moved into the city and this year the women will have the ballot, so the result of the election now is in the balance.

The Taxpayers League, an organization of about 1000, including every furniture and clothing store in the city and many other merchants besides taxpayers, is conducting the fight here against the anti-saloon organization. The league is confining itself to newspaper advertising and is giving statistics of what prohibition has done for other cities. The league claims that prohibition does not prohibit and that the saloons are replaced by "blind pigs" and resorts which cannot be regulated by the police. The league is for the open saloon with high license and strict police regulation.

The "dry" campaign has been lead by Rev. Irving Bristol, of the Anti-saloon League of California.

The voters of Fresno will be given an opportunity to vote upon a "dry" and a "near-dry" ordinance tomorrow. The first or most drastic ordinance permits druggists and wholesalers to sell liquor in two-gallon jugs. The near-"dry" ordinance permits the sale of liquor as above and in hotels, clubs and grills in one-gallon jugs. The "drys" have split on this issue and one side urges that the people vote on the first ordinance while the others urge a vote for both ordinances.

Mayor A. E. Snow is up for re-election and is being opposed by A. L. Hobbs, a dried fruit man who has announced that he prefers the police regulated saloon to the so-called prohibition. All of the City Trustees are up for re-election with the exception of G. W. Jones. J. D. Statham has no opposition in his ward. Police Judge Briggs is out for re-election and is being opposed by Williard Cram, a candidate of the "drys." The school fight is being waged by the two factions.

Out of the Turmoil.

NORWEGIAN STEAMER LOADED WITH REFUGEES.

SAN PEDRO, April 13. — With passengers sleeping on deck and every berth taken by refugees, the Norwegian steamer Jason, Capt. N. O. Rustad of the Jebsen line, arrived here at daylight this morning from Manzanillo, Mex., via Guaymas and way ports, en route for San Francisco.

Capt. Rustad reports conditions badly unsettled along the West Mexican coast, with railroads and telegraph lines out of commission and roving bands of desperadoes and outlaws infesting the country. In a recent raid on the town of Los Moches, near Guaymas, several business men were killed.

The Jason picked up eighty refugees at Topolobampo and Los Moches, most of whom were landed at Mazatlan. Eighteen refugees were brought through to this port, most of them having been employed on sugar plantations, their destination being New Orleans. Misses Grace Newton and Clara Burr of San Francisco were passengers, having taken passage at Topolobambo. An entire ship's load of refugees could have been picked up at Guaymas, but there was no more room on the Jason.

The Jason brought a general cargo for Los Angeles consignees, including 10,000 cases of fresh tomatoes. Included in the valuable cargo was $200,000 worth of gold and silver bullion and $90,000 worth of precious ores for the Selby smeltera.

When the Jason left the United States cruiser Colorado was in the harbor of Guaymas and the United States steamer Buffalo was at Topolobambo. After discharging several hundred tons of cargo here, the Jason proceeded for San Francisco tonight.

Rare Perfume.

ATTAR OF ROSES FROM BALKANS.

FOUR TONS OF LEAVES NEEDED FOR ONE POUND.

The Flowers Must Be Picked Early in the Morning and Taken Direct to the Stills Without Exposure to the Rays of the Sun or Even to Moisture.

[Avocanda Standard:] Attar of roses is practically an unknown quantity in the United States. It is very expensive, about $15 the ounce, and the average American woman is not willing to pay so much for a perfume. To the woman of the East perfumes are part of her religion. She knows the secrets of using attar and its power. She would rather appear in shabby dress than without the scent which is part of her mystery and charm.

Attar of roses must be used sparingly, for its odor is very rich and lasting. It is worth its weight in gold. Perhaps this is due to the fact that the production of it has been left almost entirely to the Turks. A little of it is produced in India, Persia, Tunis and France, but for home consumption only. All the attar used in Europe and America is exported from Constantinople, says the New York Sun. It is manufactured mainly in the southern slopes of the Balkans in the province of Rumelia, and conveyed to Constantinople, whence it is exported all over the world.

The attar produced in Rumelia is made by distillation from the rosa domascina, a bright red rose, not very full as a flower, which blooms in May and June. Nothing is prettier than those rose farms stretched on the slopes of the Balkans. The rose trees are about six feet in height and are planted in even rows. When they are in bloom the whole farm looks as if it were tipped with tongues of rose-colored flames, which sway softly in the undulating southern breezes.

The rose trees are rather delicate and have to be tended very carefully fro mthe autumn to the time of gathering. When the flowers are in full bloom they are plucked at sunrise, but only in such quantities as can be distilled on the day they are gathered.

A number of stills as a rule stand on rough stone hearths by the side of each other, and if possible close to a brook in the shade of the trees. It does sound a bit like Omar Khayyam, and as a matter of fact the whole composition of the rose distillery taken as a picture is rather Omar Khayyamesque.

The retorts are heated on a wood fire. Formerly, under the Turkish rule, peasants were permitted to fell the amount of wood they needed in the forests without needing to pay for it. Now that they must buy it the price of the perfume has gone up.

The stills hold from twenty-five to fifty pounds of roses, which are covered with double the quantity of water and boiled for about thirty minutes. The distilled liquid is then collected in the bottle that stands at the mouth of the cooling tube and the attar of roses, which seperates from the water, appears on the surface, where it is skimmed with a spoon. The distilled water is used for distillation over and over again until it becomes at last thoroughly saturated with the roses and is sold as rose water, which enters into trade largely at Constantinople. The orientals use it in their cookery and confectionery in great quantities.

The attar must be totally freed from the water and is kept in copper cans tinned both on the inside and outside.

GIRL SUFFERED TERRIBLY

At Regular Intervals—Says Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound completely cured her.

Adrian, Texas.—"I take pleasure in adding my testimonial to the great list and hope that it will be of interest to suffering women. For four years I suffered untold agonies at regular intervals. Such pains and cramps, severe chills and sickness at stomach, then finally hemorrhages until I would be nearly blind. I had five doctors and none of them could do more than relieve me for a time.

"I saw your advertisement in a paper and decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took seven boxes of it and used two bottles of the Sanative Wash, and I am completely cured of my trouble. When I began taking the Compound I only weighed ninety-six pounds and now I weigh one hundred and twenty-six pounds. If anyone wishes to address me in person I will cheerfully answer all letters, as I cannot speak too highly of the Pinkham remedies."—Miss JESSIE MARSH, Adrian, Texas.

Hundreds of such letters expressing gratitude for the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has accomplished are constantly being received, proving the reliability of this grand old remedy.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Many people cannot afford to have weak nerves. It would mean loss of livelihood. To everyone the loss of nervous energy is a serious matter. Every action uses up nervous energy which in health is steadily renewed by the blood.

As soon as the blood, for any reason, loses this power to constantly rebuild the nerves, a nervous breakdown threatens.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic for the blood and their tonic action strengthens weak nerves. They are sold by all druggists, fifty cents per box, six boxes for $2.50 or direct by mail. The booklet, "Diseases of the Nervous System," will be sent free upon request.

WAHL-HENIUS INSTITUTE OF FERMENTOLOGY
Chicago

April 1, 1911.

Mr. Alfred Uihlein
Schlitz Brewing Co.
Milwaukee, Wis.

Dear Sir:

Answering your favor of recent date in regard to the influence of light on the quality of beer, will say that our observations, extending over the last twenty-five years, have convinced us beyond a doubt that exposure of beer to light has a very detrimental influence on its quality generally, but especially upon the flavor of the beer.

We have tested beers repeatedly in this direction placing the bottles into direct sunlight, and testing the same after one, two, three and five minutes exposure, found that the beer with three and five minutes exposure became undrinkable on account of the peculiar odor developed.

The detrimental effect of light upon beer can be successfully counteracted by the employment of brown or dark colored glass bottles, and such bottles are therefore recommendable.

Yours very truly,

RW/B

Extract from letter to Mr. Alfred Uihlein, written by Robert Wahl, President of the Wahl-Henius Institute of Fermentology, Inc., Chicago.

"Beer bottles should be manufactured from reddish-brown glass, inasmuch as same will to a much higher degree than any other kind of glass, minimize the influence of the rays of light on the quality of beer, and will protect the latter against acquiring the disagreeable taste (Sonnengeschmack) due to the chemical action of the light."

"In white and green glass bottles the beer is most affected by the action of the light. Such bottles are, therefore, absolutely inappropriate and should never be employed by brewers." (Signed) Prof. Dr. F. Schonfeld.

From the Illustrated Brewery Encyclopedia, p. 19 (Illustrierte Brauer-Lexikon). Published by Dr. Max Delbrueck, Privy Councillor, Professor at the Royal Agricultural College and Director of the Institute for Fermentology at Berlin. Berlin 1910.

"Bottles of strong glass should be selected. They should never be of colorless glass, inasmuch as through the influence of light the beer will not only take on a disagreeable odor and taste, but will also become turbid." (Lintner.)

Extract from Die Malz und Bierfabrikation. Published by E. Leyser, Director of the Brewing Academy in Augsburg. Tenth Edition. Stuttgart, 1900, page 650.

"The beer in the white glass bottle had taken on disagreeable odor and taste and was absolutely undrinkable. The beer in the dark bottles did not show this peculiar odor and taste." (G. Beck.)

Translation of Extract from Zeitschrift für das gesamte Brauwesen, 1899—page 570.

"It is interesting to note the observation that beer in colorless bottles exposed to diffused light will undergo a change, precipitating a heavy sediment and taking on a disagreeable odor and taste."

Extract from Die Theorie und Praxis der Malzbereitung Bierfabrikation. Published by Director Julius E. Thausing, Leipzig, 1891. Fourth Edition, page 920.

"It is a known fact that sunlight and daylight influence unfavorably the taste and flavor of the beer and care must be exercised in the selection of the bottles."

J. Brand (Zeitschrift für das gesamte Brauwesen, 1908, p. 333).

FOR SALE—

NEW BUNGALOWS IN THE SOUTHWEST.

Our competitors wonder why our homes sell better than theirs.
The reason is easy to find.
We build better homes than they do. Better looking, better constructed, better designed.
We know how to build a home that YOU can make into a home.
We have just finished a group of 5 and 6-room bungalows that represent the best of everything in bungalow construction.
Delightful to look at, delightful to live in.
Come out and look them over. I will be there Saturday and Sunday to open the door for you and tell you the price. After that, I won't need to say anything, because the houses will speak for themselves.
We will make easy terms on these houses. I would not want our competitors to know how easy, but come out and talk it over.
Take Vermont and Georgia car, and get off at Santa Barbara and La Salle avenues.

Secretary of State Declares Gambling More Demoralizing than Drink and Harder to Combat.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

PHILADELPHIA, April 13.—Secretary of State William J. Bryan addressed two large audiences here today on the benefits of religion and the necessity for training the young. At the Bethlehem Presbyterian Church, which is celebrating its fortieth anniversary, he cited his beliefs and incidents in his own life to prove the value of religious training in youth.

"Gambling," declared Mr. Bryan, "is even more demoralizing than drink and harder to defeat.

"In my long career for more than a quarter of a century in active politics, there never has been one day when I thought it necessary to take a drink of alcoholic liquor. In foreign lands I have adhered to the same principle and I have yet to hear a single criticism of my actions either at home or abroad."

WEDDING CAUSES FIRE ALARM.

Salute for Bride and Groom Is Mistaken for Conflagration and Entire Tarrytown Department Responds.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

TARRYTOWN (N. Y.) April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] Edward O. Wiley, who married Miss Elsie Peck at Dumont, N. J., today was the cause of calling out the entire fire department tonight. Wiley and his bride, bound up the river on the night boat were given a salute as they passed Tarrytown by Wiley's friends who burned a great quantity of red fire on the dock. The boat swept by, throwing the searchlight on the fire and the reflection spread over the whole business section giving the appearance of a big fire.

Instantly, there was a rush for the fire alarm box and in a few minutes the entire fire department was dashing to the business section, thinking there was a big fire. When the firemen discovered what was the real cause they said they would give Wiley a warm time when he came home from his honeymoon.

FIRST INDICTMENT OF KIND.

San Francisco Grand Jury Will Send Suggestions to Washington for Improving Bank Laws.

[BY A. P. NIGHT WIRE TO THE TIMES.]

SAN FRANCISCO, April 13.—Following the indictments of three stockbrokers by the Federal grand jury, it is announced today that the findings of the jury in its brokerage inquiry will be sent to Washington, D.C., and a recommendation will be made advocating amendments to existing Federal bank laws.

Better methods for keeping check upon knavery of bank officers will be suggested, and new avenues for scrutiny of the outside activities of bank employees will be outlined.

J. C. Wilson, B. A. Wilbrand and Peter P. Burke, says Federal Prosecutor McNab, are the first stockbrokers ever indicted in the United States on the charge they are now facing, which is conspiracy to aid or abet abstraction of funds from a national depository.

WIPES AWAY AVIATOR'S TEARS.

Wild Man and His Fair Companion Almost Drop into Lake While Going Seventy Miles an Hour.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

HAMMONDSPORT (N. Y.) April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] Nonchalantly sailing above the waters of Lake Kauka at a speed estimated at seventy miles an hour, Mrs. William McCurdy, a young society matron of Rochester, N. Y., noticed that Aviator Francis Woldman was having difficulty in wiping the wind tears from his eyes with his coat sleeve. Without stopping to consider that they were traveling at great speed high in the air, Mrs. McCurdy leaned over and with her handkerchief, wiped the tears from his face.

Unaccustomed to such delicate attentions in midair, Wildman was startled and dropped the control long enough for the flying boat to make a spectacular dip toward the lake. Onlookers thought the maneuver was executed purposely because just before starting out, Mrs. McCurdy had requested that Wildman show her all the exhibition stunts the machine was capable of. On terra firma once more, Mrs. McCurdy was asked how she dared take such a chance.

"Oh, I had not thought of any danger,' she replied. "I knew we were moving at a terrific rate of speed, but as there was no sway or bump to it, I had neither fear nor nervousness."

SIR WILLIAM OSLER ARRIVES.

They are here for a six-weeks' stay, in which they will attend the opening of a new clinic for mental diseases at the Johns Hopkins University, with which he was formerly connected.

Sir William refused to make any statement on the pier and would only talk to the immigration and customs officers. He avoided publicity in every way, his name being omitted from the passenger list.

FIREMAN GRIEVING TO DEATH.

Important Witness in Corning Wreck Investigation Is Ill with Tuberculosis and Is Unable to Testify.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

BINGHAMTON (N. Y.) April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] Fireman Edward J. Lane, who played an important part in the Corning wreck on July 4, is reported dying of tuberculosis at his home in this city and will be unable to testify in the coming Schroeder trial.

Lane is the flagman who was sent back to warn the oncoming train and who burned the fuses which Engineer Schroeder failed to see. An effort was made to shift the blame on his shoulders, although it was evident from the first that Lane was not resible for the wreck and the responsibility on him broke down his health.

Bank of England Sensation Follows Alleged Disappearance of a Responsible Official From London.

LONDON, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] The Bank of England sensation is a topic in financial circles just now. No details of the affair have been made public from official sources, but it is understood an investigation following the disappearance of a responsible official of the bank showed that securities valued at several thousand pounds are missing.

In an authoritative announcement regarding a description of the missing securities an advertisement printed last week concerning bonds that have been lost or stolen, attracted a good deal of notice. This advertisement did not mention the Bank of England.

Thieves Loot Residence.

Enterprising burglars during the early hours of the morning entered the residence of D. J. Ramsey, No. 1525 Western avenue, yesterday, and looted the place. Diamonds and other jewelry valued at approximately $700 were taken. The burglars obtained entrance to the rear door apparently by the aid of a pass key.

Boys Turn Highwaymen.

Three highwaymen of tender years but apparently toughened consciences held up and robbed Roy Kadowaki early yesterday morning at Third street and Beaudry avenue, securing nothing of value but a dollar watch. Kadowaki says they wore knee breeches and apparently were not more than 15 years old, and they carried heavy revolvers and handled them in a very convincing manner.

Knife Thrusts Fatal.

Jose Basurta, No. 727 San Fernando street, was fatally injured yesterday in a cutting affray with Thomas Bresano, when the two men engaged in a knife duel at Ord and San Fernando streets. Patrolman Aubren caught the assailant after a chase of several blocks and he is held in the City Jail awaiting the result of the wounds inflicted on Basurta.

Waiter Mortally Injured.

Mike Suizentich, a waiter in the restaurant at No. 903 East First street, was perhaps fatally injured yesterday by the accidental discharge of his revolver. According to the story told by the witnesses to the shooting Suizentich was exhibiting his revolver to friends in the restaurant under the belief that it was unloaded. The bullet entered the abdomen and the injured man was taken in the ambulance to the Receiving Hospital.

Swallows Nitric Acid.

William Prochaska, No. 666 West Fifty-ninth street, swallowed nitric acid early yesterday morning with the evident purpose of taking his own life. Members of his family learned what he had done and a physician reached the home in time to save him. Inability to secure work is the excuse offered by Prochaska for making the attempt.

Burglars Steal Dinner.

Some person or persons with ravenous appetities visited the residence of Mrs. W. C. Heffelfinger early yesterday morning and denuded the well-stocked ice chest of everything but the ice. Cold chicken, home made pies, everything that goes to make up a well prepared dinner was taken. Mrs. Heffelfinger, in anticipation of visitors over Sunday, had taken every precaution to provide many delicacies, but the thieves took no chances on being mistaken in their selection; they took everything worth taking.

High School Students' Play.

The dramatic class of the Evening High School will present a three-act college comedy at the Polytechnic High School auditorium Friday evening. The play is entitled "Student Days" and was written by a member of the class, Everett T. Mitchell. The students are hard at work under the direction of their teacher, Mrs. Frances Jordan-Wallis, and promise a production that will compare favorably with anything heretofore given in the high schools of the city.

Where Is Russell?

Frank A. Russell, said to be a wealthy Santa Barbara business man, has mysteriously dropped from sight, according to his wife, who came to Los Angeles yesterday and sought the assistance of the police in finding the missing man. Russell had been here several days attending to business transactions. He left the Rosslyn Hotel Friday after telephoning Mrs. Russell of his intention of coming home at once. His automobile, which he kept while in the city at the Winston garage, remains there, and so far as known none of his friends have heard from him.

Cafe Man to Celebrate.

John E. Brink will celebrate his sixteenth wedding anniversary tonight with a dinner to a few friends at Brink's Cafe at which he and his wife will be the hosts. Elaborate table decorations and a sumptuous menu have been arranged. The guests will all be old friends of the couple, including Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Schaffer, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Harrington, Mr. and Mrs. Tom Darmody, Mr. and Mrs. William Stephens, Mrs. Belle Everett and Harold Moore. The affair will also be in the nature of a welcome home to Brink from his recent illness at the hospital. It may also be a farewell dinner to the couple, as the Brinks and Mrs. Everett are planning a European trip late in May.

New York Newspaperman and a Oregon Music Student Surprise Friends by Getting Married.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

NEW YORK BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] Robert McCall Smith, an advertising manager of a technical publication, and Miss Alsora Carter, an Oregon girl, who has been a voice student in the Damrosch Conservatory of Music, surprised their friends today by announcing that they were married Friday in the North Presbyterian Church by the Rev. T. R. J. McKay, pastor of the church.

Mrs. Smith, who has been here with her sister, Miss Florence Carter, is the daughter of L. L. Carter, a mining promoter of Baker City, near Portland. She met Mr. Smith at a dance about eight months ago. They had set the wedding for summer.

"We got to talking the matter over during the first part of last week and decided there was no use in waiting," Mr. Smith said.

PREDICTS WILSON'S DEFEAT.

Helen Keller in Role of a Prophet Declares He Will Be Deserted by His Own Party.

[BY FEDERAL (WIRELESS) LINE TO THE TIMES.]

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE TIMES, April 13.—[Special Dispatch.] "President Wilson is going to make the greatest fight of his life, but he will ultimately be beaten."

This was the prediction today of Helen Keller, the famous blind girl, with regard to President Wilson's administration. Miss Keller said:

"President Wilson is to my mind a great man and a sincere man. He is going to do everything in his power to remedy present conditions, but his party will not stand back of him. Members of it are already falling out on the tariff questions and soon he will be very much alone. The trusts are too powerful for one man to cope with and President Wilson will ultimately be beaten."

What Comes of Manual Arts Teaching.

Edgar Sherer and his fine cabinet work.

This 16-year-old boy, while a student at the Fourteenth-street Intermediate School, constructed the handsome clock, seven feet high, of polished mahogany. He began the work as a part of his regular manual arts course and after he graduated and entered the Los Angeles High School, completed it after school hours. At an expense of $280 his father supplied the works of the clock.

A pleasing demonstration of the results achieved through the teaching of manual arts in the public schools of Los Angeles is to be found in the beautiful cabinet clock illustrated herewith, which was made by Edgar Sherer, a 16-year-old student of the Fourteenth - street Intermediate School.

The clock is seven feet high and is made of polished mahogany, the boy having put three months' time on the piece. The work was done in the lower floor of the school building, which is a half-basement, and during the heavy rains last month the basement was flooded by the water that washed down from the higher portions of the city. Young Sherer made a desperate sprint for the school building to see how his beautiful clock was getting on, in expectation of finding it transformed into a mud scow. He was surprised and delighted to find that the principal of the school had the fine piece of furniture in mind and had rescued it from the basement before it was damaged by the water.

Robert Sherer, father of the boy, who lives at No. 1325 Alvarado terrace, was so well pleased with the work of his son that he expended $280 to have the clock fitted with high-class mechanism and it now stands on the stair-landing in the family home.

Edgar has shown particular talent in his wood-working studies and at the recent exhibit of the schools in the Ebell Club House, was represented by a handsome oak library table that attracted much attention. He is now a student at the Los Angeles High School, having graduated from the intermediate at the close of the last term.

HALLUCINATION RIDES, ROWELS.

Rubber Company's Manager Leaps from Train.

Later Attempts Suicide in Doctor's Office.

Wife Believes He Fancied Financial Troubles.

Leaping headlong from a speeding train and later attempting to cut his throat, Arthur Bernstein, manager of the Goodyear Raincoat Company, No. 324 South Broadway, made two unsuccessful attempts to end his life yesterday.

According to Kansas City dispatches Bernstein said financial difficulties with his firm prompted his plunge from a Chicago and Alto flyer, traveling forty-five miles an hour, near Mt. Leonard, Mo., and the second effort for death in a Mt. Leonard physician's office. Bernstein was on his way to Los Angeles.

Hallucination that his business here was bad, resulting from a nervous breakdown superinduced by overwork, is believed by his wife to have resulted in temporary dementia. She and the couple's two children, the youngest of whom is but 2 months old, live at No. 1035 Lake street, this city.

Business associates of Bernstein's here are in accord with the wife's statement, declaring Bernstein has, while apparently living under some obsession, been able to care for all obligations and that they know of no reason why he should try to end his life unless temporarily deranged.

After leaping from the train through a car window, Bernstein, finding that he was uninjured, jumped to his feet and started to run. Dr. H. E. Tuttle, a Mt. Leonard physician, who saw the wild dive, ran after Bernstein and took him to his office.

Members of the train crew also witnessed the plunge and the train was backed to the scene. Later, when it was ascertained that Bernstein had sustained but trivial lacerations and bruises, the crew continued westward.

Seated in Dr. Tuttle's office, Bernstein drew a knife from his pocket and was in the act of drawing it across his throat when prevented.

Bernstein was later taken to Kansas City by Dr. Tuttle, who had wired on in advance for Dr. M. W. Pickard. Bernstein appeared rational, but he was turned over to Police Alienist Greenman there and confined in the general hospital.

Three weeks ago, when his wife and friends insisted that he was working himself to death, Bernstein acquiesced to their protests and, agreeing to take a rest, left here to visit relatives in St. Louis, one of these being Mrs. S. B. Rosenthal, a sister.

Bernstein had planned to remain longer than he did, and his wife here was not aware of the fact that he had left St. Louis Saturday night en route West, although his letters to her indicated that he was worrying more away from his business than when he was at home.

Much affected when the first news of her husband's act was received, Mrs. Bernstein finally was calmed by the assurance that he had not been seriously injured in either attempt. She immediately made arrangements to have his sister in St. Louis go to him at once and she also wired the Chief of Police at Kansas City to determine whether she should go there or not.

Bernstein, who is 45 years old, came here from Boston eight years ago and apparently has been prospering. His wife has been of much assistance to him in his business.

CAUSED BY ILLNESS.

Traveling Man Takes Deadly Poison, Following in the Footsteps of His Father.

John S. Klever, believed to be a traveling man from San Francisco, was found dead in bed at the Baltimore Hotel early yesterday morning, death having resulted from cyanide of potassium. From letters and notes written by Klever shortly prior to his death, there appears to be no doubt that he took the poison with fatal intent.

Klever was a man apparently about 35 years old and had been in ill-health for some years. In one of the notes addressed to a friend he referred to the alleged fact that his father had gone the same way and intimated that he could see no reason for not following. He is believed to have worked for M. H. Levy, No. 436 O'Farrell street, San Francisco.

MUM'S MOTTO O' MERE MAN.

HAVE TO HUSH HEREAFTER AS TO HER HABILIMENTS.

For the Most Radical of All the Season's Styles Sartorial Is Not for Her, but Him—What Is It?—He Won't Tell, but Blushes Give Him Away—Read and Learn.

S-s-t! Mlle. La Fem. as G. Ade might say, you have a come-back! While the less-deadly of the species is writing and raving and cartooning you for following the dictatles of fashion and wondering where you are going to stop this side of the fig leaf or the mode a la Hottentot, peep in his shirt box.

If he's a sartorial Columbus, wearing padless coats and tights, a green Fedora with a bow and feather at the back, eyeletless boots and the rest of the regalia—after the English—you'll find his Waterloo in his shirt box.

Lock the door that he—hubby or brother—may not find you. Then, steeling yourself for possible shock, gingerly lift one of the shirts in his newest pile. If you have heart disease don't do it. But if you want a retort direct for his next assault on your—wel', whatever, those gorgeous draperies are that you wear—take out the shirt and shake it.

No, you haven't got into his drawerful of athletic underwear. Don't scream or imagine his summer undergarments have become mixed up with his outside shirts.

The summer of 1913 has brought a revolution in men's dress. His shirt and his—well, anyway, they are all in one piece this year. He won't wear an undershirt at all, if he's stylish. For the very latest dictate in masculine attire is a union of shirt—not undershirt, but the one he attaches his collar to—and those knee-long, summery things that—oh, well, you know.

The Last.

FINAL BATTLE FOR A HARBOR.

Supreme Court Here for the Tidelands Rehearing.

Pending Decision Momentous to City's Future.

Victory Means Great Port; Lawyers Confident.

The so-called tidelands suit, whose decision in its possible effect on the future of Los Angeles is the most important that has ever pended in the State Court of last resort, will come up tomorrow for reargument before the State Supreme Court, sitting in bank in the Bullard Block.

This action, on the outcome of which the future of the harbor hangs, is to determine the right of the State to alienate the tidelands and to place title in the city for use in connection with harbor development as outlined, work upon which is already under way.

If the Supreme Court decides in favor of the city, it means that all legal obstacles to the progress of the work at the inner harbor will be eliminated; that the thousands of dollars already spent there will not be wasted; that leases may be entered upon; that the Southern Pacific and other adverse claimants will be compelled to get out of the way of the steam shovel and dredge, and that the effort to make of the inner harbor a close corporation will have come to naught.

On the other hand, should the court find against the city, the harbor will receive a blow from which it can never recover. It will mean that, except for the purpose of opening approaches to navigable waters, the city will lose its jurisdiction over the tidelands; municipal work must stop and such development as there may be in the inner harbor left to private corporations.

IMPORTANT POINTS.

The case will be argued for the city by James A. Anderson, special counsel. The Supreme Court decision, which may come down within sixty days, will, it is expected, settle many interesting and intricate questions of riparian rights, and for all time determine the status of the city in relation to its tidelands; a controversy which goes back to the deeding of submerged lands to the State by the United States and the passage of a law allowing the sale of such submerged lands for agricultural purposes.

It can hardly be successfully contended that the Wilmington tidelands are suitable for agriculture unless the raising of crabs and mud-turtles may be construed to be a farmer's prerogative.

A constitutional provision prohibits the sale of tidelands within two miles of an incorporated city, but Wilmington in 1887 was disincorporated, and this, it is contended, disposes of the argument except in the case of one

SPEND MILLIONS TO GIVE AWAY OUR COSTLY WATER?

Assistant Chief Engineer of the Los Angeles Aqueduct Points Out the Absurd Lack of Business Sense in the Proposed Graham High Line—Only Enough for the City Itself After Twenty Years.

BY J. B. LIPPINCOTT.

SHALL Los Angeles spend $34,500,000 to obtain a water supply for its future requirements, and then spend $5,200,000 on a high-line to get rid of it?

This prime purpose in the minds of those who planned the Los Angeles aqueduct was to obtain an aqueduct water supply for the city for a long time to come. It was known that the available water supply of this vicinity, both surface and underground, was being used beneficially and that it was becoming rapidly more difficult to get water in large quantities from any remote outside source.

For this reason the city built as large an aqueduct as it could afford to pay for to bring the waters of Owens River to the city. We built a conduit with a capacity of 20,000 miners' inches, or 260,000,000 gallons per day. We now expect a population of 1,000,000 people inside of ten years —possibly 1,500,000 in the city and its immediate suburbs.

This prospective growth of the city would be no more remarkable than its past development. Twenty years is not a long time in the development of a city. The per capita consumption of water in this city of yards and lawns, with its semi-arid climate, amounts in summer to about 160 gallons per day.

On this ratio the aqueduct supply will care for 1,620,000 people; on the basis of 140 gallons per capita per day it would care for 1,360,000 people. We are therefore justified in saying that, exclusive of seepage and return waters flowing underground from higher levels to the city, which would occur in case the waters were used in the San Fernando Valley, the aqueduct supply is only adequate to care for twenty or twenty-five years.

AMAZING SPECTACLE.

Despite this we have the remarkable spectacle of the city being officially asked to spend $5,200,000 on a high-line to take one-half of this essential supply to remote districts beyong the probable future boundaries of teh city, to points where there will be no possible seepage or return waters that the city can utilize.

This expenditure of $2,500,000 immediately proposed and $2,700,000 more in two or three years is probably but the start in this expense. This is only for a trunk line. If the city gets the $5,200,000 tied up in a trunk line, and the prospective consumer sees the city so easy in its financial investments will they not next insist on the city building the branch lines also? In this event the city with this investment would be in a position where it can be forced to expend millions more. If the city adopts a policy of building to districts thirty-five miles away why should it not build to other districts?

The seepage waters that the city will use in building the high-line are important in supplying a region between Los Angeles and the sea. The argument in favor of the high-line is that a very high price will be received for the water. The Board of Public Service does not have the power to fix these rates. They are subject to review by the State Railway Commission. The city in selling its surplus water outside of its boundaries will be allowed on its investment the same as any other public utility and no more.

EIGHT INJURED IN STREET COLLISIONS.

AS A result of two street collisions yesterday eight persons were injured, an automobile was wrecked, a buggy nearly demolished and a Pacific Electric car considerably battered. None of the victims was fatally hurt.

Two women and two men were more or less seriously hurt in a collision between a street car and a buggy at Sixteenth street and Central avenue. Miss Mary Evergreen was badly cut about the right eye and her sister much bruised when they were thrown from the buggy. James Evergreen was hurt in the chest and a friend, Nick Pasiopoolos, was cut and bruised about the arms. The buggy was partly wrecked.

According to Evergreen, who lives with his sisters at No. 1627 West Pico street, he was driving south on Central avenue and attempted to turn east at Sixteenth street, being struck by a north-bound Central-avenue car. The police ambulance responded to a fast call, but the injured men and women declined to go to the hospital, saying they would be cared for at home.

M. N. Pekich, a contractor living at No. 149 North Main street, was injured about the head and shoulders and his automobile was wrecked when struck by a San Pedro street car at Ord and San Fernando streets. The injured man was taken to the Receiving Hospital where he was given emergency treatment.

Three friends were with Pekich in the machine at the time of the accident, but all escaped with slight injuries. The automobile was going east on Ord street and was struck by a southbound car. J. L. Harrison, conductor, and Lee Barker, motorman of the car, said immediately after the accident that the automobile was running at a high rate of speed and that the driver made little if any effort to avoid the collision. The fender of the car was torn off and the steps broken by the impact of the heavy machine.

Imperishable Stone.

ENDURING LOVE VICTOR OVER SORDID TRAGEDY.

Sorrow eased not by law's punishments.

Mrs. Jacob A. Pressman, widow of a victim of the Nelson gang of bandits, placing flowers at the foot of the costly monument erected to the memory of her husband. It was unveiled and dedicated in the Home of Peace Cemetery yesterday.

A PEACEFUL end, strangely at variance with its violent beginning, was written yesterday afternoon to the tragic story of J. A. Pressman, the merchant who was slain in his store, by the Nelson gang of bandits, July 8, 1911. A costly monument, erected to his memory by the widow, was consecrated at the Home of Peace Cemetery.

Mrs. Pressman and her son and daughter, Norman and Miss Lilian Pressman, and about fifty friends were present at the exercises. While the sorrowful, flower-laden gathering assembled at the grave, two men, Joe Nelson and Frank Stevens, convicted of the shocking crime, lay behind prison bars, the former for life, in San Quentin. Arthur Anderson, accused of complicity in the murder, is yet to stand trial.

Rabbi Myers read the First Psalm and part of the ninetieth in Hebrew; offered prayers both in Hebrew and in English and spoke briefly.

"We come here to honor the memory of our brother," he said. "This monument, erected here by his devoted widow, is evidence of her love and dear remembrance. While the cold stone endures, it will plead that our brother be not forgotten. While it is fitting and altogether lovely that this stone should be fixed here and the white lilies and the red roses brought, and laid tenderly on the grave, the memory of him would have lived without them."

Pressman was one of the victims of a gang of robbers whose methods resembled those of the notorious "car-barn bandits" of Chicago. He was alone in his store when he was shot, and died at the Receiving Hospital without making a statement.

The shooting was a mystery until Thaddeus McGrath, who, with Nelson, was connected with the crime by the finding of a revolver in a vacant lot near the store, turned State's evidence. Stevens, who had been rooming with Nelson, was arrested in San Diego. Anderson, who was suspected of being a member of the gang, was arrested after he answered a decoy letter purporting to come from Anderson. Nelson received a life sentence; Stevens, fifteen years. Anderson's trial has been continued several times on the representation that he was suffering from tuberculosis and unable to go into court.

McGrath said that he, Stevens and Anderson waited on the outside while Nelson went inside Pressman's store and asked for change for $10. Nelson fired when Pressman indicated that he might be reaching for a revolver.

Detectives Ritch, Roberts, Cowan, Roberds and Sayles handled the case, with assistance from the San Diego police.

No. 1176.

LETTER BOX IS HOODOO OF ALLEGED DEFAULTER.

LOCK BOX NO. 1176 at the local postoffice is now the center of interest in the case of Joseph W. Allen, under arrest here charged with embezzling $7000 from a Canadian (Tex.) bank. Detectives are watching the box night and day with the eagerness and expectancy that a cat eyes a rat hole, but up to last night no one had called for the five letters and one magazine inside of it. The key to No. 1176 is held by Mrs. F. S. Fountain who, as Miss Grace Needham, knew the banker in the Texas town and to whom he is accused of sending several thousand dollars of the alleged stolen funds, unadvised of her marriage in this city.

The pivot of a man's destiny sometimes turns on a little thing. It was so with Allen. With him it was box No. 1176 that changed the course of his life. He has reason to remember the figures 1176.

In the three months that the woman was in Los Angeles "P. O. Box No. 1176" was the only address that she gave him. His ardent letters alighted there and rested until she came for them. And the letters with the money all went there, too, he says.

When Allen was on the way to Los Angeles to see the young woman he sent her a telegram addressed to the letter box. When she failed to keep her appointment to meet him at the train he went to the postoffice and hunted up the box. He waited there for a long time in the hope that she might come.

Allen accuses box No. 1176 with betraying him into the hands of the law. As soon as he reached his hotel he wrote a letter to the young woman with the reddish-brown curls and sent it to the same old number. That night government officers came for him. How did they know that he was at the United States Hotel? He reasoned it all out, but not before he sent the letter written on the hotel stationery.

At the jail yesterday Allen said he wished that he had never heard of the combination of figures.

"I feel just like I had been pulled through that little letter-box," he said. "In fact, she did drag me through that 4x4-inch opening, and I surely did get skinned."

ELEPHANT AFFINITIES.

Boys with Circus Aspirations Prevented by Police from Joining Mystic Order of Mahouts.

The lure of the circus, the irresistible call of the tinseled world within whose tented walls the commonplace, workaday world of parents and schools and daily tasks pale into forgetfulness, proved too strong for Charles Crane and Eugene Le Roy, Los Angeles school boys. Two dust-begrimed youngsters, very tired and very hungry, but with the spirit of the wanderlust still strong within their eager bosoms, early yesterday morning crawled from precarious perches on the rods of a freight train at Fullerton—twenty-four miles on the rods equal 125 miles on the cushions any day—and the boys thought they were at San Diego.

Not that San Diego held out any unusual attractions; they would just as soon have gone to Kalamazoo; but the circus was going to San Diego, hence their overpowering desire to reach the latter city. Any boy can mind his parents and go to school, but few are the lucky ones who are offered a position carrying water to the elephants, at least so these boys thought. The circus train which carried the elephants and lions and tigers and the rest of the show people out of Los Angeles late Saturday night, also carried the youthful recruits on the iron rods beneath the swaying cars.

Now as luck would have it, the hungry urchins applied for something to eat at the residence of William French in Fullerton. It was a coincidence also that French happens to be the town marshal and to this fact is due the return of the wanderers to Los Angeles. French brought them to the probation office at Central Police Station where the two boys, aged 13 and 11, respectively, told their story.

Meanwhile Dr. Henry Crane, No. 731 East Twenty-fifth street, and the parents of Le Roy, who live at No. 625 East Twenty-ninth street, were besieging the police in an effort to get trace of two children who had been given permission to attend the circus.

TEACHING MANY THINGS NEEDED.

Plan Neighborhood Schools for Each Locality.

Work Carries Learning Where'e It's Adaptable.

Domestic Duties Taught to Old and Young.

"Neighborhood schools," the latest word in educational development, are about to become a recognized part of the public school system of this city. They are not a mere mushroom growth, however. Already there is a highly-developed organization of this kind, the outcome of tentative beginnings, at the Castellar-street school.

Others, on a lesser scale, are at Hostetler-street, Alpine-street, Macy-street, Utah-street and Seventh street schools, and new ones are to be established at Hewitt-street, Amelia, Ann and First-street schools, along similar lines. At Torrance, in the future, it is quite likely the school may become another Gary, with vocational features, and at San Pedro the practical work along lines of shipbuilding, commerce and navigation will be expanded.

What is a neighborhood school? Just what its name implies. It is intended to conserve neighborhood interests and supply neighborhood wants from educational, social and economic standpoints; in short, to touch neighborhood needs at all points.

FILLS THE BILL.

If a home-like schol is needed in one of the poorer foreign quarters, then the one at Castelar street fills the bill. Here pupils may make the family clothing in the sewing-rooms, articles of furniture for the home in the sloyd room and rugs on the big looms; they may wash and iron the family clothing in the laundry, mend their own or the family shoes on the lasts and press their clothing in the work-room; they may take baths and cut each other's hair; they may play in the gymnasium and on the well-equipped playgrounds, and where there is no mother at home to tend the babies, the little ones may be left in the day nursery, where the older girls learn the feeding and care of infants.

The children are fed at the penny luncheon at noon, for which the girls of the domestic science classes have made the bread, and at which feast any little hungry waif or stray of the neighborhood is welcome. If some one in the family is ill, a nurse visits the home, and where there is hunger and want, girls of the domestic science classes may cook and furnish food to the poor of the neighborhood, provided this is done without expense to the school department.

But this is not all. In the continuation school, after hours, and in the evening school, adults may learn English and Spanish, bookkeeping and stenography, cooking and sewing and millinery. Many are the mothers who come to the continuation school in the afternoon, leaving their babies in the nursery to be cared for, while they study better methods of cooking, sewing and home sanitation. The teachers at Castellar tell the writer that the afternoon continuation class in the sewing-room is like an old-fashioned sewing circle.

USEFUL TO ALL.

Individual instances of the usefulness of the neighborhood school are found in the cases of the two bakers at Castelar, who work all night at their trade, and study at school in the afternoon, bending their heads over their books with the youngsters; in the cases of the three girls who are taking such studies as will help them to become nurses, spending their spare time at the Children's Hospital near by, and in the class of girls who are learning the feeding and care of infants in the day nursery, and the class that is studying home-making and home decoration by means of miniature doll houses, built and furnished by the sloyd classes, and provided with wall paper, curtains and rugs, table garnishings, etc., made by the girls.

At Hostetter-street, woodwork laundry, cooking, weaving, basketry and sewing are given, and the children make, wash, iron and mend the family clothing, and weave rugs and make articles of furniture for the home, in all cases furnishing the supplies. At Alpine-street, the girls manage a model cottage and from their training the teachers report many improvements in neighborhood homes.

So successful have these schools been that the school department is preparing to expand the work in several new directions.

TRADE FEATURES.

At Macy-street trade school, new trade school features will be added—printing, binding, plumbing, etc. Already girls are taught to be launderesses, housemaids, cooks and milliners, and boys to be carpenters. At Seventh-street, children make baskets, are taught something of poultry culture—which they practice at home—and cultivate vegetable gardens to sell, or to supply to the homes. They also have flower gardens in which flowers for trade may later be cultivated.

At Hewitt, Amelia, Ann and First-street schools, it is aimed to establish work similar to that at Castelar, suiting the work of the school to the age, size and life of the child, and introducing such creative features for the benefit of the neighborhood as seem to be needed—gymnasium, playground, motion pictures, concerts and lectures.

In close touch with the neighborhood school is the evening social center, and this work is growing and will be expanded by the Board of Education, as neighborhoods require, in order to give communities the full benefit of the school plants.

SUIT DISMISSED.

VISALIA, April 13. — Sudden end came to the action of a $40,000 damage suit against the Southern Pacific Railroad Company yesterday when J. H. Thompson, the plaintiff, asked that the action be dismissed. Statement as to the nature of the settlement was refused by both attorneys for the company and for Thompson. Thompson was injured in Dinuba in July of last year when he was run down by a freight train while attempting to drive his auto over a grade crossing south of the Dinuba city limits. Thompson claimed that the cars, which were being backed into Dinuba, carried no lights, that no brakeman was on duty on the train and that no signal was sounded for the crossing.

pective consumers will not avail themselves of this law? It is claimed that these waters may be withdrawn when the city needs them. No legal authority has been exhibited to sustain this statement. I don't believe it can be done. The past experience of the city is to the contrary. If it were legally possible what could be more unjust or unkind than to take water away from a community that had had the use and benefit of it for twenty years? It would mean the destruction of homes and orchards.

Water that is sold on a plan of distribution that contemplates its removal is largely shorn of its value; anyone who uses it does so at his peril. The expected development will be retarded, and the rapidity with which the water may be sold greatly lessened.

The plan proposed by the engineers who have studied this subject is:

First—That the waters should only be put on lands contiguous to the city, which will become a part of the city.

Second—When the water is once put on the land, that it will never be necessary to take it away.

Third—That about one-third of the water sold outside the city should be so placed that it will be returned to the city underground, and be available for resale between the city and the sea.

Fourth—That the district outside the city should pay for their own distributing system.

The people in the San Fernando Valley are willing to take this water and pay a reasonable price for it on this basis; the rate to be fixed by the legal authority. They are willing to join the city or not as the city may elect.

The only bond for water distribution that should be voted is for the trunk line from San Fernando to the city via Franklin Canyon, marked No. 3 on the ballot.

VERNON BOXING CROWD ENGAGE IN RUMPUS ON CAR.

Five Men Taken to the Hospital and One Is Held on Suspicion. Argument Starts Over the Weight of One of the Fighters Matched for the Next Contest.

It was touch and go with a crowd of boxing fans coming home by street car from the Vernon training camps yesterday. Some one objected to what another said, and a knife was drawn. Before the affair was settled, half a dozen persons were slashed, including the conductor, and one man was placed under arrest.

The car was in full motion when the fight started, revolving around L. Connelly, No. 1214 East First street, Jesse Jaco, First and Los Angeles streets, and Oliver Jaco, Sawtelle. No one would admit who drew the knife, but the dispute started about the ability of one of the fighters of the next match, to make the weight required, and when argument was presented the debater slashed his opponent across the wrist. It was Connelly who got one of the slashes.

The two Jacos were in the fracas when Conductor George Corby came running from the rear, thinking his motorman was in trouble. He arrived in time to get a gash down his neck.

Corby, Connelly, the Jacos and W. Calhoon were all brought to the Receiving Hospital to have their wounds treated. Connelly was held on a charge of suspicion.

or two patents which were filed subsequently. It is with particular reference to these isolated instances that the Supreme Court desires further enlightenment, but in the great majority of the cases it is the opinion of lawyers that the decision will retain the tidelands to the city.

WHAT IS INVOLVED.

The suits involve at least 2000 acres of the inner harbor. The first intimation of future trouble over the tidelands was manifested eighteen years ago when T. E. Gibbon, then attorney for the Los Angeles Terminal Railway, was notified by a "squatter" that his company must not build its dock because the protestant had a patent for the tidelands. Gibbon investigated and formed the conclusion that this and similar patents were void. The dock was built.

Four years ago, when a member of the Harbor Commission, Gibbon secured the passage of a resolution asking Council for an appropriation of $5000 to begin quo farranto proceedings for a judicial determination of tideland ownership. James Anderson was retained as special counsel and Atty.-Gen. Webb assisted in the conduct of the case, which was tried before Judge Bordwell, and resulted in a complete vindication of the city's contentions.

The case was appealed by the parties at interest, chief of whom are the Bannings and the Southern Pacific, and was finally argued before the Supreme Court. Before a decision was handed down a reargument was granted on some points, the clarity of which did not satisfy the court, and it is this re-argument which comes on tomorrow for a hearing.

The land involved is estimated to be worth at least $10,000,000 and to embrace upwards of 1400 acres of tidelands actually available for inner harbor development and including two-thirds of all the inner harbor frontage. Should the city lose the case it will remain in undisputed possession of only forty-seven acres and a few thousand feet of frontage.

There is said to be a case directly in point emanating in Florida, and decided by the Supreme Court of the United States, in which the court ruled that navigable waters could not be alienated by the State. The waters of the inner harbor are navigable, and for these and other reasons well founded in law the attorneys in charge of the case for the city anticipate a decision which will forever strike the shackles from the inner harbor development.

Chief Justice Beatty and his associates arrived in the city yesterday for the April term of eight days. Today will be occupied with the submission of motions and the making of orders.

BELATED CELEBRATION.

Jefferson Club Will Make Merry Because Woodrow Wilson Was Elected to the Presidency.

The Jefferson Club which has quarters in the Germain building is, as its name might indicate, a Democratic organization. Members have been in fairly good spirits since November when the Bourbons tasted the sweets of victory for the first time in sixteen years, and a celebration of the victory has ben postponed until tonight which is the birt. day of Thomas Jefferson, the patron saint of Democracy.

President Clark says the celebration will have variety and contir ity. It will be in the nature of a high jinks at which various forms of entertainment will have plabe. The Jefferson Club has the largest membership of any club in Los Angeles and included in its roll are men of talent. This talent will be called on for a number of things this evening but President Clark refused to divulge the details.

A peculiarity of this political club is that it never indorses a member for political office and any man who endeavors to use his membership for personal aggrandizement is expelled without a hearing.

BRITONS AT LONG BEACH.

Fifteen thousand English-born people now resident in this vicinity will picnic at Long Beach on Empire Day, which is May 24. There will be free bands, free bathing and free refreshments, not to mention free speaking. The matter is in the hands of various fraternal lodges of Los Angeles and Pasadena. John Topham is chairman of the Programme Committee.

WERE CHRIST CITY'S MAYOR

Los Angeles Would Not B as It Is, Says Pastor.

No Graft, Gambling, Liquo or Social Evil.

Dr. Locke Hits Hard at Sin and Low Wages.

If Christ were Mayor of Los An- geles, Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher told a crowded congregation at Temple Baptist Church last night, things would be different. Vice would be absolutely banished. There would be no saloons and no liquor traffic of any kind. There would be no gambling bridge whist for money nor any other variety of gambling. There would be no social evil. There would be no political graft nor corruption. There would be no raised bottoms in the strawberry boxes, no mislabeling of canned goods; "for," said the pastor, "the coming of the Kingdom means the banishment from trade of every form of fraud and chicanery.

"It means the conduct of a city's government in harmony with the principles of truth and righteousness and love and joy. There is not a man or woman but what believes that if Christ reigned in Los Angeles, absolutely reigned, there would not be the sins and sorrows, trials and troubles, heartaches and misunderstandings so prevalent in our city today. The rule of Christ in Los Angeles would mean the banishment of vice and the exaltation of virtue. It would mean the destruction of all forces that make for misery and sorrow, and the exaltation of all things that make for joy and happiness. The coming of the kingdom means that more and more Christ's will for humanity shall become the rule of government in city and State and nation.

"Personally I believe that the kingdom of God shall some day be fully established on earth, that right in this regenerated world of ours we will see the ultimate victory of Jesus Christ over all the forces of evil.

"The kingdom is already begun on earth, but it has not yet been fully consummated. The gradual development and establishment of the kingdom is a much slower process that some of us have ever thought it ought to be. Much of the tardiness of the kingdom is due to the sinful indifference and disobedience of the children of the kingdom in doing their part to hasten its coming. On the other hand many of the processes of its full establishment must by the very nature of things be slow.

"What do we mean when we pray for the coming of the kingdom?

"If we really mean this prayer when we offer it, then it signifies first of all that we will seek to establish God's kingdom of peace, joy and righteousness in our own hearts. Our first and supreme purpose will be to be so filled with the spirit of Christ that in our own individual lives we will be a monarchy with Jesus Christ as king.

"It means that we will test everything in life by the principles of the kingdom. We will ask how this thing we think or say or do or enjoy will claim for the coming of the kingdom. In other words, we will seek to have all life's experiences add to the sum total of human goodness and peace and love and joy. We will put aside all artificial distinctions and measurements and judge everything by this one fundamental fact. To be concrete, nobody denies that the prayer meeting is sacred, but why should we think the political meeting secular? The work of the church is held to be sacred, but is not the work of the city and the government of the nation just as sacred? Is it sacred to sit in church on Sunday to hear and sing, and then secular to go to a political meeting next week and put forth every possible effort to get decent men to office? If our spiritual life is for hastening the coming of the kingdom of God, then it is just as sacred as our church life."

"Is it right for the proprietors of great business to grind their employees down to the starvation wages, and then make large gifts to charity? It is preposterous! True charity begins at home. Such givers will not be recognised by Christ.

"There is much that passes for charity, today, which is only a horrid caricature of generosity, and is a pathetic and ostentatious exhibition of vanity—pure and simple. Men who give to be seen of men, get no reward in Heaven, and nothing but ridicule from men.

"It is better to have our names written in grateful human hearts than carried upon memorials of granite which our own money has purchased. Any man can have a massive mausoleum and a conspicuous obelisk if he pays for it himself, but those memorials are as enduring as eternity which consists of cozy homes filled with contented parents and happy children.

"Whether the present condition is a permanent one or not, it is certain that many women and girls today are compelled to earn their own living, and often care for others dependent upon them. There is a living wage and a starvation wage, for women as well as for men.

"It is a notorious and disgraceful fact that many women and girls are compelled in apartment stores and factories, to work for wages that are insufficient to procure the necessities, not to speak of the comforts of life.

"Driven to dire extremities by poverty and necessity a woman finds that her virtues, the most precious thing in the world to a woman, is a "realizable asset," and in desperation she tragically departs from the path of purity. An unreformed woman who is closely related to this fearful social infamy gives it as her deliberate opinion that not one woman in 10,000 voluntarily goes astray."

DR TILROE.
BOYLE HEIGHTS M. E. CHURCH.
THE MAIN BUSINESS OF LIFE IS EVOLUTION, OR GROWTH TOWARD GOD AND AWAY FROM SIN.

"The Enormity of Sin," from the text, "Sin no more," was the subject of Dr. W. E. Tilroe's sermon at the Boyle Heights Methodist Episcopal Church yesterday morning. He said in part:

"The enormity of sin is seen in its real consequences. For the sins of his youth this man had paid in thirty-eight years of helplessness and distress. He had gone without the comfort of wife and children. He was without friends, not having one even to put him into the pool. He was evidently poor for wealth and paralysis rarely meet. Should he sin again there was yet a worse thing coming.

"Surely it is no small matter that has such sorrows in its train. Possibly the trouble of the world is more its wickedness than anything else. Who knows? A change of administration, better social conditions, wider culture, of greater equality of wealth and opportunity, may not do as much for us as just being good. Who knows?

"The enormity of sin is seen in the precautions against it. The command of God goes forth to hinder it. It is duty that we sin no more. It is guilt that we have sinned at all. It is a fearful looking for of judgment that we are not forgiven. The goodness of God endeavors to correct it. 'Behold thou art made whole.' The hand of the Almighty is with us for peace and health and strength. Sin no more.

"The enormity of sin is seen in the open war upon it. When men were thinking of cure for the body Jesus was intent upon the cure of souls. That a man was paralyzed for half a lifetime was bad. That he had sinned and might sin again was infinitely worse and the thing to think of. Miracles were evangelistic as to their main business. The rage of good men over their temporal benefits is akin to the idolatry that reverences Nature rather than Nature's God. The paralytic breaking through the roof needed forgiveness before healing.

"The multitude thought they were starving for loaves and fishes. The real famine was for the bread of life. The divinity of Jesus Christ as a doctrine or a philosophy might be negligible. That it is God's right hand against sin it is omnipotent. The conquest of sin is not the main business of life.

"The main business of life is evolution or growth toward God. Nevertheless the first business of life is the reckoning with sin. That it is capable of making all life a wreck is but another exhibit of its enormity. There is safety nowhere except sin is made an outlaw. Truly it is only fools who make a mock at sin. It is wisdom always to sin no more."

TRINITY-METHODIST CHURCH.
THOSE WHO PRAY SINCERELY KNOW THAT THEIR PRAYERS ARE IMPERFECT.

The subject of a helpful sermon by Dr. James C. Morris, associate pastor of Trinity-Methodist Church in Temple B'nain' Brith yesterday morning was "The Fatherhood of God." He said in part:

"Those who pray sincerely are ever conscious that their prayers are imperfect and unsatisfactory. The disciples felt this, and once when they came upon Jesus in his prayers they cried out, 'Lord, teach us to pray.' His answer was, 'When ye pray say, Our Father, who art in Heaven.' The lesson is that the secret of prayer is the realization of the Fatherhood of God.

"It is interesting to study His use of the word 'Father' in relation to God. Sometimes He said, 'The Father,' by which He indicated His relation to every living thing—the universal work of His hand, in creating which 'God saw that it was good.'

"Again He says, 'My Father.' This was on His boyish lips, and it was nearly the last word He spoke on the cross. It represents the intimate and eternal personal relation which bound Him to Jehovah.

"Again He says, 'Our Father.' In this expression are two thoughts: The community between Him and His disciples. After His resurrection Jesus said to Magdalene, 'Go to my brethren and say unto them, I ascend unto My Father and your Father; and to My God and your God.'"

FIRST UNITED BRETHREN.
WHOLE STRUGGLE OF BELIEF CENTERS AROUND THE IDENTITY OF CHRIST.

Dr. John Albert Eby of the First United Brethren Church preached last night on the topic "What I Think of Jesus Christ," basing his remarks upon Matthews XIV:15: "But who say ye that I am?" He said in part:

"This was a question put to his disciples by Jesus in a way that an immediate answer seemed demanded. There are those among us today who dismiss such questions of theological belief as if they were an unnecessary and fruitless dispute between men of different views.

"But it seemed to be a question of vital importance for so frequently that very question was up for discussion. With John the Baptist, it was a grave problem, with Nicodemus, with the woman at the well, with his neighbors at Nazareth and even frequently with His disciples His personal claims and His personal identity were grave questions of the utmost importance.

"And so it is today. The whole struggle of theological belief and doctrine wages around this one big problem. Who is this man of Galilee? And upon the answer to that question of religious truth the whole of the future seems to depend. It was such a direct question. No evasion was possible, and no dodging of this question is possible today. The older I grow the more I study men's lives and this big question the more I am convinced that it is the very mainspring of religion and of the highest religious life and ideals.

"After more than thirty years of religious life, study and observation I have come to a clear and firm conviction on a few articles of confession. I have shifted my position some on some points but in regard to Jesus Christ, I am firmly rooted and grounded in these things.

"I have a firm belief that Jesus is God. He is more than divine. He is divinity itself. There are a thousand arguments that might be offered in proof of it. I have failed in these years to find one against it that would hold water.

"I believe Him to be the only Savior of the race. One of the reasons why some men do not accept His deity is because when that is accepted then more must follow. Once Christ is Lord and God, then the soul feels its guilt. Then worship is demanded.

"Then I believe that Jesus can prepare the future. There is none else who has ever made the claim to do it."

REV. W. LEON TUCKER.
CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH.
THOUGH HUMAN RESOURCES FAIL, THE TRUE BELIEVER YET REJOICES.

The subject of Rev. W. Leon Tucker's sermon at the Calvary Baptist Church yesterday morning was "Failture, Yet Fulness." He said in part:

"In the little prophecy of Habakkuk we have a graphic and accurate description of the devastation of war. The Chaldean army had left the land stripped and the prophet looks about and sees that the fig tree shall not blossom, that there is no fruit on the vines, the olive trees have failed of their fatness, the fields yield no bread, the flocks are cut off from the fold and there are no herds left in the stall. The invading army has left nothing but waste and want in its wake.

"It is a national calamity, but here stands the patriot-prophet to lift up the courage of his people; he cries aloud: 'Yet will I rejoice in the Lord, I will joy in the God of my salvation.'

"O there is marvelous beauty in this little word yet. When everything material is gone and earthly sources have failed and human resources have come to an end, the true believer in the midst of it all can cry, 'Yet will I rejoice in the God of my salvation.' It doesn't require so many things about us to make us happy, but someone within us. The Christian's happiness does not come from something he sees, but from someone he knows. True happiness does not come from the place of our dwelling but from the person indwelling.

"There is such a thing as enjoying fulness in the presence of failure. It is better to know the joy of God than some joy of the sod. There is no crisis that can separate us from Christ and though we be separated from all things beneath and around, eternal things remain. Oh, that many broken, robbed and ruined lives may cry, 'Yet will I rejoice in the God of my salvation.'"

FIRST PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH.
HOME IS THE CENTER AND SOURCE OF INFLUENCES THAT SHAPE THE WORLD.

The subject of yesterday morning's sermon by Dr. Campbell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church was "Jesus and the Man in the Tombs." The text was taken from Mark v-19. "Go home to thy friends and tell them how great things the Lord hath done for thee." He said in part:

"The man to whom Jesus addressed these words had become the most feared person in the community. He was unfit to associate with his friends and was the wild man of the mountains and dwelt among the tombs. Oftentimes he had been captured by bands of men and chained to keep him from terrorizing the community, but he had escaped them repeatedly.

"Jesus looking upon him with compassion commanded the devils to depart from him and the word of His power had broken the bonds that kept the man in slavery and he sat by the wayside calm and in his right mind. The man was sent first to his home after he had been made whole.

"Jesus recognized that the home is the center and source of the influences that shape the world. It is there that God established the altar upon which the incense of purity and right living is offered and through this offering God purposes to redeem the world from the power of sin that cursed the man among the tombs and that today is holding men in bondage. Jesus sent the man to that center of influence from which the world, the nation, the state and community gathers the forces that either preserve and build up or destroy the life of the people.

"When Jesus had spoken peace and gentleness into the life of the man it was His first command that the home should first receive the benefit of this precious gift."

DR. CARTER.
FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH.
ONE'S FIRST DUTY IS TO SERVE HIS OWN GENERATION IN THE PRESENT.

"This Is the Time and This Is the Place" was the topic of Dr. C. M. Carter's sermon at the First Baptist Church yesterday morning. It was taken from the text, "David, after he had served his own generation, by the will of God fell on sleep." Dr. Carter said in part:

"One's first duty is to serve his own generation. This means in the present time. Now is always the best time for doing things. Now is always a crisis time. Hanging on the wall of the Assembly Hall at the great Missionary Conference, Edinburgh, was this motto: 'This is the only generation that I can reach with the gospel.' We are not to dream vaguely of a more favorable time for work. Today is God's time.

"We are to work also in the present place. When God sees the time has come to move you he will move you.

"It is our business also to work cheerfully at the present task, no matter how humble nor how hard. Paul worked just as faithfully among the depraved, ignorant Praetorian Guard as he did among the distinguished of his Jewish contemporaries or the Roman government.

"It is the Christian's business to do the best he can with the present light. We cannot walk today in the light of tomorrow. We are to do today's duty with the best light we have now. The electrical inventions of the next few years will doubtless be marvelous, but the practical business men are using the present inventions to the utmost. The wise Christian is the one who does present duty to the best of his ability with the wisdom that he now has. This practical doing of duty brings added wisdom for added duties.

"It is our business also to do the best we can with our present equipment and ability. Of course, we are to develop our powers to the utmost. But the wise Christian is the one who serves his own generation with enthusiasm, at the present time, in the place where God has now put him, in the task immediately at hand, with the best light of today, and with the most skillful use of his present equipment.

"It is a law of God that the one who serves his own generation serves all generations."

DR. MORRIS H. TURK.
FIRST CONGREGATIONAL.
CHRIST PERFORMED MIRACLES NOT FOR GLORY, BUT FOR LOVE OF MANKIND.

Rev. Morris H. Turk, Ph. D., delivered a sermon on "The Supreme Miracle" yesterday morning in the First Congregational Church. He said in part:

"In the words of Jesus as recorded in St. Luke VIII, 46th verse, "Someone touched me, for I perceive that power hath gone from me," is the central fact in all the ministry of Jesus.

"There came into the world the power of personality which has never been explained and can never be understood. Jesus Christ, son of man, son of God, forever beyond the classification of men's minds, forever beyond explanation in terms of human history, stands apart—the one matchless life, forever unexplained, forever the mystery, and of all the miracles which have come into this world of ours this one miracle of the personality of Jesus Christ is supreme. He is beyond our control, beyond our thought, utterly beyond the nature of all men's minds. He stands unparalleled and unapproached, the one supreme figure above all mankind. It is in view of the fact that Christ himself is the one great miracle that we are to understand His miracles.

"We have been living in a day when men have been trying to explain and to understand all the supernatural from the standpoint of the natural. We need not disparage the tremendous service which men of science are rendering the world, but the man of science is the last man of all the world to discuss the immortality or miracle. Yet there have been those who have sought to explain the personal miracle by relating it to that which was beneath. In other words, we have taken the miracles, whether of Christ or of others, and have sought to interpret them from the standpoint of the natural order, and consequently if by any means we can possibly comprehend and measure.

"The miracles of Jesus, did they violate the natural order? Did they supercede this ordinary force with which the scientist is accustomed to deal? That is not the important question. The important question is concerning the doer of the deed—the personality that wrought the miracle, the one that brought to pass that supernatural event which changed and subordinated the natural event. In other words, the miracles of Jesus are not to be referred to the natural order. They are to be referred to the personality of Jesus Christ Himself and in no other way can they be adequately understood. In no other way can we measure their significance.

"The miracles of Jesus are never to be understood in terms of the magical and wonderful; they do not constitute in themselves the authority of Jesus. Believing as I do that every miracle recorded in the four gospels is a true miracle and was actually performed by our Lord and had a supernatural content that all the scientists in the world cannot explain, nevertheless, if perchance you cannot bring yourself to believe that our Lord wrought this great wonder of transforming the water into wine—I hold that He did, but if He did not—has He not given to the great world of men the water of life which is eternally springing in every soul that drinks.

"Christ Himself always interpreted His miracles not as acts of magic or of wonder, but as deeds at love's behest. Our Lord was many times tempted to perform a miracle which added no moral content save to demonstrate His supernatural power. His entire life with its miraculous power is devoted absolutely to the ministry for men's needs.

"Christ had this marvelous power. He saved it not for Himself, but gave it utterly for love's sake, and he who has power of fame or of fortune, of genius or capacity to serve, if he is the friend of our Lord, there will issue also from his life the same holy saving ministry and he will take his place with the Master in this great spiritual task of saving the world to the love and service of our Lord."

WOMAN UPTURNS SALARY EATERS.

MISSES HUSBAND'S PAY CHECK; TRAILS GAMBLERS.

Locates Head of the House at Eldorado Club and Notifies Police, Who Find Game in Progress—Alleged Neglect Is Cause of Raid, Which Nets Twenty Men.

The police raid on the alleged poker game in the Germain building late Saturday night, wherein twenty men were hustled off to the Central Police Station, came about through the failure of one of the players to properly provide for his wife and family before risking his earnings in the seductive game of "draw," according to the statements of the wife. The woman learned of the alleged poker game and that her husband was one of those participating and straightway notified the police that the game was on.

Mrs. G. A. Toombs, No. 163) West Fifty-first street, according to her story yesterday, had longed endeavored to persuade her husband of the folly of losing his weekly wages at the Eldorado Club, but to no avail. Face to face with the necessity of taking drastic action if she was to break him of the habit, and not desiring to cause his arrest for alleged failure to support her, she at last decided to appeal to the Chief of Police. She was told that the police would work in conjunction with her.

Saturday night she called her husband on the telephone and found that he was at the club. A few minutes later she notified the police and the raid followed. The alleged poker players are released on bail, varying from $100 to $200.

THE OLD STORY.

A New York policeman received $25,000 for not informing on his superiors. Silence gets more golden all of the time.

POSTPONING REST.

It is strange that men should always wait until they are dead before seeking the healing of the earth. It is good to lie down in the grass while one may still respond to nature's heart beat.

THE NEW ORDER.

The move for a newer and larger Chinatown built along up-to-date lines is a good one. American Chinese are determined to keep up with the progress now being manifested in their native land.

QUITE UNFAIR.

A Sunday-school teacher at Porterville has been sent to the County Jail for 180 days for carrying a bottle of liquor in his boot-tops in a dry town. Merchants have no business selling boots in a prohibition district.

SOMETHING TO WATCH.

A fire originated at Yuma in a pile of rubbish and for a while the whole business district was threatened. Carelessness in this respect is likely to prove a disastrous extravagance. Order and cleanliness are the best insurance against fire.

EARNING IT.

It has been said that reputation is what men think of you, and character is what God knows you are. The Democrats have always had the reputation of being the unwashed. Now that they have closed the baths in the Senate Chamber it is clear that they came by their good name honestly.

THE FUTURIST WOMAN.

We have heard of her, and England actually seems to threaten her, but we are standing pat by the old woman and are not worried over what the future may bring forth. They talked that way yesteryear, but the woman of today is a peach who spanks her baby exactly as of yore, excepting that she uses a eucalyptus branch instead of a peach-tree switch. The futurist woman will have a little daughter to watch the pies and the bread in the oven until she can slip around to the polls and vote.

STATES' RIGHTS.

President Wilson admits that California has a right to pass its alien bill and he expresses the hope that it will not be in conflict with the Japanese treaty. We also trust it will not be in conflict with the fine strawberries and vegetables which our alien brethren bring us, not to speak of the fish. Of course there is nothing to prevent these excellent gardeners from leasing land, and it is a fact that many ranchers prefer to take a good cash rent from the clever little brown man than to do their own farming. They can then live in Los Angeles on clear profits. A lot of them are doing it.

IT NEVER WAS.

That virtue is not a question of wages, but of home influence, was suggested Saturday to a Chicago audience by a public speaker. This is good doctrine for two reasons. In the first place, it is true that the pay of women and their moral delinquency have very little to do with each other. Sensational exposures of immorality usually come from directions where money could not possibly be a consideration. The world had more prostitutes when there was almost no wage system. More women work today than ever before in the world's history and there are fewer professionally immoral women now than ever before. The second important fact in such doctrine is that the question of better wages for women is purely economic and should be treated as such without any regard to morality. It is a problem of business and not of sentiment. It is that the laborer is worthy of her hire and not that men should pay her so much for being good that she has no excuse for being anything else. This would be neither sound business nor good morals.

STICKING TO THINGS.

Robert Yard, the New York publisher who is now visiting in Southern California, was once acting managing editor of the New York Sun. While on the job he was approached by a country youth who was ambitious to be a reporter. Yard dismissed him rather abruptly and was much surprised when the youngster showed up a week later and insisted that he had been thinking it over and had decided that the Sun was the one paper in the world for him. Yard heard him out and led him to the door in gloomy silence, but decided not to throw him downstairs. This time the boy stayed away two days and then came back. Yard was writing a letter when the importuning youngster got by the office boy and stood silently at his desk. Yard wrote three letters, and they were long ones, before he looked up. Then the boy said: "I have been thinking a great deal about you lately and I have decided that you would now be the city editor of a country weekly if other editors had treated you as you are treating me." Yard again rose in silence and this time he led the boy to the city editor. "This is our new reporter," he told the man on the desk. "What's his name," the city editor inquired. "I don't know," said Yard, "but if he knows as much about reporting as he does about getting a job he is the man we want." There is, of course, a time and place for everything, and we warn the ambitious youth who may read this against trying the same thing on us.

BONDS AND TAXPAYERS.

Many citizens forget that bonds are promises to pay, mortgaging their own property, and that pay day always comes. If the city of Los Angeles keeps on piling bond issue on bond issue, one after another, at the rate it has followed for the past five or six years, the result must bring distress to all property owners, large or small. More than one city has been ruined by such a policy. It will not do to vote tomorrow as if the issuing of a bond were the end of it. Neither will it do to vote as if it were of no consequence to the man or woman of little or no property. What injures one will injure all. If any concern is driven out of business all its employees and their families—and their grocers and bakers and milkmen and so on—will suffer. If the city is crippled and set back by loss of credit, who of us can escape the evil consequences? If a rich man loses his property by reason of blighting, killing taxes, his poor neighbor will suffer just as much. An overweight of debt and taxes will, as a matter of fact, be more likely to crush the little fellow who is trying to keep up payments on his home or his lot than the big fellow with many resources.

A prudent man must come to the conclusion that Los Angeles would be madly reckless and would betray the spirit of the wild plunger to vote for all the bond issues totaling $17,600,000, to be submitted tomorrow. That is a monstrous sum of money to be lightly appropriated in one day for the average run of office holders to spend; it is an enormous load to shoulder all at once. The Times cannot believe that our citizens will be so crazy as to do it.

Go where you will, talk with people in any part of the city or of any station in life, and you will hear complaints of the high cost of living or high taxes. It goes without saying that high taxes heighten the cost of everything from rent to ham and eggs. The proposed bond issues would at once add 20 per cent. to the city taxes, and there is no knowing where it would stop. The Graham "high-line" scheme, alone, would eat up $10,000,000 of the city's money eventually—and there never would be enough income from the investment to pay the interest, to say nothing of the principal. The city's taxpayers would have to pay this ten millions with their own good money, sooner or later—a grinding tax. To vote $6,500,000 for power bonds in order to build a parallel distributing system when such a system, complete, effective and down to date, is available on easy and profitable terms—this would be throwing money to the birds.

The Times suggests that voters ask themselves this question: Is there a private business house or corporation on earth that would spend $10,000,000 for a non-profit-paying pipe line to benefit somebody else, when it was already up to its ears in debt? Or would it pay out six millions for an electric power system that was really not needed and destroy the one equally as good in its front yard? Wicked, indefensible waste, both of these propositions, and waste that would come out of the pockets of us all, wage earner as well as employer!

THREE YEARS' RESPITE.

The present duty on raw sugar above seventy-five degrees polariscope is 95-100 of 1 cent per pound, and for each additional degree 35-1000 of 1 cent per pound. Refined sugars pay a duty of 1 9-10 cents per pound, or double the duty paid on raw sugars. If the American Sugar Refineries Company can secure free sugar they can sell refined sugar for 1 cent per pound below the present price and make the same profits as now, drive beet sugar out of the field, and then advance the price of cane sugar, for as refiners they have no competitor and in the nature of things are not likely to have any.

President Wilson favors free sugar. He is urged to accept a measure providing for free sugar at the end of three years, and in the meantime allowing the duty of 1 cent per pound to stand. This, it is urged, would give the cane and beet sugar growers of the United States an opportunity to "adjust" themselves to free sugar. They would "adjust" themselves as did the sagacious dog who, seeing preparations being made for kicking him downstairs, got up and with a basso profundo growl walked majestically out.

The beet growers could "adjust" themselves by planting corn, or potatoes, or alfalfa, instead of beets, and the beet sugar factories could be changed into creameries and canneries. The cane growers could plant cotton, and the cane crushing and boiling establishments could be changed into factories where pure imported olive oil could be made from cotton seed.

Why not give the wool growers also a chance to "adjust" themselves by continuing the present duty for three years? That would give the sheep men an opportunity to drive a part of their flocks into Mexico, where land and labor, as well as revolutions, are cheap, and afford them time and a chance to make mutton of the other part. Cheap mutton would reduce the cost of living in the cities.

When the three years were up we would be drawing our wool supplies from the Argentine, and our sugar supplies from the West Indies, and Central and South America, and Germany and Russia, and the $70,000,000 annually which foreign sugar and wool now contribute to the United States treasury would go into the pockets of kindly Germans, and needy Russians, and the lordly planters of the Caribbean Islands,

And only man is vile."

Why not give other industries than sugar a three-years' lease of life? Instead of cutting down our lemon orchards, peaches or apples might be planted between the lemon trees, and three years' crops might be taken from the latter before they were cut down.

There is to be no cut in the duty on wines, but that will not help California vineyardists if it is to be made a penitentiary offense to crush grapes and ferment their juice.

A three-years' respite from tariff for revenue only that would work destruction of our varied manufacturing industries would give a million or more of our operatives a chance to "adjust" themselves to new conditions of toil. Some of them would follow their present employers to plants that would be removed to Canada, or Mexico, or Europe. Others could engage in growing radishes and onions—there is still a tariff on onions—and still others could, as was done in 1893, take to the highways and commandeer the hen roosts.

And maybe in three years the people would all draw a sober breath and restore to power the party and the protective policy under which we have prospered for twenty years.

[From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.]

PHILIPPINE INDEPENDENCE.

Congressman Jones of Virginia, chairman of the Committee on Insular Affairs, has introduced in Congress "a bill to establish a qualified independent government for the Philippines, and to fix the date when such qualified independence shall become absolute and complete.

The bill abolishes the existing government of the Philippines and grants them immediately the right to legislate, reserving the right to the President and to Congress to veto any law their Legislature may pass. The bill confers upon the Congress of the proposed Philippine republic the power to borrow money, to regulate commerce with foreign nations, to constitute judicial tribunals and to "exercise all other rights of sovereignty," with the limitation that until July 4, 1921, it shall not have the power to declare war, or commission privateers, or make treaties with foreign powers without the consent of the United States. The President and Supreme Court justices are, until 1921, to be appointed by the President of the United States. During these eight years "the United States guarantee to the Philippines their independence, and shall protect them against invasion and, on application of the Congress thereof, against domestic violence."

On July 4, 1921, the Philippine republic is "to become an absolute sovereignty in foreign as well as domestic affairs."

Without discussing the question as to whether under the treaty with Spain by which we acquired the Philippines we have the right to shirk our responsibilities and divest ourselves of them, it may well be asked why should we be so eager to be rid of them?

There has been a deal of misinformation disseminated concerning these islands. It has been repeatedly stated that they were an enormous bill of expense to us, and that we gained no trade advantages whatever from our possession of them. The facts, as stated by Congressman Olmstead of Pennsylvania, are exactly to the contrary:

"The Philippines are very rich possessions. If Germany or Japan or any other foreign nation possessed them, they would never let them go. So much of the territory of Japan is mountainous, barren, and difficult that, industrious and enterprising as they are, the Japanese have been able to bring under cultivation only a very small proportion of its total area. There are more than three times as many acres of rich, fat soil lying uncultivated and untouched in the Philippine Islands as are now cultivated in Japan. Japan supports a population of 40,000,000. The Philippines could as easily support 100,000,000 people. Japanese imports and exports increased from $12,000,000 in 1868 to more than $407,000,000 in 1908. The imports and exports of the Philippine Islands increased from $25,479,922 in 1899 to $104,864,816 in 1912. The imports of the Philippines from the United States increased from $1,150,613 in 1899 to $20,604,155 in 1912; and the exports to the United States from $3,540,894 in 1899 to $16,716,956 in 1911, and still larger figures for 1912."

The soil of the Philippines is exceedingly fertile. Prof. Charles V. Piper, who has spent much time there, says: "The Philippines are probably the most fertile tropical islands in the world. They are certainly far richer in this respect than Java, which has long been heralded as the richest tropical island."

Less than 5 per cent. of these rich lands are in actual cultivation. In agricultural development, in mining for gold and copper, in utilizing vast forests of hardwoods there is an inviting field in the Philippines. They are our largest purchasers of cotton goods. During the nine months ending September 30, 1912, they bought 59,654,872 yards of manufactures of cotton. They exported in 1912 copra of the value of $16,500,000. There are 60,000,000 acres of public lands there untouched.

It has been stated that millions of money were expended for the government of the Philippines. As a matter of fact the appropriations for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1913, were $109,966.

UNCLE WALT.

The Post Philosopher.

I wonder if the postman knows how he distributes joys and woes with every trip he makes? He plods along from door to door, makes one heart glad, another sore, and ties of friendship breaks. He brings a grist of urgent duns to those distressed and sad-eyed ones whose tailors business mean; he trudges to the poet's home and brings him a rejected pome from haughty magazine. Oh, all there is of grief and wrath he scatters as he takes his path along the village street; and heartaches, troubles, and despair, and things that change to white the hair, attend his toiling feet. And all there is of hope and bliss, the plighted vow, the written kiss, he carries as he wends; the letter from a roaming boy, that fills a mother's heart with joy, the greetings from old friends. The rapture of the glowing bride, the requiem of those who died, he carries in his pack; the whole long tale of human things to every village door he brings as he pursues his track. I wonder if the postman dreams of all the futile hopes and schemes he carries as he walks? Of all the yearnings and the fears, of all the torture and the tears, the solaces and shocks?

AMERICAN BUSINESS IS ENCOURAGING.

BY WALTER J. BALLARD.

It speaks well for the quantity and quality of our resources as a nation, and our energy, ability and national spirit, that in spite of the political turmoil around us there are so many evidences of encouragement in American business.

Our exports as a whole are increasing at the rate of over $1,000,000 each working day. Their total value for the eight months ended February was $1,697,626,156, a gain of $211,000,000 over the preceding similar period, and of $285,000,000 over the similar period before that.

Here are the figures issued by the statistical division of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce:

Eight months ended February.	Exports.
1913	$1,697,626,156
1912	1,486,692,306
1911	1,412,919,883

Without waiting for the coming tariff reductions and eliminations there is also a $200,000,000 increase in our imports in the eight months ended February of this year over the 1912 similar period.

Here are the figures:

Eight months ended February.	Imports.
1913	$1,246,053,931
1912	1,046,283,054
1911	1,015,736,127

Of the $200,000,000 import increase $130,000,000 was in free-of-duty imports and $70,000,000 in dutiable imports.

The total of our foreign trade increase this eight months was:

Imports	200,000,000
Total eight months' increase.	$411,000,000

There is a wealth of business encouragement in those figures, especially as our import increase is mainly for raw materials used in our factories and the export increases consist almost entirely of high-wages factory products.

Take exports of iron and steel manufactures, for instance. For the twenty-eight days of February their value was $30,700,000, or an average of considerably more than $1,000,000 a day, Sundays and holidays included. Then note their value for the eight months ended February, 1913, as compared with the eight months ended February, 1903, only ten years previously:

manufactures	$198,310,227	$ 62,922,173
Increase		135,388,054
Agricultural implements	25,813,688	10,471,911
Increase		15,341,777
Automobiles	17,835,964	663,223
Increase		17,172,741
Cycles	739,643	1,253,343
Total exports	$243,699,522	$75,313,655
Total increase		$168,385,867

Export increases occurred this eight months chiefly in iron pipes and fittings, tools, castings, firearms, metal-working machinery, automobiles, agricultural implements and machinery, printing presses, pumps and pumping machinery, sewing machines, cash registers, safes, locomotives, stationary engines, shoe machinery, typewriters, stoves and ranges, barn iron, steel wire rods, nails and spikes, iron sheets and plates, steel sheets and plates, tin plates, wire, hoops, band and scroll iron, steel rails, billets, ingots and blooms, and structural iron and steel—all high-wages-paying exports.

Recent railroad equipment orders—another good sign of encouraging American business:

Texas Railway, 15,000 tons steel rails.

Louisville and Nashville, 30,000 tons steel rails.

Road not named, 45,000 tons steel rails.

Southern Railway, 5000 tons; Seaboard Air Line, 1800 tons; Grand Trunk, 3000 tons; Buffalo and Rochester, 1000 tons; International and Great Northern (Texas) 1000 tons.

New York, New Haven and Hartford has given a first order for $2,000,000 worth of multiple unit motors, multiple unit trailers, electric locomotives, steam road engines, steam switching engines, steel dining cars, locomotives (167,) steel vestibule coaches, steel postal cars and steel baggage cars.

The Baltimore and Ohio has ordered 1500 freight cars and the Louisville and Nashville 700 steel underframes.

The Southern Pacific will put out orders for $11,000,000 worth of new equipment as soon as the various railroad commissions authorize the issue of $10,120,000 equipment bonds.

The Santa Fe has ordered $500,000 worth of new motive power and is about to order $1,500,000 worth of new passenger equipment.

On April 1 our money in circulation totaled $3,339,898,947.

On April 1 our "cash in treasury" at Washington amounted to $1,963,065,269, after decreasing in March our public debt by $8,300,000.

Natural History of the Bible.

[Indianapolis News:] Plants, animals and birds of the Bible have been made the subject of a special exhibition in the natural history department of the British Museum. Among the striking bits of information contained in this work are the following: The common fowl is not mentioned in the Old Testament, and was probably introduced into Palestine after the Roman conquest. The "unicorn" of the Old Testament was probably the Syrian aurochs, now extinct. That the "behemoth" was not the hippopotamus is believed probable because of the fact that there is no record of the latter animal in Syria or Palestine in historical times. The "tares" of the Bible were darnel grasses, whose seeds are poisonous; the "rose" was probably the narcissus, while the "lily" was the poppy anemone.

A Beautiful City.

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—[To the Editor Times:] Your editorial, "For a Beautiful City" is excellent and timely, but I fear your time was wasted writing it and mine also in writing this, unless some one with more esthetical ideas than our city fathers possess has the power and inclination to get busy in the beautifying line. Your remarks against an elevated railroad in this city are good, but not half emphatic enough. Any one who has lived in New York or Chicago can tell you of the hideousness of the "L"—how it darkens the streets, racks the nerves of the people beneath it and soon outgrows its usefulness, to say nothing of the drippings of oil and grease again from the same. An underground road is the only lasting solution of the traffic question.

And now a new idea just strikes me. Why not put the automobiles underground? There never should be an auto seen in our crowded business streets between Tenth street on the south and the Plaza on the north, endangering the lives of pedestrians, blocking up the curbs, getting in the way of the cars and people, getting in and off from the cars. Let them have a subway all their own, with slope or elevators in the big corner buildings to bring the owners to the surface, and let them fly along down underground at the rate of two miles a minute and smash and kill each other all they like. The undertakers ought to favor this scheme and lobby it through the Legislature at auto speed.

When the promotors of the "City Beautiful" really settle down to work, let us hope they will first terrace and beautify the bed and banks of the Los Angeles River and give the new comer a pleasanter impression when he rolls in on the big overland. Then let them give their attention to the vacant lots and the unpaved streets which could be so vastly improved if the street cleaning department only knew the use of the rake which puts the finishing touches on all the roadways of a rich man's place. Attention to some of these eyesores would improve our town so much and make us all more proud of our great city—Los Angeles!

LOS ANGELES, April 12.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The people of Los Angeles, especially the newly annexed districts, view with alarm the great expenditures and issues of bonds on the part of the city government. Our taxes have increased rapidly with practically no benefit to us that we would like to see some scheme to reduce expenses rather than to increase them. By leasing the distributing systems of the electrical companies or selling the power outright to them Los Angeles would immediately develop an income. We are aware of what this income would amount to, and that it would reduce taxes. Voting bonds for a competitive plant is an uncertain and costly experiment.

THE CATHOLIC VIEW OF THE BOND ISSUES.

[Issued by the Tidings of April 11.]

Next Tuesday, the 15th inst., the voters of Los Angeles will be called upon to decide either for or against the additional bonding of our city for the further indebtedness of $17,600,000. As it is of the utmost importance that every tax payer in our city should study these questions serious considerations and vote as his or her judgment dictates. In reaching a conclusion there are several things that should influence our judgment. The first and most important question, of course, is: Do we need these improvements for which we are asked to incur a great debt on our already heavily burdened city, and which will necessarily greatly increase our taxes?

In considering this question we must not lose sight of the fact that not only the interest on these bonds, but also the principal must be paid. The real to accomplish great things must not overlook the day of reckoning.

Another important feature to consider is who will have charge of the expenditure of this money? With a change of election and the uncertainties of its results, only a few weeks ago, it behooves us to be wary of placing a confidence in the future that might seriously cripple our financial standing.

There are two issues, however, that can be indorsed if we carry to a successful termination. The Owens River aqueduct and the harbor development. Bond No. 1 provides for the sum of $1,500,000, which to completes the great work and bring the waters fresh from the mountain rivers into our city. Without this the $23,000,000 already expended on this marvelous achievement of modern engineering would have been of no avail so far as practical benefit is concerned. Bond No. 5 provides for the sum of $1,600,000, with which to complete the development of our harbor, and when this is done we shall be without harbor facilities with which to meet the demands of the increased shipping incident to the opening of the Panama Canal.

These bonds Nos. 2 and 5 should be carried without fail. Bond No. 1, for $3,000,000, is for distributing the surplus water to the settlers in the Cahuenga Valley along the line of the aqueduct. By the expenditure of this further sum the city would receive immediate income from the sale of any surplus water that it may have to dispose of, but the money that it would be bonded for enables the city to improve outside investments which may, or may not eventually help to pay the debt thus incurred. The other issues at stake in the election of next Tuesday are immediately necessary to the welfare and progress of our city. The five hundred thousand dollars for distributing system of electricity to be generated from the power of the aqueduct, would not be available if we had no other water, but this system would be the foundation for heavier work later on, and at present it is Bond No. 4 is the most important one on the list. It provides $3,500,000, with which to begin the construction of a "high line" system of the aqueduct to run from San Dimas and con-

There are two issues, however, that should be favored if we carry to a successful issue the Owens River aqueduct and Harbor development. Bond No. 1 calls for the sum of $1,500,000, which is to complete the great project and bring the waters fresh from the mountain rivers into our city. Against this the $23,000,000 already expended on this marvelous piece of modern engineering would be of no avail so far as the general benefit is concerned. Bond No. 3 provides for the sum of $1,000,000 with which to complete the harbor of our harbor, and when this is done we shall be withdrawing facilities with which to meet the demands of the increased shipping incident to the opening of the Panama Canal.

Bonds Nos. 2 and 5 should be carried without fail. Bond No. 2, $1,500,000, is for distributing pure water to the settlers in the Owens Valley along the line of the aqueduct. By the expenditure of this sum the city would have an immediate income from the surplus water that it will have to dispose of, but the fact that it would be bonded to improve outside interests may, or may not eventually be a part of our municipal duty to pay the debt thus incurred. The other issues at stake in the election of next Tuesday are absolutely necessary to the progress of our city. The two hundred thousand dollars bonding system of electricity to be generated from the Owens River aqueduct, would not be a burden, if we had no other issue, but this system would form a foundation for heavier bonding and at present it is Bond No. 4 is the most important on the list. It provides for $2,500,000, with which to begin the construction of a "high line" system of the aqueduct from Los Angeles to San Dimas and contiguous territory. This line would run from the city limits out through Pasadena and on to San Dimas, all outside of the city and miles from the aqueduct, entailing a tremendous burden upon the taxpayers of Los Angeles to further the interests of suburban residents, and the proceeds from the sale of water so distributed would not be a drop in the reservoir of expenses incurred thereby. This bond, No. 4 on the list, should be defeated.

No. 6 is for $1,000,000, to acquire a new City Hall. We need the new city hall, no doubt, but at present we ought not to afford the luxury.

No. 7, another million to begin the construction of a municipal railway. Better hold that in abeyance until the harbor is further advanced, although we need the railroad to complete the plan of development for our municipal harbor.

No. 8, $600,000, for the Normal School site, as a civic art center, which would be but the beginning of an endless chain of expense for its upkeep.

With the "high cost of living" problem confronting small home owners, an increase in taxes is a very serious matter for consideration, and all of these bond issues, with the exception of No. 2 and No. 5, for connecting the aqueduct with the city water mains, and completing the harbor development, are but the entering wedge to greater enpenditures later on when more bonds would need to be issued in order to complete the projects, and thus they would entail a continuous round of increasing taxes.

Every voter in Los Angeles should go to the polls next Tuesday and cast a ballot for bonds No. 2 and No. 5, but beyond that we should not go. We must keep before our mental vision the fact that every dollar of every bond issued by the city of Los Angeles must be paid from the taxes on city property, and in order to meet the increased interest created by new bond issues, our taxes already are soaring above the sky-line of good business methods, and we need to call a halt on further unnecessary municipal extravagance. Go to the polls next Tuesday and vote.

MAY COST LITTLE LIFE.

Child Playing on Floor Investigates Hot Kettle of Soup and Is Terribly Burned.

Jakie Cohen, 4 years old, investigated a cauldron of hot soup inadvertently left on the kitchen floor to cool yesterday at the Cohen restaurant, No. 931 West Temple street, with disastrous result both as to Jakie and the soup. The child was severely burned about the legs, arms and body and is in a critical condition at the County Hospital.

Mrs. I. Cohen, the injured child's mother, was preparing the soup for the noonday trade and being rushed with her other household duties, took the iron cauldron from the stove and placed it on the kitchen floor. The screams of the boy a few minutes later attracted her attention and she found that he had upset the soup on himself and the floor. The child was given emergency treatment at the Receiving Hospital.

AN ENGLISH GUILD.

A Hundred Marble Quarries Where There Are Neither Strikes Nor Any Labor Troubles.

[The Argonaut:] Strikes, lockouts and labor troubles in general are unknown in the marble quarries on the Isle of Purbeck, a peninsular district of Dorsetshire, Eng. There every man is a master, which accounts for this happy condition of affairs. Nearly 100 quarries are worked there, in what used to be a royal deer forest, and the whole of the industry is managed by a curious kind of trades' guild, entitled "The Ancient Guild of Purbeck Marblers." All the marble belongs to the descendants of the original Purbeck quarrymen, who formed the guild, and no other person has any right in the quarries. None other is allowed to join the guild.

This peculiar guild has been in existence for many hundreds of years. As soon as the quarryman's son reaches the age of 14 he is admitted to the guild, being apprenticed under some member—usually his father—until he is of age. When he reaches the age of 21 he is entitled to become a freeman of the guild. Every Shrove Tuesday a meeting is held in the town hall at Corfe Castle, where those entitled to their freedom pay the price, which consists of $1.60, a large tankard of ale and a penny loaf. When once the man becomes free in this manner he has the right to take marble or stone from anywhere he wishes in the isle—though, of course, he has to pay a fixed royalty.

NEWS REPORTS FROM CORRESPONDENTS OF THE TIMES.

Pasadena.

EXERCISES IN NEW BUILDING.

Crown City Graduates Make Known Their Wants.

Great Hotel Planned for Mt. Wilson's Crest.

Historical Pageant Planned for the Week End.

PASADENA, April 14.—The question of whether or not this year's graduating class of the Pasadena High School will be permitted to hold its commencement exercises in the auditorium at the new Polytechnic High School will very likely be settled tonight. Superintendent of Schools Rhodes said last night that he will recommend that the necessary arrangements be made so that this plan can be carried out.

The 1913 class had to take up its studies in the old building with the prospects that perhaps the latter part of the term would see it in the new buildings. This will be impossible, as the contracts for furniture and equipment have not yet been let, but the pupils have made an earnest request that they at least be granted the privilege of receiving their diplomas in the new auditorium.

A meeting of the Board of Education will be held tonight and Superintendent Rhodes's recommendation considered. The plans for furnishing the new buildings also will be given further attention. The buildings themselves are practically completed.

WILL BUILD LARGER HOTEL.

William R. Staats, one of the directors of the Pasadena and Mt. Wilson Toll Road Company, who last week spent some time on Mt. Wilson considering several plans for a hotel to replace the one that burned down several weeks ago, said last night that the company hopes soon to make definite arrangements and begin work on the new building. He states that instead of a frame structure, such as the one that was destroyed, the new hotel building will be fireproof, and that it will be larger and handsomer than the old one. The location also will be changed. The new hotel will, he says, in all probability, stand at Signal Point, which is at the top of a hight cliff overlooking Pasadena and Los Angeles. It is considered to be the point from whence the best view of all is obtained.

According to Staats, now that a first-class road has been constructed up the mountain, there is a possibility for a much better business there than there has been heretofore and the company will consequently increase its hotel facilities, with the idea of making the summit of the peak one of the chief automobile resorts in Southern California.

TIME DRAWS NEAR.

The eyes of Pasadenans will this week turn to the historical pageant that is to be given at Clune's Pasadena Theater next Thursday and Friday nights by the Shakespeare Club as its chief affair of the winter. The immense show has been in the making for months and the women of the Shakespeare Club are promising something better than anything of the kind that has ever been given in the city or in Southern California. A list of the patronesses follows:

Mrs. Robert J. Burdette, Mrs. E. H. Groenendyke, Mrs. J. N. Burnes, Mrs. Harry Gray, Mrs. A. F. Gartz, Mrs. Harrison I. Drummond, Mrs. Hamilton L. Story, Mrs. W. A. Scripps, Mrs. Walter Raymond, Mrs. Webster Merrifield, Mrs. James A. B. Scherer, Mrs. Fred C. Nash, Mrs. Henry Newby, Mrs. D. M. Linnard, Mrs. William E. Grattan, Mrs. Edmund B. Barry, Mrs. John Willis Baer, Mrs. Henry Schlaudsemann, Mrs. Frank M. Seamans, Mrs. J. O. Siebert, Mrs. John Gilbert Blue, Mrs. Frank S. Wallace, Mrs. James H. McBride, Mrs. Orcellia Hines, Mrs. John Wadsworth, Mrs. Leslie E. Learned, Mrs. D. B. Gamble, Mrs. Theodore Coleman, Mrs. G. G. Guyer, Mrs. R. B. Ashley, Mrs. Ernest A. Bachelder, Mrs. Garrett Newkirk, Mrs. A. Moss Merwin, Miss Mary Foy, Miss Susan H. Stickeny, and Miss Anna Orton.

HORSES NOW REST.

Most of the horses of the Pasadena Polo Club have been turned out to pasture for the summer and the rest of them will be within a short time. Although the ponies have to work hard during the polo season they have an easy time of it the remainder of the year.

The polo season in Pasadena is over for this year, but the club already is looking forward to next winter when it is hoped that an ever more brilliant winter's sport will be enjoyed.

FINDS WHEEL IN TREE.

Edward Polakoff, of this city, found a bicycle that was stolen from him several days ago hanging in a tree at the corner of Alhambra road and A street in Sierra Vista yesterday. It hung on a high branch of a large live oak tree, where it was entirely covered by the foliage, and he had to climb up and get it down as he would pick fruit. He incidentally paid a $5 reward to James McKeag, a Sierra Vista boy, who discovered it hanging in the tree and notified the police, to whom young Polakoff had reported the loss.

IMPROVING THE GROUNDS.

The golf links at the Altadena Country Club are to be materially improved. Workmen will soon begin the task of rolling additional ground and putting the course in first rate form for the summer. There are no games scheduled for the near future although there has been a great deal of playing of late.

RETURNS EAST.

Miss Lilly Magnus, granddaughter of Adolphus Busch, whose engagement to Sydney L. Berg was announced a short time ago, and who has been visiting at the Busch house in this city, will leave for Chicago tomorrow.

BUILDING BIDS OPENED.

Long Beach Concern Submits Lowest Offer for Construction of South Pasadena High School Structure.

SOUTH PASADENA, April 13.—Bids on the new High School buildings for manual training and domestic science were opened yesterday by the School Board. A number of bids were submitted, and the lowest on the general contract was made by the Long Beach Construction Company, $51,895. The lowest bids made on minor contracts were as follows: Heating and ventilating—B. F. Huis Company of Los Angeles, $2249; plumbing—Smith and Coots of South Pasadena, $2775; painting—Probst and Son, South Pasadena, $1975; electric wiring—Crescent Electric Company, Los Angeles, $1522.54; clocks and bells—Southern California Electric Company, $163, making the total amount of lowest bids, $60,585.54.

Another meeting of the board will be held, and at that time the lowest bids will be checked up to see if they conform to the specifications. The companies will then be investigated as to their responsibility.

NEWS BRIEFS.

The funeral services of Charles B. Boothe, who died Friday, will occur at his late residence, No. 1515 Garfield avenue, Monday afternoon, April 14, at 2 p.m., followed by private interment in Evergreen Cemetery in Los Angeles. The Episcopal funeral service will be used. Mr. Boothe was at one time a member of the Board of Trustees of South Pasadena, and it was during his service that he started investigations looking toward a sewer system for the city. He is survived by a widow, four sons, Sterling Boothe, Earl Y. Boothe, I. J. Boothe, Lawrence Boothe, and two daughters, Mrs. A. G. Bohannon and Harriet Boothe.

A contest called a "Trip to Palestine by the Steamers Luisiania, the Blues and the Muritania, the Reds," has been going on in the Baptist Sunday-school of this city, and the membership has been doubled, now being 300. The blues won in the contest, having reached Palestine first, and will be the guests of honor at a banquet tendered by the Sunday-school as a whole, next Friday evening, in the social room of the church. Yesterday afternoon the blues and reds contested in a ball game at the High School grounds, the reds coming out victorious, 5 to 1.

Miss Ada Chase, teacher of art in the Pasadena public schools, who has recently returned from a trip to the art centers of Europe, lectured at the last meeting of the Chautauqua circle on the "Sistine Chapel of the Cathedral at Florence." Miss Chase gathered noteworthy material for lectures both in class work and outside, while away.

Dr. McLaughlin, the first missionary to be sent to the Philippine Islands after the victory at Manilla, occupied the Methodist pulpit this morning. This evening the Southern California colored jubilee singers gave a sacred concert, and a silver offering was taken for the benefit of the colored Methodist Church in Los Angeles.

Sierra Madre.

THIRD ANNUAL FLOWER SHOW.

SIERRA MADRE PREPARING FOR INFLUX OF VISITORS.

Conditions Are Favorable and Promoters of the Floral Exhibition Say that the Two Former Shows Will Be Easily Eclipsed—Special Service Over the Pacific Electric.

SIERRA MADRE, April 13.—The third annual flower show will open in this city Thursday morning and will continue three days. A programme of unusual interest has been prepared and the most successful exhibition in the city's history is expected.

Wild flowers have been appearing in great profusion since the recent heavy rains and it is expected that the record will be broken for the number of varieties collected by the school children.

The idea of giving all visitors a free sight-seeing auto trip Saturday afternoon has proven very popular. It is thought this will appeal strongly to visitors and result in much good from the advertising viewpoint. The city is arrayed in its best garb of greenery just now, with the orange trees laden with belated blossoms and the air sweet with their scent.

An extra evening car will leave Los Angeles each evening at 7 o'clock. On Thursday and Friday nights it will return at 10 and on Saturday night after the flower cotillion at 12. This will be in addition to the regular schedule.

Visitors and townspeople as well will be able to secure the necessary substantial things of life at the cafeteria which the club ladies will conduct in the clubhouse. A chicken pie dinner is announced for Thursday evening and lunch and dinner will be served every day. Not the least attractive among the festival features will be the various booths. Homemade candy, flowers and refreshments will be sold there.

The Festival Committee has been generous in providing musical attractions to add to the entertainment of festival visitors. There will be something going on literally almost all the time.

For Thursday afternoon music will be provided by Harry Edmund Earl of Pasadena and his orchestra.

S. R. Parmegiani, who appears Thursday evening and again on Friday afternoon, is recognized as one of America's most finished artists in the playing of reed instruments. He was one of the organizers of the famous Creatore Band. Thursday evening he will play the saxophone and Friday afternoon will play the clarinet in a trio with B. F. Meine, violinist, and William Meine, piano.

Probably no other attraction could have been secured so interesting to a Sierra Madre audience as Oskar Seiling, who has been a resident of this city for a long time, but has not been heard here for five years. He is recognized as one of the foremost violinists of Southern California and will be heard both in solos and with the Brahms Trio. With him will appear Axel Simonsen, violincellist, and Homer Grunn, piano.

The judges will me Mrs. A. N. Davidson and Theodore Payne for the wild flowers and Ernest Braunton and Joseph B. Seldnin for the plants and bowers.

MUCH TALENT FOR ASSEMBLY.

Impresario Braugher Signs Up Talking Stars.

State Press Association Is Headed This Way.

Long Beach Churches Will Build New Structures.

LONG BEACH, April 13. — Secretary-Manager David P. Ward of the Long Beach Assembly was in the city today distributing at the various churches the advance prospectus of the assembly, which this year has been changed to an interdenominational convention with many chautauqua characteristics. Heretofore it has been under the auspices of the Baptist church. The assembly will convene August 10 and continue three weeks, a Bible conference being one of the main features.

Manager Ward has spent several months in preparation of the programme and has secured some of the best-known lecturers of the country. Among others will be Dr. George W. Truett of Dallas, Tex., called by many the "Spurgeon of America," who will spend twelve days with the assembly, giving an address or sermon each day; Robert J. Burdette, Dr. Matt S. Hughes, Dr. William H. Geistweit, Rev. C. H. Carter and Rev. George L. White.

The Los Angeles County W.C.T.U. will have an afternoon and evening of the assembly, while mission and Bible work will be given an hour each day under competent leadership, including Dr. H. A. Dowling of the Southern California Sunday-school Association and Miss Sadie Eastwood, a specialist and writer on Sabbath-school teaching.

Tuesday, August 26, will be Chautauqua Day, with special exercises under the direction of Miss Cornelia Adele Teal.

The new woman will be given a prominent place in the assembly and California being one of the equal suffrage States, the subject will be of special interest. Mrs. Clara B. Burdette of Pasadena will be in charge of this part of the programme.

Prof. Alexander E. Hyer will have charge of the music and chorus choir and Leon Rice of New York will give two concerts.

Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher of Los Angeles is president of the assembly and the other officers and directors are divided among a dozen different denominations.

FINISH FIRST CUT.

The Los Angeles Dock and Terminal Company's dredger has just finished making the first cut in channel No. 1 and small boats which have heretofore found anchorage in channel No. 3, which is to be used by the schooners and boats of the potash company, will now be afforded a new mooring place. The channel as first cut is twelve feet deep and 200 feet wide.

EDITORS COMING.

The California State Press Association will spend its annual vacation in the Southland, four days of the week's outing being in Long Beach and vicinity. Hotel Virginia will be press headquarters during the stay here.

In a circular letter sent out, President Friend W. Richardson says: "The association members will leave San Francisco Saturday afternoon, May 3, on the Santa Fe 'Angel' train and go direct to San Diego, arriving there Sunday morning. Three days will be spent there, and leaving Wednesday afternoon, the party will come direct to Long Beach, where four nights will be spent, the editors and their wives making daily excursions to Catalina Island, Mt. Lowe, Los Angeles, San Gabriel and other points. The editors will be the guests of John J. McGroarty at one performance of the "Mission Play." Sunday, May 11, the excursionists will go to Los Angeles and spend the night, leaving for home the following morning.

OLD-TIMERS MEET.

Two chums of three-quarters of a century ago were reunited this week when W. H. Layne of Ventura, a wealthy walnut rancher, came south to hunt up Col. Jacob I. Hill, whose picture he had seen in a Los Angeles paper, teaching his young grandson a lesson in Greek on his 80th birthday. He had hardly landed in Long Beach when he met his old friend, and the reunion was affecting. They were college mates in Dixieland, and once traveled from Missouri to California together. Col. Hill was studious and became a college professor and served under Lee in the Confederate army. Mr. Layne turned his attention to farming and fruit growing and came to California twenty years ago and since that time the pair have not met. They are still talking of the old days when both were young.

NEW CHURCHES PLANNED.

Several of the local churches are restive under cramped quarters and are planning for new structures, most of which will be well under way by fall. Among these are the First Congregational Church at Third and Cedar, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, on Elm avenue near Fifth street; United Presbyterian at Fifth and Atlantic avenues, and St. Anthony's Catholic Church at Sixth and Olive. In addition a new Baptist Church has just been completed at Obispo and Eliot streets and the First Brethren Church is building a handsome structure at Fifth and Cherry avenues.

UNIQUE FEATURE.

One of the features inaugurated by the student body at Polytechnic High School is a book exchange and lost and found department, which has proven a big success in the nine months of its existence. Over 250 books have been sold or exchanged by the students, the prices generally being double what could have been obtained otherwise. In the lost and found department over 1400 articles were handled, a charge of 5 cents being imposed on the claimant.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Despite the prohibition ordinance in Long Beach, the police records for March show fifty-five arrests for drunkenness, the highest in the past year. Of these there were fifty-four convictions. The total arrests for the month were 145. Fines aggregated $564.

Miss Blanche McCullogh, a Sunday-school teacher of the First Baptist Church, has the remarkable record of teaching a class for 520 consecutive Sundays, and in recognition has been given a beautiful gold medal having on its face a cross and crown surrounded by a gold wreath and hanging from the medal are ten gold bars, each representing a year's attendance. Miss McCullogh came here from Joplin, Mo., ten years ago, and the Sunday following her arrival organized the Baptist Boys' Brigade, or the "3B class" as it is known.

The Signal Hill Civic League has taken up an active campaign to raise a fund to purchase a suitable monument to mark the last resting place of John Willmore, the founder of Long Beach. Willmore for years lay in an unmarked grave in the city cemetery, but recently it was located and has been sodded and made attractive. The only thing lacking is a monument, and this, it is assured, will be easily forthcoming.

The Board of Public Works has declined to aid the city of Los Angeles in providing a wagon road for the residents of Terminal Island from their homes to the mainland. Most of the road would be in Long Beach and in addition the city would have to maintain a ferry over San Gabriel River, the cost being more than the supposed benefits.

ST. VINCENT DE PAUL.

Society Members Attend Mass and Breakfast Later in Parish House—Bishop Talks.

Representatives from Los Angeles, Pasadena, Glendale and Long Beach societies of the St. Vincent de Paul Society to the number of 118 attended mass yesterday morning at St. Joseph's Church and listened to an eloquent sermon by the rector, Rev. Father Theophilus, O.F.M.

Breakfast in the Parish-house followed the church service, where Bishop Conaty addressed the society on its accomplishments of the preceding two months.

The work of the society is charitable and philanthropic. Its revenue is derived largely from poor box contributions and during the two months covered by Secretary Neil DuRoss's report, $1863 was expended in general relief work, care of children, etc.; 237 families and 922 individuals were aided and twenty-four situations obtained.

The need of a home for boys was discussed and definite steps taken to secure such an institution as soon as possible.

A committee was appointed to arrange for a public meeting to be held in two weeks in observance of the centennial of the birth of Frederick Osenan, the founder of the society, which now numbers more than 200,000 members, and is one of the greatest forces for good among the laity of the Roman Church, although its beneficences are largely non-sectarian.

(Authorised announcement by the electric service companies of Los Angeles.)

12 Reasons Why You Should Vote Against the Power Bonds

They are No. 1 on the Ballot. Vote No.

1. Construction of another electrical distributing system in Los Angeles is absolutely unnecessary to obtain the lowest possible rates or the best service. IT WOULD BE MUNICIPAL "STOCK WATERING" OF THE WORST KIND.

2. The electric service companies have offered to co-operate with the city for the utilization of all power generated by the aqueduct in the most economical way and at the same time the way most profitable to the people.

3. The people are thoroughly protected because they can dictate the terms upon which the aqueduct power is handled. THEY ALSO CONTROL AND FIX THE RATES AT WHICH ELECTRICITY IS SOLD TO CONSUMERS. Any agreement which city officials may make for the disposal of aqueduct power must be approved by the direct vote of the people.

4. In a period of increasing public debt and taxes—a period in which Los Angeles clearly needs all of its resources and credit to do the things that the city and the city only can do—USELESS PUBLIC DEBT should be avoided.

5. Defeat of the power bonds will leave the way open for Los Angeles to settle a tremendously important problem by new methods based upon intelligent co-operation yielding the greatest good to the greatest number.

6. Defeat of the power bonds will be an essential step towards the reduction of taxes.

7. Defeat of the power bonds will serve notice that the people of Los Angeles, while eager to pledge their fortunes and credit in great enterprises of a constructive nature, decline to incur $6,500,000 of USELESS PUBLIC DEBT to duplicate something which the city already has in full and adequate measure.

8. A municipal distributing system would be forced to obtain business under competitive conditions against efficient private companies conceded to be among the most energetic and progressive existing.

9. Under competitive conditions it is certain that a municipal distributing system would be a costly tax burden upon the city at least for many years.

10. It would probably be years before the small home owner and wage earner living far from the business sections could be reached or served by the city system. Meanwhile he would be taxed to help the city plant serve other people.

11. Under a co-operative plan using the present electrical distributing systems the city will obtain a handsome net revenue from the aqueduct power, at once applicable toward paying interest and sinking fund charges on the city's present enormous bonded debt. This revenue will increase as additional power is developed along the aqueduct.

12. The co-operation offered by the companies in marketing aqueduct power presents a definite and practicable way for the lowering of rates, the reduction of taxes and avoiding $6,500,000 of useless public debt. The city and people can make these arrangements on a short term basis without sacrificing a single right or privilege.

—the most economical and effective plan, it cuts the cost exactly in half, to less than 50c per lesson—and makes it easier for the student.

—to know of this new plan is to wonder why we have not thought of it before.

HOT CAMPAIGN COMES TO CLOSE.

San Bernardino Will Vote on Matter Today.

Bright Seems to Have Lead Over Opposition.

Former Los Angeles Woman Gets Last Call.

SAN BERNARDINO, April 13. — The municipal election campaign came to a close last night and today the campaign managers are gathering the odds and ends in preparation for the onslaught tomorrow. A campaign that promised to be a quiet one at the outset developed into a red-hot affair in the last week and the city has consequently been aroused to a high pitch.

The effort of a coterie of disappointed goo-goo job hunters who have backed the candidacy of J. W. Catick, will however be unavailing, it is believed, for the indications today point to the re-election of Mayor J. S. Bright by an overwhelming vote.

Mayor Bright has made the campaign on his record of having rid the city of its notorious restricted district, and also on the promise that the present policy of the Water Commission shall be continued, a policy that has given San Bernardino one of the best municipal water systems in the

The Catick forces have made the fire department a center of attack but the effort has fallen flat. William Catick is the Socialist candidate for Mayor and by many it is believed his vote will exceed that of Catick.

SAD DAYS AHEAD.

The day of the free lunch in the cafes of the city is about gone. Several of the booze parlors have already dispensed with this feature and at a meeting of the liquor men it was agreed that all would follow the new policy. It is declared the free lunch plan has been a failure in the matter of attracting business, and the increased advance in the cost of eatables has convinced the saloon men that it would be profitable to cut it

FORMER ANGELENO DEAD.

After an illness of three months Mrs. Catick died last night came to Mrs. J. K. Catick, for twenty years a resident of Los Angeles, but a resident here the last five years. Her age was 70 years, and she was the mother of Mrs. A. G. Fessenden, formerly of Los Angeles, Mrs. Sutterley, with her husband, were residents of Oakland and San Francisco in the early days of the State. She was a member of Calvary Baptist Church of Los Angeles. The funeral will be held here Monday at 3 o'clock, Rev. [illegible] Brown of the First Baptist Church officiating.

MAN VERSUS CHURCH.

The ancient suit by which Capt. A. Demens of Cucamonga, seeks to prevent the trustees of the M. E. Church from taking out a row of eucalyptus trees, will come up for trial in the Superior Court Tuesday. Demens is a wealthy resident, claims the trees are valuable to him as a windbreak, while the church authorities say they are unsightly and a damage to the church property. Many years ago Demens secured a temporary injunction against the removal of the trees, and now the main issue will be heard

BUSY SEASON.

The Civic Improvement Club has been unusually busy and interesting at the home of Mrs. T. [illegible] yesterday afternoon. A call was issued for the ninth annual convention of the Federation of Women's Clubs, which will be held in Fresno on April 30 and May 1 and 2, was received. Mrs. Charles A. The next meeting of the club will be held in the First Congregational Church April 22. S. Schultze, of Los Angeles, will explain the value of the story hour in the public library. His talk will be illustrated.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Improvement work on the Grand boulevard has been pushed the past few weeks. The curbing and guttering is in and practically all the road has been leveled. Two huge auto trucks are hauling tons of crushed rock and the same is now about ready for rolling. The work will be completed long before September 9, the date of the big race meet.

The school bond election held yesterday for the purpose of acquiring nine acres of land adjacent to the High School carried by a vote of ninety for and three against.

WILD SETTLE DOWN.

Man Covers Globe Traveling Two Hundred and Sixty Thousand Miles and Says "California for Mine."

PORTERVILLE, April 12.—C. J. A. Pahl, whose credentials apparently establish his claims, arrived in Tulare last evening on the last lap of a twelve-year journey over the world, during which he says he has covered nearly 260,000 miles. Pahl is a Baptist minister and during his journey over the globe he has decorated rocks and fences with scriptural injunctions to the higher life.

Pahl has in his possession a passbook in which appears a long list of names purporting to be the signatures of the Mayors of all cities through which he has passed.

Pahl is at present finishing a journey from Australia to the Coast. He asserts he will end his wanderings when he reaches San Francisco, as he expects to settle somewhere in California.

THOUSANDS VISIT REDONDO.

City by the Sea Is Crowded With Visitors—Long Beach Man Issues Bad Check and Goes to Jail.

REDONDO BEACH, April 13.—Although there was a cold wind blowing here all day the Sunday crowd of visitors was large, between 8000 and 10,000 persons coming in on the electric roads, in automobiles and motorcycles. While it was too cold for surf bathing, the bath-house was crowded with bathers, and on the new racing coaster more than 3000 rode during the afternoon. Hundreds of automobiles were parked on Pacific avenue, in the grounds of Hotel Redondo and on the cross streets.

CRAFTON IS GLAD.

F. E. Crafton, who gave his residence as Long Beach, passed a worthless check on the Smart Shop yesterday when purchasing some clothing for his small son. When Mrs. L. Culler, the proprietor, learned the check, which was made out on the First National Bank of Long Beach, was worthless, she lost no time in locating Crafton on wharf No. 1, where he was admiring the ocean with his little 8-year-old son. Crafton when accused by Mrs. Culler of passing a bad check, returned the merchandise and a part of the change she had given him for the check, but lacked $1.50 of the amount, as he had spent that. The lady then turned him over to the police, who arrested him on a charge of drunkenness, there having been no warrant issued for his arrest for issuing a bad check.

Crafton, who was well dressed and said he was a physician, was sentenced to fifteen days in jail by the police judge, and the small boy was returned by the police to his grandparents in Los Angeles. It developed that Crafton, while on a spree, had taken his son six days ago from the grandparents' home and failed to return him as he promised on the same day, and the grandparents had since then been making a frantic search for the little boy. Crafton said he was glad to be confined in jail for fifteen days, as he wanted to sober up.

NEWS BRIEFS.

Walter Hughes, an employee of the Warman Steel Casting Company, was struck in the right eye by a nail while working yesterday, which penetrated the eyeball. Hughes was taken to the Redondo Beach Hospital and it was found necessary to remove the eye. He lives in Inglewood.

INSPIRED BY FILM.

TULARE, April 13.—Emulating the example of a hero of a motion picture play which he had witnessed last evening, Robert Claybaugh, aged 11, stabbed a schoolmate with a pocket knife while at play during the recess hour. A number of boys were amusing themselves by calling Claybaugh "red head." One of his tormentors had climbed into a small tree, and as he was climbing from his perch Claybaugh struck at him with the weapon. The boy was stabbed in the foot, but not seriously hurt. When the case was reported to the probation officer, Claybaugh explained that the idea was suggested to him by seeing a motion picture star stab another in the representation of a fight.

SECOND DISAPPEARANCE.

SANTA BARBARA, April 13.—[Exclusive Dispatch.] Frank A. Russell is one of the officers of the Santa Barbara Egg Producing Company, a small enterprise in this city. He disappeared last Friday, having been last heard of in Los Angeles on that day. He drove from here to Los Angeles in an automobile. It is said that two or three years ago Russell disappeared from Los Angeles and was later found in Santa Ana, it having been announced that he was suffering from some sort of brain trouble. Whether Russell's accounts with the local company are straight has not yet been determined but an investigation is being made.

WEE BABY GIRL WAR'S VICTIM.

DIES FOR LACK OF MILK AFTER MEXICO CITY BATTLE.

Mother, Almost Prostrated With Grief, Is Brought to Los Angeles by Chilean Nitrate Commissioner to Recuperate—Valuable Shipments of Mineral Seized.

Deprivation of milk during and immediately after the battle of the City of Mexico caused the death of the 8-months-old daughter of Dr. and Mrs. R. Olisen-Seffer, who yesterday registered at the Alexandria from that place. Mrs. Olisen—Seffer is grief-stricken and almost prostrated by the sad event and her husband has brought her here to recuperate, if possible.

At the time of the uprising, Dr. Olisen-Seffer was in Hawaii, where he had gone as one of the officials of the Chilean Nitrate Commission, the syndicate which controls the enormously rich nitrate beds of the South American republic. He rushed home and arrived just at the cessation of the battle. Food supplies all ran low and milk was absolutely unobtainable. When it was possible to travel, the doctor and his wife and baby daughter started at once for the United States, but the infant died just before reaching San Antonio, where it was buried.

The doctor told of a number of instances where large consignments of nitrate, being shipped to him, were confiscated by the revolutionary soldiers and used in the manufacture of nitroglycerin.

GET BACK TO NATURE.

Sierra Club Begins Construction of Lodge in the Mountains on Government Lease.

Twenty members of the Sierra Club, including some of the more prominent men of Southern California, almost "got back to nature" yesterday when they shed their coats and collars and began work on their new mountain lodge, eight miles north of Sierra Madre.

Boulders were assembled, brush was cleared, barancas were leveled and sand pits were filled in that part of their two-acre government lease which is to be the foundation of the lodge. The building, to be of mountain rock and cement, will be completed by July.

The Sierra Club has a membership of 2400, of whom 600 are included in the Southern California section. It was organized twenty-one years ago by mountain enthusiasts and the club has done more work in mapping the mountains of this State than any other organization, with the possible exception of the government.

Attorney Clare Tappaan was chief geologist of the club yesterday, superintending the work. A new superintendent will be named each alternating week until the work is completed. Pilgrimages to the lodge will be made twice a month.

The lodge will be 40x20 feet, and will be used as headquarters for the mountain exploring enthusiasts.

MINISTERS GO INTO POLITICS.

But Only to Name Slate for Board of Education.

Pastors Will Meet Today to Pass on Candidates.

Facts and Gossip from the Opposing Camps.

Believing that the election of capable and representative men as members of the Board of Education is of vital importance and a matter in which ministers of the gospel and Christian people generally may properly become actively interested, a meeting of the pastors of nearly all the churches of the city will be held this morning in the First Methodist Church for the purpose of considering the eligibility of the twenty-three candidates. It is expected that from the list seven candidates will be chosen to receive the support of the ministers.

Candidates have already been tentatively agreed upon at a meeting of a committee of the Methodist Episcopal churches. Following today's meeting the matter will be taken up by the Ministerial Union and various other religious bodies.

In an address to his congregation in the University Methodist Church last night Dr. James A. Geissinger took up the subject and defined his position. His views, it is understood, are practically coincident with those of the clergymen who will participate in the conference this morning.

Dr. Geissinger's subject was "Our Public Schools; Loyalty to the American Ideal." "The American idea of secular schools," he said, "is one of neutrality. No creed or doctrine can be taught in any of our public schools. With this policy I am in perfect accord. I believe in it because it is just and because it is American.

RELIGION AND SCHOOLS.

"But the adoption of this policy does not mean that the American people are irreligious or lacking in Christianity and should not be so construed. In some places, possibly not here, it has resulted in encouraging infidel activity and a habit, even among teachers, of treating religion with contempt.

"Statistics of an eastern State university show that less than 2 per cent. of all its graduates have undertaken any kind of religious leadership. This clearly shows diminishing interest in things pertaining to religion. Public school educators have sought to show that the fault lies in the universities. Officials of the latter institutions say the real reason lies in the present day attitude toward religion in the public schools.

"Without questioning the expediency or desirability of the American idea of neutrality in secular schools now seeking to change it, we can still endeavor to impart to school children a sense of reverence for religion and what it stands for. That isn't a question of creed.

"It is proper that we should all take a deep interest in the personnel of the next Board of Education. That board will next year elect a Superintendent of Schools and will have direct supervision over all our public schools. It will have much to do with the development and training of the city's young men and women."

The speakers at the meeting today will be Dr. J. Whitcomb Brougher of Temple Baptist Church, Dr. E. P. Ryland of the Hollywood Methodist Church, and Dr. Geissinger.

SHENK BACK TODAY.

John W. Shenk, upon whom good citizens have pinned their faith, and are prepared to follow to a period of municipal sunshine after the drab days of the outgoing regime, will be back from a northern trip today, refreshed for the fray which lies before him. The leading candidate has been arranging the affairs of the City Attorney's office since his widespread indorsement for the office of Mayor and putting the house in order that he may give a considerable portion of his time after the election tomorrow, to the active work of the campaign.

The headquarters of the Municipal Conference Campaign Committee are now fully established in the Garland building and beginning this morning the task of getting into touch with the registered voters of the city will be in full swing.

As there are "going on" 300,000 of these and only three weeks before the primary election, no alfalfa will grow in the cracks of the cement floor of the big South Broadway building.

It is to be a campaign of education, which means that a large quantity of reading matter will be issued, with the fixed object in view of impressing upon the voters the necessity both from the standpoint of economy and that of object lesson to make the May primary election decisive. "We can win, but voters must vote" is the slogan at headquarters.

"Los Angeles does not want Job Harriman for Mayor," said a committeeman yesterday, "and she does not want the red flag, which stands for confiscation, proportional representation and high taxes, to fly from the City Hall, but that is what she will get unless the friends of sane government decide to take a hand in the affair and not rest contentedly under the belief that 'there are enough votes without mine.'"

The Municipal Conference will meet at headquarters this afternoon as a committee of the whole, and plan an aggressive campaign to begin as soon as the bond election is disposed of. The first public meeting may be held the latter part of the week, and the last two weeks of the campaign will be bang! just like that.

The committee will play no favorites, but will support the entire ticket indorsed by the conference: Shenk for Mayor; Stephens for Attorney; Mallard for Assessor; Myers for Auditor; Conwell, Mackelgan, Moultrie, Osborne, Vollmer, Whiffen and Woodley for Council.

NO HARD FEELINGS.

Newsboy Shot by Friend Died While Endeavoring to Quiet Roisterer Who Is Now Under Arrest.

Following the alleged wanton killing of A. Finnell, at Seventh and Main streets late Saturday night, a twelve-hour quest for the slayer resulted in the arrest yesterday of Richard A. Gibson, a barber, who was in hiding in a rooming-house at No. 137 East Seventh street.

Gibson was identified by Charles Biel, a friend, as the man who did the shooting. The suspected man is held at Central Police Station on a charge of murder.

Motorcycle Officers McMahon, Dixon and Level, of the flying squadron, who were on the case, arrested Gibson after being led to his place of concealment by Biel, who says he witnessed the shooting.

According to statements of witnesses, friends of both the slain man and of Gibson, the shooting was not premeditated. According to Jack Farley, W. B. Knox, Biel and others, the sudden quarrel came as a result of an attempt to quiet Gibson who was drinking heavily.

The facts, as nearly as the police were able to learn them yesterday, appear to be that Gibson was with a party of friends and drinking when Finnell and several other friends approached. Gibson is said to have flourished a revolver and threatened to "shoot up the town" and Finnell endeavored to quiet him, telling him that such actions would land him in the hands of the police. The witnesses are hazy as to just what brought on the shooting, but agree there were no hard feelings.

At first it was reported to the police that the shooting was done in the Kelso Bros.' bar, but afterward this was found to be erroneous, as the tragedy occurred several doors away.

BOY DROWNED IN LAGOON.

Tragedy at Puente Causes Crowd of Boys to Break Camp and Return to Their Homes.

COVINA, April 13.—The drowning of Willis Moon, a 14-year-old boy, at the irrigating lagoon in Puente yesterday afternoon, broke up a camp of boys who have been fishing and camping at this place for several days.

The lad came to the fishing place in company with his father, C. E. Moon, an orange rancher living in San Dimas. While the father was preparing some lunch, the boy slipped away, telling his father that he was going to look after some fishlines that were suspended from the Salt Lake bridge, over the water of the irrigating canal. When he did not return his father and others searched for him, until they became convinced that he had fallen into the stream.

In spite of the use of grappling hooks used by a crowd of men all the afternoon and far into the evening, the body was not located until 1 o'clock today. A grappling hook brought it to the surface. The body was brought to Custer's undertaking parlors in Covina by Daniel Durkee, president of the San Dimas Lemon Association. Besides his father and mother, the lad leaves a brother and sister. The funeral arrangements have not been made.

One hundred and three of the above citizens were present.

The following resolutions were adopted by a vote of 102 voting "Aye" and 1 voting "No":

WHEREAS, The City Council of the City of Los Angeles has called an election to submit to the voters the question of voting bonds for many purposes, aggregating an amount that will nearly reach the bonding limit of the City, and

WHEREAS, Owing to the heavy tax burden already imposed on the property of the City, and for various other reasons, there seems to be a disposition manifested on the part of many voters to vote indiscriminately against all further bond issues at this time, and

WHEREAS, To fail to vote bonds for some of the purposes called for will be highly detrimental to the interest of the City and prove little less than a public calamity, notably the bonds to provide funds necessary to bring the Owens River water from the San Fernando Reservoir to the Franklin Canon site within the confines of the City, thus carrying out the original plans of the engineers and making the water and the power to be generated available and income producing; and of no less importance, to provide additional funds for the immediate development of the harbor.

The necessity of voting bonds for some other purposes, however desirable, can, and should, be postponed until such time as the burden of taxation and the bonding capacity of the City will justify.

The policy of the City in its inception to secure the Owens River water for the use of the City of Los Angeles should be adhered to, and the water should not be used outside a territory now included within the confines of the present city, or to be eventually incorporated within the city limits. The building of what is termed the Highline Conduit to carry water to territory East of the San Gabriel River should be abandoned as unnecessarily expensive, dangerous because of possible legal complications, not being in harmony with the representations made to the Government by the City when rights of way for the conduit were secured, and consequently unwise.

A municipal railway to connect the City with its harbor is not as immediate a necessity as the development of the harbor with which it is to connect, and however desirable its construction, it can be deferred without material injury.

The same is true in even a more marked degree as to the necessity of constructing a municipal lighting system at this time. While it seems to be the consensus of opinion that it will be wise to use the electric power generated along the line of the aqueduct to furnish light and power to the people, with the opportunities offered through the proposals of the power companies to lease the power from the City at a rental that will at once materially reduce the burden of taxation, and with the right vested in the Council to fix the rates which the power companies are allowed to charge, thereby affording ample protection to the consumer, and all the advantages that would accrue if the City distributed the power itself and without any of the burden, or by the acceptance of the proposal of the power companies to lease to the City the present distributing systems of the companies, the voting of such a large amount of bonds for this purpose is not a necessity at this time and can, and should, be deferred.

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED, That for the reasons given, it is the opinion of the Citizen Voters here represented that at the coming bond election the best interests of the City demand that certain of the bonds be carried and certain others of the bonds be defeated, and an appeal is hereby made to all voters to vote at the coming bond election; to vote for the $1,500,000 bonds to build the trunk line from the San Fernando Reservoir to the Franklin Canon site, and to vote for the $2,500,000 bonds for the development of the harbor; and to vote against the $2,500,000 bonds asked as a part of the sum necessary to construct the Highline Conduit; to vote against the $1,000,000 bonds for the building of a municipal railway; and to vote against the $6,500,000 bonds for the construction of a lighting distributing system, and

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED, That the Press of the City of Los Angeles be requested to publish these resolutions and that a copy of the same be mailed to all voters.
